It Pays for Airline Passengers to Know Their Rights

By Rob McCarthy

A recent investigation at U.S. airports discovered a practice by several airlines of understating the amount of compensation they owe for "bumping" passengers from overbooked flights and for mishandling their bags.

A Department of Transportation task force found that Alaska, American, Southwest and United airlines gave ticketed passengers at the nation's airports incorrect information about their rights to compensation. At least one airline told passengers they were entitled to a maximum of $2,500 for lost, missing or delayed luggage when federal aviation consumer-protection law states the amount is $3,500.

The department levied $160,000 in fines against the carriers, which were ordered to stop the false and misleading practice against consumers. The enforcement action also served as a reminder that airline passengers who've purchased a seat on a domestic or international flight have certain rights.

"We are committed to ensuring that air travelers know the rules and have accurate information about compensation when they are bumped from flights and for lost, damaged, or delayed baggage," U.S. Transportation Secretary Anthony Foxx said Aug. 26 in an announcement about the task force findings.

Federal rules say that passengers who are bumped involuntarily from an oversold flight are eligible for compensation. The transportation department requires each airline to give those passengers a written description of their rights and the airlines' policy for deciding which passengers on an oversold flight are bumped. The airlines must first ask for volunteers to give up their seats on the flight, under the rules.

Most airlines overbook their scheduled flights to compensate for no-show passengers who miss their flights. The practice is legal under federal aviation rules, though airlines must have copies their policy at all airport ticketing and boarding locations. Any ticketed passenger or person may ask for a copy.

No compensation is due when a passenger is bumped involuntarily and the airline arranges other transportation that is scheduled to reach their final destination within one hour of the customer's original scheduled arrival time.

Passengers who will arrive at their destinations more than an hour late after being denied boarding on an oversold flight must be compensated, under aviation consumer-protection rules. After the airline arranges for alternate transportation for someone involuntarily bumped, they owe a passenger who is:

- One to two hours later than the original arrival time, - triple the one-way fare price up to $675, payable the same day. This also applies for a delay of one to four hours on an international flight.

- More than two hours later than the original scheduled arrival time - 400 percent of the one-way fare with a $1,350 maximum. This also applies to international travelers four hours or more behind schedule, or if an airline doesn't make alternate transportation available.

In both cases, a frequent-flier passenger holding a ticket without a fare amount would receive the lowest fare amount in the same class on the oversold flight. Any forced-bumped flier gets to keep the original ticket to use again, and airlines must refund any inconvenienced passengers who make other travel arrangements after being denied boarding.

The U.S. consumer-protection rules also extend to baggage that goes missing or turns up damaged. Airlines are liable for up to $3,500, and they must explain their policy and the dollar amount on tickets they issue to all passengers.

A consumer guide for air travelers, posted at the U.S. Department of Transportation web site, stresses that all damage to bags or contents must be verified, and the airline may dispute a claim for broken contents in a bag.

"If your suitcase arrives smashed or torn, the airline will usually pay for repairs. If it can't be fixed, they will negotiate a settlement to pay you its depreciated value. The same holds true for belongings packed inside," it says.

"Airlines may decline to pay for damage caused by the fragile nature of the broken item or inadequate packing, rather than the airline's rough handling. Air carriers might also refuse to compensate you for damaged items inside the bag when there's no evidence of external damage to the suitcase."

Agents with the Office of Aviation Enforcement and Proceedings showed up announced at airports nationwide, and asked ticketing and boarding agents for copies of the airlines' written denied boarding statement. The airline employees gave the federal agents written material that was outdated by five years in some cases, according to the transportation department.

Information in the terminals and printed on boarding passes understated how much ticketed passengers were entitled to receive if they got bumped for their flights. The department said signs and printed tickets were three years out of date.

Alaska Airlines told department investigators that it was in the process of updating signs about the higher $3,500 baggage-liability limits when the agents visited in August 2015. Alaska said it has since replaced the outdated signs and ticket information to comply with the law.

Long delays on the tarmac inconvenience airline passengers, and so they are restricted under the department rules, too. U.S. airlines cannot hold a domestic flight on a tarmac beyond three hours without giving passengers a chance to leave the airplane. The time limit is four hours for international flights.

The airlines must provide adequate food and water during the long delays, along with restrooms and medical attention, if necessary. Passenger safety, security or air traffic control reasons are exceptions to the tarmac-waiting rule.

