"Operation Gobble" Delivers Thanksgiving Day Turkeys

The office of Assembly Member Steven Bradford (D-Gardena) hosted its third annual Operation Gobble turkey giveaway on Monday, Nov. 20. Organizations are sent vouchers in advance for turkeys, with the time and place for pickup. Groups serving communities from Westchester to Gardena received five to ten turkeys. # City Council Approves Events Use of City Seal, Hears About Good Investments

By Nancy Peters

Two resolutions and a second reading of an ordinance would seem to be a reason for a City Council meeting to last maybe an hour with public communications, yet the Hawthorne elected officials managed to prolong the Tuesday evening gathering to more than three hours. An agenda item to approve a revised list of organizations and events that may use the seal of the City of Hawthorne in advertising posed some questions as to the actual naming of some events, such as "St. Joseph Fiesta" because it is affiliated with a religion. Removals from the list include "Teen Challenge Car Show" because Teen Challenge is no longer in Hawthorne and the "90th Anniversary of the City of Hawthorne," as that was a one-time event. For clarification, the final list will only indicate the "Hawthorne President's Council K-9 BBQ Dinner" one time, thus removing "Hawthorne President's Council Canine Dinner."

Also, the "Holly Glen HOA Rock Around the Block" is now correctly listed as "Wiseburn Education Foundation Rock Around the Block" and the additions of the "Holly Park HOA Math Maze Workshop" and "Taste of Hawthorne" complete the list. The list can be amended at any time for new events that request use of the City seal and this current list will remain in effect through June 30, 2013. The resolution very specifically delineates that there will be no financial support from the general fund for any of these non-City-sponsored events.

James Watts, a representative from First Empire Investments and Securities, gave a brief overview of services provided by the brokerage firm in previous investment of the City reserves. Investing by purchasing bonds and negotiable CDs to yield a better return of monies than a savings account can provide through a banking institution were explained as two recommendations. This type of investing allows for funds to be insured by the FDIC. Yielding an occasional 1.1 percent return with little to no risk of the principal and a simpler way to invest is recommended for most City investments. Bonds are easier to evaluate and are also easier to turn in for the investment to be realized in a shorter turnaround time. The Council requested that the City Treasurer provide a report in January 2013 of past investments and the yields realized so that an evaluation may be determined to once again authorize investing reserves.

Planning Director Gregg McClain is now approved to be the authorized designee to administer the grant from the Strategic Growth Council for the Sustainable Communities Planning Grant Program. Mayor Danny Juarez appointed Don Harris and Glenn Guerrero to the ad hoc committee formed at the last Council meeting to oversee the grant program.

The Council also approved an ordinance for a new franchise agreement with Exxon-Mobil Oil Corporation for 15 years until 2027, with a flat fee of $10,000 as a first payment and subsequent annual payments adjusted for inflation and the Consumer Price Index, based on a $1.68 per cubic foot of pipeline. Exxon-Mobil has paid franchise fees to the City on the pipeline for the last 20 years. The vendor pays franchise fees for the privilege of using the underground of Hawthorne, or any municipality, for the transport of any gas or oil products through the pipeline. Exxon-Mobil has built-in monitoring and methodical pressure checks, leakage checks, and metering for the length of the pipeline, as regulated and required by State mandates. No new construction on the pipeline is expected during the term of this new 15-year agreement.

The City Manager's Consent Calendar items included a request to approve a three-year contract for $137,166.45 for the Microsoft Enterprise Agreement Software Licensing for all critical systems licenses for City computers, servers and client access licensing. The City can purchase the software, and the supporting equipment to upgrade the computer services, through participation in the volume pricing between CompuCom Systems and California County Microsoft Enterprise Agreement, initiated by the County of Riverside through a competitive request for proposal (RFP). Participating public agencies benefit from volume pricing discounts to purchase all-new software, automatic upgrades/ updates, server client access licenses, and various bundled software. The new licensing for the servers, tech support, training and required server hardware, as well as new computers for the Hawthorne Police Department, is the first step in a complete replacement of outdated computer systems, servers and software for City departments.

