Community Advocates Protest Banco Popular Buyout

Earlier this week, prominent local leaders held a press conference urging bank regulators to postpone the sale of 20 LA and Orange County-based Banco Popular branches to Banc of California. The branches serve a largely Latino, Asian and immigrant customer base in Southern California, and advocates are concerned about the impact on these customers. Banc of California intends to eliminate three checking account features at Banco Popular, including cash incentives for opening new accounts, interest rate bonuses on savings when customers maintain their checking accounts, and a debit card reward program. Community advocates criticized the proposed cuts, saying that these features help people to open and maintain checking accounts, which can be the first step in building a financial history. The California Reinvestment Coalition, an umbrella coalition of over 300 organizations throughout California, is urging the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency to postpone or deny Banc of California's application until the Banc is more transparent with the community. South Bay City Enters Animal Control and Care Agreement with Los Angeles County

By Cristian Vasquez

Members of the Inglewood City Council unanimously approved a five-year agreement with the Los Angeles County Department of Animal Control and Care through which the City of Inglewood will receive animal care and control functions at the rate of $319,873 from the general fund.

The agreement will be in effect until June 30, 2019; however, the City of Inglewood has been contracting with L.A. County for said services for 30 years. All localities are required to provide animal care and control services, either by fulfilling those responsibilities with their own facilities or by entering a contract with the County.

In February of 2014 the city council agreed to an amendment with the county in which a Service Level Request was submitted; the SLR must be attached to the agreement between the county and the city and it indicates the scope of the services that the city is preferring for the county to perform. At the moment the city receives what are considered standard services from the county where duties such as answering calls for service 24-hours-a-day, dispatching and assigning field staff and kennel services for animals picked up within city limits. The monthly average rate for the county's services is $25,183. Staff will use the new five-year agreement as a basis for the city's animal control budget.

City staff was informed by the County that Inglewood has a registered animal population of approximately 1,500, which the county indicates accounts for 1 percent of the city's population. To obtain an accurate count of the animal population would require the city to be canvassed. With the city entire city canvassed it is expected for county services costs will be offset by the revenue that will be obtained from penalty fees for unregistered animals in addition to licensing fees and future license renewals.

City Approves Contract for Professional Transient Occupancy Tax
An agreement between the City of Inglewood and Mayer Hoffman McCann, P.C. has led to a contract being awarded to the lowest bidder for professional transient tax review services. The contract is in the amount of $94,000 and will be paid through the city's general fund.

Inglewood's municipal code states that for "occupancy in any hotel" it is necessary for each guest or "transient" to be subject to pay a tax rate of 14 percent of the fee being charged by the operator in order to stay at the location. The city examines businesses that collect TOT taxes via an audit. For the city, the TOT tax generated $3.1 million last year that were budgeted into the 2013/2014 general fund.

The city received three proposals in order to provide transient occupancy tax review services for the 47 hotels and motels that operate in Inglewood. The proposals were evaluated based on overall qualifications and technical background of the firm, experience and qualifications of project managers and key staff, experience with government agencies, verification of references and cost.

Mayer Hoffman McCann will look at these businesses and their operations during the past 36 months. The firm will prepare reports that will document the findings with regards to the field review, which will determine any tax, interest or penalties due. In addition, MHM will assist the city in resolving any outstanding issues that may be discovered during field reviews. •

Dana Tech Pilot Earns High Grades

By Dylan Little

The Wiseburn Unified School Board saw a presentation from technology director Chris Jones and four teachers involved in Dana Middle School's one-to-one device pilot program. These teachers took advantage of the July 17 meeting to share their success with the trial program and advocate for expanding it.

This past year, teachers Barry Williams, Lisa Wilberg and Maria Garcia have been incorporating a set of Chromebooks into their lessons as an experiment into one student to one device teaching strategies. The pilot was spearheaded by Mary Nies, who has incorporated a class set of iPads into her lessons. Jones heralded these teachers as a guide for the rest of the district on technology adoption. "They've been an absolute beacon for our district in terms of moving us forward," said Jones.

According to Williams, the magic in each student having access to a Chromebook, or any device that can connect with Google Apps for Education, is how it changes research and reading from something teachers give to students into something students themselves can interact with. Because students are finding their own educationally rigorous sources, they are creating personalized assignments and taking ownership of their own education, two of the signature goals of Wiseburn Unified. "The sources are what they're choosing. Because they're choosing their classroom materials, the buy-in is incredible," said Williams.