A separate section of U.S. airline law prohibits discrimination in air travel based on a

Hawthorne Happenings

From City Clerk Norb Huber SAD DAY

Attending a friend's funeral is not a real happy time. That's what many of us did last Saturday. There were over 400 people who attended the memorial service for Don McIntire, a former City of Hawthorne public works employee. Don was born in Inglewood and worked for 31 years with the City of Hawthorne. He coached Little League baseball and Junior All-American football for about that same length of time. He was well liked, had a great sense of humor, and loved to talk. Don talked to, with, and at anyone who cared to listen. I lived around the corner from him and he was an active member of the Hawthorne Historical Society. He would always love to come into the Hawthorne Museum because he knew he could find someone to talk with. He would lead visitors around the museum showing them every photo or item of memorabilia giving a detailed story about each one. Don is survived by his wife, Marsha, and will be sorely missed by all who had a chance to know this man with a big, lovable heart.

in the middle of the street with other bits of evidence close by. As most of you know the 15 month old child did not survive the crash caused by an elderly lady driving under the influence. The 15 year old aunt of the baby was taken to the hospital with major injuries. It was terrible to see what had happened just minutes before. It is even more horrible to think of how this poor, innocent baby died. My friend had 80 years to live, this child had just a little more than one year. We really never know how many days or years we have to live.

THE END OF A GOOD THING

With the approval of the two Marriott Hotels going into the site of the old police station, the Hawthorne Historical Society was given notice to vacate the premises by the end of September. The Hawthorne Museum has been a great thing for the residents of the city to enjoy. It has been a gathering spot for many on Tuesdays and Saturdays. Now with the new development coming in, the Museum will have to move. The HHS operates the Museum. We are currently looking for a new site. If you are aware of any vacant building the HHS could move to please let us know as soon as you can. We would like to find another location at which to display the colorful history of the City of Good Neighbors.

SADDER PART OF DAY

I had just gotten home from the Don's service when I received a text from the Hawthorne Police Department telling me that they were investigating a major traffic accident at the corner of 133rd Street and Hawthorne Blvd. Our main artery would be closed for four hours while the investigation into a vehicle verses a pedestrian traffic accident was studied. I decided to walk over to the scene and saw a baby stroller torn up

Hawthorne Gets First Win of Season in a Shutout

Article and photo by Eric Ramos

Hawthorne High School bounced back from an opening season loss in a big way with a 42-0 trouncing of the Rivera Huskies at home last Thursday. After a slow start, the Cougars' offense got rolling when quarterback Andrew Kalinowski found wide receiver Carlos Jacobo deep down the left sideline for a 64-yard touchdown in the first quarter.

On the ensuing series, the Cougars' defense forced a fumble, which led to another Kalinowski to Jacobo touchdown for a 14-0 lead in the first quarter. The Cougars came out wanting to establish the run and shut down the Huskies offensively.

"We started off slow with undisciplined mistakes," Hawthorne coach Donald Paysinger said. "We started to come around, picks things up and gel as a unit."

Hawthorne senior running back Eric Foster got the running game going with a 5-yard touchdown run to give the Cougars a 21-0 halftime lead. Jacobo was all over the field on defense, including a 90-yard interception he returned for a touchdown in the third quarter. Foster added a 67-yard touchdown run and the rout was on as the Cougars took a 35-0 lead in the third quarter.

"That's him, that's what you get when you have No. 6," Paysinger said about Jacobo's play. "He's gonna be all over the field on both sides of the ball. That's what he did last year and finished as an All-Conference player."

Kalinowski put the game away when he connected with senior wide receiver Marte Mapu for a 25-yard touchdown in the fourth quarter. Kalinowski said the mentality was to score every time the offense got the ball.

"We went out and gave it our all, 100 percent," Kalinowski said. "We wanted to bounce back from last week's loss and gain momentum to keep it going for the rest of the season."

Hawthorne senior defensive back Justice Powers converges on the tackle with other Cougar defenders.

Jacobo finished with five catches for 130 yards while adding to touchdowns. On defense, Jacobo led the defense with two interceptions and had a third called back on a penalty. Foster finished with 80 yards on 12 carries and two touchdowns.

The Cougars (1-1) are back in action Friday at 7 p.m. when they hit the road for a non-conference against South Torrance.