Also on Tuesday, City Manager Michael Goodson introduced David Roberts, the new Manager of Human Resources who began his tenure on Monday, November 26. During oral communications, several upcoming events were announced. The Hawthorne Chamber of Commerce will distribute 500 turkeys and 500 bags of groceries, along with toys, on December 22 at noon at the former RFK Hospital on 116th Street and Grevillea Avenue. The Hawthorne President's Council will distribute toys on December 20 and 21 at noon at the Playa Vista Middle School. The Kiwanis Club will sponsor the annual Senior Citizen Pasta Luncheon at the Hawthorne Memorial Center on Friday, December 7 at 11:30 a.m. Anyone wanting to volunteer for the 2013 Hawthorne Relay for Life should attend the next planning meeting on Monday, December 10 at 6:30 p.m. at the Hawthorne Moose Lodge at 132nd Street and Inglewood Avenue. The public is invited to attend the Holiday Celebration at the Hawthorne Historical Museum on Saturday, December 1 from 4-7 p.m. for the lighting of holiday lights, a music program and welcoming ceremonies for the annual visit from Santa Claus.

Reports included a directive from Councilmember Alex Vargas for the City Manager to prepare a report on a six-year history of the City's reserves and budget-to-expenditures by quarter, including the current budget year up to the end of December 2012 in time for the second Council meeting in January 2013. Also requested was a status report of fees

Rivalry Renewed

By Adam Serrao

For as long as anyone can remember, there has been no such thing as a rivalry between the Los Angeles Clippers and the Los Angeles Lakers. While they have shared the same building over the past 13 years, the Clippers have failed to even enter the conversation when the topic of sharing championships has been discussed. Quite frankly, the Lakers have consistently been so good over the years that they have not only dominated the headlines when it comes to their play on the court, but have also been equally adept at gathering headlines from around the NBA and Los Angeles when it comes to off-the-court issues as well. All of a sudden, however, a team that has consistently been composed of stars similar to Pooh Richardson and Eric Piatkowski in the past has changed almost overnight into a team comprised of assets like Chris Paul and Blake Griffin. The turning away of Clipper Darrell says it all. These "new-look" Clippers have a new identity. They are ready to stop fooling around and start taking some of the shine off of the city's perennial favorites, but will they attract enough attention to take all of the shine away from the Lakers?

No matter what their record says about how the team has been playing to start the season, the Lakers' roster is one that is not only formidable but also scary to many other teams around the league. One of the reasons why the roster has taken the shape that it currently has is because of the nixed trade by David Stern that will forever live in infamy in the hearts and minds of Los Angeles basketball fans everywhere. Chris Paul could have, and probably should have, become a Laker to team up with Kobe for a few championships before the latter aging allstar retired. Instead, Paul went to a different locker room in the same building and Kobe has now been forced to (if you can call it that) team up with Dwight Howard. Now that Paul must look at this new Lakers' team from an outsider's perspective, however, he is certainly not one to panic at the sight of their roster. "Why should I be nervous," he said on the Dan Patrick Show. "When we got to the Olympics, if you looked at our roster, you could've just given us the medal--but you have to play the games and that's what makes it so exciting." Excitement is exactly what we can expect from both of these teams all season long, but so far the Clippers hold the upper hand with a 105-95 beat-down of their counterparts in the third game of the year.

Beating the Lakers isn't the only thing that the Clippers have going for them so far this season. After all, the win did come before the coaching change and the Lakers have had a lot to get used to at the beginning of this season so far, to say the least. What the Clippers also have going for them, though, is that they have taken on and beaten other powerhouse teams across the league on a consistent basis. Wins against the aforementioned Lakers, the Denver Nuggets, Memphis Grizzlies, Chicago Bulls, San Antonio Spurs (twice) and the reigning champion Miami Heat have added up to be victories over playoff-caliber teams that in turn set the Clippers up for an extremely successful season. The Lakers, on the other hand, have only beaten one fairly good team--the Brooklyn Nets.

If there's anyone in this league who knows about a rivalry, it's Kobe Bryant. Throughout his years in the NBA, he has battled it out with the Spurs, Phoenix Suns and of course the Boston Celtics, just to name a few. When you ask him of his team's rivalry with the Clippers, though, he becomes very candid, to say the least. "Please," Bryant sighed. "We've got five championships. Rivals come from the playoffs." The Clippers have made the playoffs only two times in the last 15 years while the Lakers have been there seemingly every single year, so Kobe does have a point. "It isn't a rivalry--it never has been a rivalry," he continued. Again, true. All time, head to head, the Lakers have played 193 games against the Clippers. The Lakers have won 143 of those games.