In addition to expected features, like being able to take notes while reading or collaborate with fellow students anywhere, each student having their own device has opened up some new ways to make material interesting and accessible to students. One such opportunity made available through technology is a website that automatically adapts news articles into different reading levels, so students can judge for themselves how advanced of an article they can handle. Williams said having tools like this has increased student engagement. "We are going to take tech and make it do things we couldn't do before," said Williams. "It's a tool that's taking them to the next level. They are really enjoying it. When they left [at the end of the school year] they had tears in their eyes because they weren't sure they would have them next year."

With new technology entering schools, teachers and students have to have the skill necessary to interact with Chromebooks and iPads. These teachers said that students learned how to use these devices quickly. "The speed in which they learn computer skills is astounding," said Wilberg. Williams agreed: he said that students picked up computer skills fast enough to occasionally help him through technology issues. "It was a game changer," said Williams. "The students were my right hand. They were able to pick up the technology as quick as I could - if not quicker. Their learning curve was just as steep as mine and they made it up."

In a survey Dana's staff conducted on the students, most of the students said they were very comfortable using the new Google Apps for Education. "It's very simple," said the quoted student. "You can access your documents at the click of a button, submit your work, and collaborate on Google Docs with others."

Just like with the students at Dana, the teachers there have described the things at one-to-one ratio of students to devices has enabled as, in Wilberg's words, "amazing." While a survey on teacher comfort level with the new devices didn't show the extremely high confidence the student survey showed, it did reveal most teachers had a firm grasp on how to use technology in the classroom.

One teacher responded praising the ability to view student work as they are creating it as an advantage over traditional homework. "They've been a terrific resource for our students this year," said the teacher. "Creating collaborative projects that can be worked on in class and at home has been a terrific way to assist them in their writing, working and presentation skills. I liked having access to their on-going work and being able to help them be more tech savvy while learn through content."

The one-to-one pilot program showed positive results in Nies's opinion. However, she believes that the program would be improved if students could use their devices at home. "Ultimately, we want them going home [with students], but the classrooms sets are working for now," said Nies.

Jones said he has already created a plan for a larger roll-out of student devices. The only thing keeping it from being implemented is funding. "We have the teachers where we want them, we have the kids where we want them," said Jones. "We're just waiting on money. We're ready to roll out. We could do this entire thing in a year if we had the money, Dana could be ready in a month." •

Hawthorne Happenings Calendar

News for the 'City of Good Neighbors'

From City Clerk Norb Huber

National Night Out

This coming Tuesday, August 5 is the annual "National Night Out" event in Hawthorne. This year it will be held at the civic center in front of city hall from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. Food and a lively program will include presentations from the police and fire. A chili cook-off is planned. The Holy Park Homeowners Association, the Tongan Community, the 360 Community and the Ramona Neighborhood Association all will be sponsoring the event. So, come out and enjoy the fact that we can be out at night in Hawthorne.

Back To School In August

Yes, it's almost that time of the year already to go back to school. The Centinela Valley Union High School District begins classes on Tuesday, August 19. The Hawthorne School District begins on Monday, August 25 for K-8 and August 27 for the Math and Science Academy. Wiseburn kids get an extra week of summer since their schools do not begin until September 3 following the Labor Day holiday. As a teacher I like my summer vacation. So, I'm happy that Long Beach Poly doesn't start until that same day, September 3. One of the many perks of teaching is having a long summer vacation.

Here Today, Gone Tomorrow

The old saying goes like this, "there are two things certain in life, death and taxes". I think we all can agree that this is a true statement. We will always owe taxes and we all are going to die some time. It's that uncertainty of not knowing when and how we are going to stop living that causes us to worry a little bit. The life expectancy in the US is 79 and for us living in California it's 80. Most of us plan on living at least that long. But, you never know. This past Sunday, a 20 year old swimmer up at Venice Beach was struck by a lightning bolt and was killed. A colleague of mine from my school was 43 and passed away in his sleep recently. I attended a lady's memorial last Saturday who had lived a wonderful life and died peacefully at age 85. A 94 year old friend from my church was just told by his doctor he has stomach cancer. We have no way of knowing when our time will come. God gives us our days to live. Life is precious.

Each day may be our last. Death simply has a way of reminding us of the brevity of life. We are reminded to hug our loved ones and tell them how much we love them. We may not have that opportunity tomorrow. (I could add that you should give your old lady a kiss and have a cold one, but some people think I'm an alcoholic, so just tell her you love her and take her to Starbucks instead.)

Dodger Baseball and Congress

Now it looks like it's going to take action from our congress to break the stalemate between cable television providers that is still preventing most of Southern California from viewing any Dodger games. The older folks in their rest homes look forward to watching their beloved Dodgers every evening. Right now, the only thing they can do is listen to the games on the radio.