Lawndale vs. South Torrance

The Lawndale High School football team opened the 2016 season with a 28-3 win over South Torrance at home last Friday in the season opener. The Cardinals were breaking in a new offense as junior quarterback Jalen Hamler and sophomore running back Jordan Wilmore made their debuts.

Hamler threw a 29-yard touchdown pass to sophomore wide receiver Albert Cobbin to give the Cardinals a 7-3 lead at halftime. The offense got rolling on Wilmore's 45-yard touchdown run, followed by a 44-yard touchdown catch by Cobbin to give Lawndale a 21-3 lead in the third quarter.

Wilmore finished the game with 130 yards on 15 carries and a touchdown. Hamler went 11 of 18 for 165 yards while adding two touchdowns. Lawndale senior free safety Destond Hall put the game away with a 70-yard interception he returned for a touchdown in the fourth quarter.

The Lawndale defense held South to 89 passing yards and 61 rushing yards while forcing four turnovers. Junior linebacker Paulo Bailey led the Cardinals on defense with 11 tackles. Hall added six tackles.

Lawndale (1-0) will travel to Crespi High School Friday for a 7 p.m. kickoff. Crespi will play their first game of the season.

Inglewood vs. Westchester

After an opening season win, the Sentinals were blanked by Westchester, 26-0, in a non-conference loss last Thursday. Inglewood failed to get into the end zone despite rushing for 238 total yards. The Sentinals had multiple drives stall on crucial turnovers.

Westchester took an early first quarter lead on junior running back Estabon Bozeman's 5-yard touchdown run. Bozeman hauled in a 17-yard touchdown to give the Comets a 14-0 lead with 1:05 remaining in the first quarter.

The Sentinals' defense didn't have an answer for Bozeman as he scored his third touchdown of the game on a 10 yard run to give the Comets a 20-0 lead at halftime. Inglewood's offense had possession for 19 of the 24 minutes in the first half.

Inglewood attempted one pass the entire game while the ground game was led by junior running backs Tyaire Dunlap and Daniel Barnett. Dunlap finished with 134 yards on 27 carries. Barnett added 60 yards on 15 carries.

The Comets put the game out of reach when senior free safety Chayel Flowers scooped up a fumble and returned it 50 yards for a touchdown with 8:35 remaining in the fourth quarter.

Inglewood (1-1) will look to get back under the win column when they host the Blair Vikings Friday at 7 p.m. The game will be played at L.A. Southwest College while Coleman Stadium is under construction. Blair is coming off of a 46-3 loss to Angelou High School. •

Lots of Life Left in Senior Pets

(BPT) - Every day, in shelters all across the country, senior animals are passed over by prospective pet owners. Why? Some people are looking for the energy of a new puppy or feel older dogs offer families too little time. But the truth is, providing a new home for an older animal may bring you a level of companionship you never imagined.

"Any shelter worker will tell you, puppies and kittens get adopted first and older shelter pets have a higher likelihood of being euthanized," says Andrea Arden, a dog trainer who's been featured on Animal Planet and the Today Show, and spokeswoman for Tractor Supply Company's Pet Appreciation Week. "But if you're considering adoption, there are great reasons to choose a more mature pet."

Older animals can be just as cute and lovable as their younger counterparts. In fact, they often come with many wonderful qualities that take years to develop in younger animals.

Here are a few benefits to consider as you're looking for a forever friend:

Saving a Life

It's no secret that senior pets are at a disadvantage in shelters. Not only do they have a lower likelihood of adoption, they are also more prone to depression and confusion as a result of their new environment. Consider how they got there; more often than not, a senior animal ends up in a shelter due to owner surrender. It could be an older owner's declining health, an unforeseen move or a sudden change in financial situation. Still, these are wonderful, loving animals that simply had no place to go. By choosing to adopt a senior pet, you're providing a second chance at life and, with that, can come a lot of fulfillment.

Say So Long to Training

Lucky for you, the majority of senior animals have already learned the fundamentals - everything from toilet training to various commands to leash walking. Not having to spend weeks and weeks on training can be a valuable perk of adopting a senior pet.

Age Is but a Number

However, should you want to teach an older dog a new trick, you're in luck. Animals can be trained at any age; in fact, more mature animals may have a longer attention span, so you may actually find it easier to teach your senior pet something new.