The Clippers have been a historically horrible team throughout their history. With key additions like Jamal Crawford, Matt Barnes, Lamar Odom and (once he returns from injury) Grant Hill to add to the flourishing talent of Griffin and Paul, that all might change. It certainly looks as if it is already on its way to doing so this year in particular. The problem with speaking of a rivalry, though, is that you have to change the entire pedigree of a team. The Lakers have a traditionally winning pedigree that has done its part to entrench its team's brand deeply into the roots of Los Angeles tradition. While Paul and the rest of his Clipper teammates would love to change that culture, it would not only take defeating the Lakers in this year's season series and winning the NBA championship, but it would take multiple NBA championships and banners to be hung in the rafters of the Staples Center. Sure, the Clippers are getting better as a team and are ready to take the next step as championship contenders. Until they start winning those titles, however, the Lakers will forever be L.A.'s team and a rivalry between the two squads will be, like Kobe says, nonexistent. •

Inglewood Looks to State Title

By Joe Snyder

Last season, Inglewood High's boys' basketball team captured its fourth ever CIF-Southern Section and first since 1994 when it topped Simi Valley Royal High for the Division IIAA title at the Anaheim Convention Center Arena. That squad was made up of virtually all juniors.

Not only do the Sentinels return all five starters, but also picked up a key transfer from Playa del Rey St. Bernard High in all-CIF Southern Section Division VAA Player of the Year, all-California State and this year's preseason all-American six-foot senior guard Brandon Randolph. Randolph is one of several Major Division I college prospects on its extremely talented squad.

Pets Without Partners Purrrfect Companions

Brighten your holiday and theirs when you adopt a "pet without a partner."

Honey was found down near the docks at the Port of LA hiding in a makeshift little cave she made out of old dock lines--she was terrified, dirty and cold. This little sweetheart never stops wagging her tail and has the most expressive ears. We estimate her age to be about six to seven years old and she had to have gotten out of someone's yard and become lost. At her foster home, she is wonderful with the three other dogs, including a Great Dane. Honey loves to play and will take any toy, throw it up in the air and chase it around. She learned my doggie door in two days. She also loves to be up on the couch and snuggle up on your lap. She loves to go for walks and has great energy. Honey is 100 percent crate-trained and loves her crate. She goes in there voluntarily throughout the day to nap and chew hold him, his head melts into your shoulder as he snuggles in for love... something he has obviously been neglected of for quite a while. If you like this breed, you will adore Mr. Kinkade! He needs a warm home for the holidays. Mr. Kinkade is neutered, current on all vaccinations, de-wormed and microchipped.

To learn more about these and other wonderful dogs, visit our website at www. animalsrule.org. If a dog is on our website, it's available. Or come to our Saturday adoption events from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. at 305 North Harbor Boulevard in San Pedro (just off the 110 near the cruise port). We are always in need of donations for veterinarian bills and our senior dogs. Donations can be made through our website or by sending a check payable to: Animals Rule Placement Foundation at 305 North Harbor Blvd., San Pedro, CA 90731. All donations are tax-deductible. We are a registered 501©3 non-profit organization.

Saving one animal won't change the world, but the world will surely change for that animal. •

Start off the holidays with a new best friend when you adopt your purr-fect partner.

Bonnie is a character of a kitty with a lot of personality! She is a mega-affectionate lap kitty who will dance her way into your arms at any chance she can get. She is very playful and loves to wrestle with other kitties. Bonnie is definitely more of an "alpha" kitty, as she wants to be in charge of everything that is going on. Her looks are very striking and her coat is so very soft. Her meow is perhaps the cutest thing you will ever hear! Bonnie needs a kitty companion in her forever home. She gets along great with everyone and is good with dogs as well. This teenage beauty is ready to share her love with you.

Andy is a handsome orange Tabby with an adorable face. He is a complete sweetheart who loves to sleep on the bed or be a "lap hog" when he's not simply sitting next to you. Andy will follow you from room to room, always wanting to be with you. As is stereotypical of orange kitties, Andy is very personable and easygoing. He is outgoing and loves people, which is obvious in how much time he spends with people. When it comes to toys, Andy is easy to please and loves to lay with all sorts of things. He has great energy and is still super-active and playful. His cute little meow and wonderful purr will steal your heart. Andy can be adopted as a single kitty, but he gets along with other kitties as well and would be perfectly happy with buddies.