Hall of Fame DVD's Available

If you would like a copy of the Hawthorne Historical Society 2014 Hall of Fame DVD then please visit the Society's website at: hawthornehistorical.com. The videos are a very inspiring glimpse of the five honorees and the music of Hawthorne. The DVD's would make a great gift for any resident that has been here for a while.

We are looking for volunteers to help with our Saturday pet adoption events, which are held at the Petco located at 537 N. Pacific Coast Highway, Redondo Beach 90277. If you are interested in volunteering and can commit to at least one Saturday a month, please contact us at info@msfr.org

Hi there, it's me, Flanagan, and I'm a playful 2-year old male Miniature Schnauzer mix. We are guessing that I may have a bit of Doxie in me since I am low to the ground, only weigh 14 pounds and have a wiry coat. Everyone says that I am cute as a button and smart as a whip. It's hard to believe that I was turned in to a LA county shelter as a stray. It was almost three weeks and I was running out of time when MSFR came to my rescue. I love to go to the dog park, play ball, go for hikes and I'm happy just being with my family. I'm a likeable youngster who gets along well with other dogs. In fact, I think I would be great to

My name is Kristy and I'm a 4-year old female, purebred Miniature Schnauzer. My friend, Misty, and I arrived at a high kill shelter shortly before July 4th. I was called a stray and boy, did I look it! I was so humiliated because my owner really didn't take very good care of me. I was matted so badly that I had dreadlocks and it was difficult to tell what breed I was. The MSFR folks knew a good thing when they saw it and rescued me. Sure enough, after my grooming, they discovered a Schnauzer, with a natural tail, who only weighs 17 pounds under all the matted mess. I have to admit that I'm a little shy at first but I'm a sweet loving gal. While I'd love to be placed with friend Misty, I know that it might not be possible. If you are interested Kristy, please email info@msfr.org for more information.

I'm the Misty, of the Kristy and Misty duo. I too am a 4-year old female, purebred Miniature Schnauzer. My friend Kristy and I arrived at a high-kill shelter shortly before July 4th. They called me stray and certainly looked the part! It was obvious that my owner really didn't take very good care of me. I was matted so badly that I had dreadlocks and it was difficult to tell what breed I was. The MSFR folks definitely know their dogs and rescued me. Sure enough, after my grooming, they discovered a Schnauzer, with a natural tail, who only weighs 17 pounds under all the matted mess. I have to admit that I'm a little shy at first but I'm a sweet loving gal. While I'd love to be placed with friend Kristy, I know that it might not be possible. If you are interested Misty, please email info@msfr.org for more information.

Bonjour! I am a 4-year old, female "Schnoodle" (a Schnauzer/French Poodle mix), named Paris. I had been at a high kill shelter for several weeks and it appeared that no one wanted me. Then a large number of dogs were brought into the shelter because of the July 4th holiday and I knew that my days were truly numbered. The MSFR volunteers found and rescued me just in the nick of time! I am very grateful for their big hearts but I want a forever family of my own. I am 13 pounds of love and affection and the best cuddle bug you could hope for. I get along great with people, other dogs and absolutely LOVE to play ball. If you are interested Paris, please email info@msfr.org for more information. •

Misty was also mistreated and left alone; she could use some love.

Paris is a loving dog who would cuddle up with an owner.

Happy Tails

Congratulations to Gwen and her new family. Gwen is our 6-year old, female Miniature Schnauzer that we rescued from the Downey shelter back in April. She has juvenile cataracts and is nearly blind but is going to a wonderful family. In fact, Gwen joins MSFR Alumni Homer and Melody and is living large in Downey.

If you have any questions about a particular dog's availability you can email us at info@msfr.org. Please visit all of our Miniature Schnauzers & Friends rescues at the adoptions fair held every Saturday from noon-3:30 p.m. or check out our website, www.msfr.org. Our adoptions fairs take place at Petco, 537 N. Pacific Coast Highway, Redondo Beach, California. Schnauzers! Bet you can't adopt just one! •

Gwen has a new sibling and a wonderful new family.

There are many reasons why a dog may need space:

- HEALTH ISSUES
- IN TRAINING
- BEING REHABILITATED
- SCARED OR REACTIVE AROUND OTHER DOGS

THANK YOU!