These kittens/cats are available for adoption through Kitten Rescue, one of the largest cat rescue groups in Southern California. All of our kitties are spayed/neutered, microchipped, tested for FeLV and FIV, de-wormed and current on their vaccinations. For additional information and to see our other kitties, please check our website at www.kittenrescue.org, or email us at mail@kittenrescue.org. Your tax-deductible donations for the rescue and care of our cats and kittens can be made through our website or by sending a check payable to Kitten Rescue, 914 Westwood Boulevard, #583, Los Angeles, CA 90024.

On Saturdays, we have adoptions from noon to 3:30 p.m. in Westchester at 8655 Lincoln Boulevard, just south of Manchester Avenue, and also in Mar Vista at 3860 Centinela Avenue, just south of Venice Boulevard. Our website lists additional adoption sites and directions to each location.

He is a gorgeous, tri-colored Shih Tzu with black ears that are a perfect offset to his white coat and tan cow patches. He is wonderful on leash and loves to ride in the car. Kinkade has good play manners with other dogs. When you

They're clean and sociable, and once neutered they can easily be litterbox-trained. There is a wide selection of rabbits waiting for homes, so please don't shop--adopt one of these beautiful bunnies or one of their friends.

Beatrice is a fantastic house bunny and people oriented--she even gives kisses! This snuggly girl would be a wonderful companion for humans, cats or a compatible boy rabbit. Beautiful Beatrice is about four years old as of June 2012.

Chico is a small Dwarf/Spot blend with a great disposition. This engaging little fellow is looking for a permanent home with some lucky humans and perhaps a rabbit friend too. Let us know if you'd like to meet him!

These are just two of the many orphaned bunnies available for adoption through Los Angeles Rabbit Foundation. To see more of their rabbits, please visit www.larabbits.org. The group holds weekly adoption venues on Saturdays from 12:30 to 3:30 at 3860 S. Centinela Avenue, Los Angeles 90066 (two blocks south of Venice Boulevard). All the rabbits are neutered and box-trained prior to adoption. Adopters receive a care packet, a bag of oat blend hay, and advice for the life of the rabbit. If you can't adopt, the organization always needs foster homes, volunteers and of course donations. Make this year a positive one for a rabbit in need. •

Teen Center Celebrates Fourth Anniversary By Cristian Vasquez been open, its popularity has grown among

Food, music and a table tennis tournament were just some of the activities hosted at the Hawthorne Teen Center in honor of its 4th Annual Celebration.

The day's event included an award ceremony, a speech from a returning student and a current student, followed by a table tennis tournament and lunch.

"The Teen Center is really the best vehicle for impacting youth and if you get them in those formidable youth years, that is when some key decisions can be made," Hawthorne Police Chief Robert Fager said. "So if you can partner with great entities like Mr. [Jan] Vogel's entity, the city and all the other partnerships that work here, you can actually catch a lot of kids and give them a firm foundation. That way when they hit those life-challenging decisions, they can make decisions that allow betterment for them and vicariously for our community."

The Teen Center, located at 3901 El Segundo Blvd., is open every day from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. and provides the city's teens with homework assistance. When the kids at the center do not have homework, staff engages them in academic activities such as a word of the day activity or board games that are mentally stimulating. With the exception of Friday, which is fun day, the staff at the Teen Center is focused on helping teens succeed academically.

"We have tutoring, SAT Prep and after that it is all games. We have enrichment programs such as cooking class, leadership club, and sports such as volleyball, basketball and dodge ball," Teen Center Manager Gabriela Goetz said. "We also have our scholarship club for students who are juniors or seniors that are looking for scholarships. We give them a way at finding scholarships and help them to write out applications."

The center also hosts the Job Club on Wednesdays between 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. where teens are assisted with finding employment, as well as with resume writing. They also assist teens with interviewing skills while training them to maintain employment once they have been hired. For Noella Bih, the Teen Center has influence her life in ways that she did not expect.

"Being part of the Teen Center for four years has changed my life in many aspects and it has also helped shape who I am," Bih said. "I joined the program at age 14 and with the assistance of the South Bay Workforce Investment Board I was able to work with the department of public services during their summer job program. I helped to organize their office and do clerical work. I learned things that will prepare me for future jobs such as being on time, which is very important if you want to work. Working for the first time made me realize that it is not easy to make money and I also learned to appreciate my parents more."

The day's activities recognized several students for their outstanding performance in different areas. The Academic Achievement Award went to Bih, the Best Attendance Award went to Moshaid Mohammed, the Outstanding Leadership Award went to Angie Barba while Peter Godslaw earned the Sports Award.

"During my ninth and tenth grade I was struggling with my math and English but the teen center helped me with my homework," Bih said. "Now I find myself helping others who are in the same shoes that I was years ago."

In the four years that the Teen Center has students, volunteers and donors. Seeing the center grow along with the teens that attend it has been a unique expereince for Teen Center's staff.

"The first years were kind of difficult because it was a challenge to merge the schools together. There was a lot of school spirit so kids from one school only wanted to hang out with kids from their school and it was slow to merge them. It was slow to come but now you can't tell which school is which now," Goetz said. "They have all become friends and it is a good thing because some of the kids came in here from the beginning and didn't have friends. Or their social life was not really there so the parents brought them here for that reason. Seeing those kids evolve has been really cool. We have had a couple of kids that we have seen grow up."

Still, the work done by the Teen Center relies heavily on donations and volunteers. The televisions, pool tables, table tennis tables and board games available were all donated. Recently the Parks and Rec Foundation donated $13,000 to teen center and they even created a golf tournament with all proceeds going to the center.

"We can't do it without the community. We have been able to manage and we know that the community and city leaders come through," Goetz said. "We have a great staff of five plus a lot of volunteers. We cannot move on without volunteers and at the beginning that was hard because we couldn't get many volunteers so we had to get the word out. At that time we had a staff of three but we didn't have many kids either. As we grew, we realized we needed more of each other."

While resources are scarce the commitment to the Teen Center has been unwavering and continues to have a positive effect on the community.

"As you know the one thing that I always try to emphasis for people's awareness is funding. Money is the bottom line and a lot of times community members recognize that," Fager said. "They say 'This is so great, why don't we do more of it?' and it is because it takes money to do more and as you know right now, the fiscal economics of the state, cities and everywhere is very lean. As great as this is and as much as we look for avenues to capitalize on it, it takes dollars and cents to turn the lights on here and to get people to work here and that is a challenge."

All kids receive a free snack and all services are free. Students interested only need to show up, fill out an application and present a student identification to verify who they are. People interested in volunteering must go to teen center, fill out an application, get a back ground check and TB tested or they can call 310 970-7001.

"Sometimes necessity drives things more often than sometimes common sense. Maybe at times in the past when there was more money and that might have been a better time," Fager said. "But a lot of times you have to go back to those periods and ask yourself what the issues were and if they were the focus. Now with scrutiny being much more common place by the public, government and everybody, you really look for a way to make a bigger difference through a bigger bang for your buck. The Teen Center is huge and I will be honest, it is sometimes about having the right people at the right time. People like Mr. Vogel and his crew and staff that really have the right heart that drive these efforts." • charged by the City for licenses and permits as compared to the surrounding nine South Bay cities in order to assess the feasibility of those current fees in Hawthorne. Vargas also asked that a discussion be held as part of the agenda for the next Council meeting on the possibility of not holding a separate election for Mayor of Hawthorne--but instead elect five Council members and then select one sitting member as the Mayor on a rotating basis for a predetermined period of time.

Councilmember Olivia Valentine announced that the City website now includes a page with information to assist veterans with relevant information on jobs, benefits and other concerns. There is also a database of Hawthorne residents who are veterans and anyone wishing to be included in the database should contact Tom Quintana at City Hall. The recently submitted HUD report has been approved by the funds will continue based on the consolidated plan from the Planning Department.

Mayor Juarez announced that a grant to complete the reconfiguration of the Marine Avenue and Aviation Boulevard intersection has been received using Measure J/Measure R funding. Juarez requested that the Director of Public Works explore how the City can benefit from the recently approved State Senate Bill 535 that includes $54 million in funds for improvements to disadvantaged cities. Hawthorne could qualify due to the intersecting freeways that split the community and surround neighborhoods. The Mayor requested the Food Truck ordinance be put on the next agenda for review and possible reworking of the code.

The next meeting of the City Council will be held on Tuesday, December 11 at 6 p.m. •