Inspired by its come-from-behind 11-9 The Hawthorne Park and Recreation's Division 4 (ages 13-15) League leading Been Winning started off slow but used a big second half to roll over the Young Ballers 59-37 last Saturday at the Betty Ainsworth Gymnasium. The third quarter saw Been Winning score the first 17 points and finished with a 19-5 run for a 45-31 lead.

In the final period, Been Winning continued to wear down the Ballers. They outscored them 14-6 to finish the blowout victory. Been Winning ended up outscoring the Ballers 33-11 in the second half. The Spartans, though, grabbed the lead for good when Caldwell scored. Hard Work got within one (37-36) when Williams made one of two free throws but the Spartans scored their final two points on a pair of free throws from Nathan Cabrera.

The Spartans, who improved to 2-3, also had six points apiece from Errick Corda and Antma Valle, while Devon Kimble and Nile Aldridge each contributed five. Overlooking Insurance During Your Job Search Could Cost You (BPT) - An improving economy has many people entering the job market and looking for new employment opportunities. But if job seekers are not insurance-smart in their search, they may end up in worse financial shape than they were in their previous role.

Earning a higher salary is the primary goal for many job seekers, but research from the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC) shows that many job seekers ignore the wider benefits package, not realizing that insurance benefits alone can account for nearly 10 percent of total compensation, according to research from the Bureau of Labor Statistics. This could be costly, as 25 percent of job switchers found out. In fact, new employees reported that insurance-related changes in their new position either slightly or greatly worsened their overall financial situation.

If you are exploring new opportunities in the job market, make sure you ask these questions.

Five Tough Questions to Ask When Changing Jobs

1. Beyond salary, what are the other financial implications of making a job change?
2. What options do I have to cover medical expenses while I'm between jobs?
3. If something catastrophic happens to me between jobs, is my family protected?
4. Have I thought through all of the financial consequences of a job change that includes a long-distance move?
5. All things considered, could this be a good time to start my own business?

Asking yourself these questions will put you in a better position to research new opportunities in an informed way. Before you decide to accept a new position, make some smart insurance decisions to be sure you and your family are protected during the transition.

Five Insurance-smart Things to Do as You Change Jobs

1. Find out if your new employer has a mandatory waiting period before health insurance coverage takes effect. If so, consider a short-term plan to cover the gap.
 2. Conduct a line-by-line comparison of your current health plan with plans offered by your new employer to determine the right blend of deductibles, co-pays and coinsurance for your needs.
 3. If you have children and your health insurance coverage is at risk of lapsing, look into government-sponsored programs, such as Children's Health Insurance Plans (CHIP). These plans may provide coverage at little or no cost to you.
 4. See if your current group life insurance plan has a conversion privilege. You may have 31 days from the day you leave your employer to submit an application.
 5. Insurance rates and coverage vary greatly from state to state. Before a move across state lines, contact your state insurance department so you know what to expect.
- Accepting a new position can be an exciting time in your professional life. By asking the right questions you can ensure your new job is even more profitable for your family than your last. Five Easy Tips For Throwing The Ultimate Summer Party

If you're looking forward to throwing a summer party but you're not sure how to get started, the following tips will have you outside enjoying a warm breeze with your friends in no time.

- Formulate the guest list. What's a party without guests, right? Start by determining how many people you can comfortably host and create your guest list with this realistic number in mind. Friends, family and co-workers can all attend, but make sure to invite people you know will be respectful of your home and your neighborhood as their actions reflect on you.

- Pick a theme. Theme parties make planning and decorating so much easier, and they provide guests an immediate sense of what kind of party it is, how to dress, etc. If you own a pool, invite everyone to a day at the beach. Or, pick a theme around your favorite television show.

- Dress your party to impress. The right decorations are a matter of taste and your skill level. If you're the creative type, you may enjoy building your own decorations from scratch. Or, you might prefer to simply purchase your decorations from a local party supply store. No matter what you choose, select decorations that complement the theme of your party.

- A flavor for every taste. Warm weather gatherings shouldn't involve a lot of time in the kitchen working over a hot stove. Instead, consider offering a selection of easy, ready-to-eat snacks in a variety of flavors.

- Keep them entertained. The right entertainment options can keep your party going longer. If you have a pool, make it the main attraction and don't forget the floats! Outdoor yard games like darts, lawn bowling or bean bag toss are popular and you can encourage participation by turning them into a competition. Smaller groups may appreciate a deck of cards and no one can say no to bingo if there's a prize on the line. Good music is a must so be sure to load your iPod with a fun, upbeat playlist your guest will enjoy. Planning the perfect party is easier than you may think. With a little preparation and the right food, decorations and entertainment, you can give your guests a memorable event they'll be talking about all summer long.