What you See Is What you Get

Adopting an older pet means its size and temperament are established, increasing your chance of finding the perfect companion for your household. Have a cat? No problem, many senior dogs have already lived in a home with felines.

Lots of love, Less Destruction

Senior pets are typically well past the search-and-destroy phase, minimizing the possibility of unwanted accidents and bad behavior.

Something for Everyone

The mellow disposition of a senior animal makes them a great companion for people of all ages. Their lower energy level is often a perfect fit for the elderly, while their calm presence can be great for families with children.

Wonderful Years Ahead

Arden urges pet parents not to let the shorter lifespan of an older pet keep you from adopting one. Depending on the breed, a dog of 7 or 8 years may have at least as many good years left ahead, and most breeds of domestic cats can easily live to be 15 or older. It's also important to note that while veterinary attention and medication are needed for animals of all ages, old age doesn't necessarily mean higher costs.

"You wouldn't avoid making a human friendship just because the new person in your life is mature," Arden says. "When you adopt an older animal, you can still have plenty of time to enjoy their companionship. Because they're older, you'll be inspired to make every moment with them as loving and rewarding as possible."

Preparing for Senior Pets

Good nutrition and regular veterinary checkups are important for all pets, especially seniors. Look for a specialized food, such as 4health Premium Pet Food, to ensure your pet is receiving the vitamins and minerals needed to stay healthy. You can also find walk-in PetVet Clinics at Tractor Supply stores where you can save as much as 70 percent off the cost of yearly vaccinations, microchipping and other preventative treatment options.

Supporting the Cause

Finding a senior pet that's right for your family is easier than you might think. During the week of Sept. 14-18, many of Tractor Supply's 1,500 stores across the country will host Pet Appreciation Week where they will feature on-site pet adoption events with community shelters and rescues, some offering senior pets. The main event on Saturday, Sept. 17, will also feature prizes, giveaways and demonstrations on pet nutrition. Check with your local Tractor Supply store to get more details on the Pet Appreciation Week •

McCoy

We are looking for volunteers to help with our pet adoption fairs which are held every Saturday at the Petco located at 537 N. Pacific Coast Highway Redondo Beach 90277, from noon to 3:30 p.m. If you are interested in volunteering and can commit to at least one Saturday a month, please contact us at info@msfr.org. You can also visit all of our Miniature Schnauzers & Friends rescues at the adoption fair or check out our website, www.msfr.org. If you have any questions about a particular dog's availability you can email us at info@msfr.org. Schnauzers! Bet you can't adopt just one.

I'm the real McCoy or so I've been told. That must be what they call a 3-year-old, male Miniature Schnauzer/Poodle mix that may even have a touch of Cocker Spaniel in his pedigree. The tad bit of Cocker would explain my slightly elongated but adorable ears. I was rescued from a L.A. area shelter where I ended up as a stray with my friend Skyler. I'm embarrassed to admit that I was such a mess I was originally listed as a female. It wasn't until I was shaved down that it was discovered – Oops I'm a he. After two weeks of shelter life, my time was up so when I tell you that I am very grateful to have been rescued, please believe me. A trip to the veterinarian took care of business (neutering) and my dental resulted in a beautiful pearly white smile. I'm 25 pounds of affection, a sweet temperament and I enjoy the company of other dogs but would love to find my forever family. If you are interested in McCoy, please email info@msfr.org for more information.

Did you know that Skyler is of Dutch origin meaning "scholar?" Well, this 4-year-old, female Miniature Schnauzer/Poodle mix has learned a valuable lesson. If you hang out on the streets with friends, you'll eventually end up in an L.A. area shelter hoping you'll be adopted. I wasn't adopted but the MSFR folks, whom, by the way, are great detectives, rescued me. They figured out that since I looked as bad, or worse, than McCoy; I had a consecutive impound number to his; I was picked up on the same date and in the same city that we were probably picked up together and suspected we're related. We have the same type of ears and curly, Poodle-like coats so folks are thinking we could be mother/son or siblings. Neither McCoy nor I are confirming their suspicions - it's just our secret. The differences are that McCoy is considerably larger than my petite 14 pounds and I have the classic Schnauzer coloring. I too had a dental and now have a sparkling smile to match my personality. I get along great with dogs and would be a great addition to your family. If you're interested in Skyler, please email info@msfr.org for more information.

When I found out that my folks were getting divorced, I was so upset. I didn't know which one I would choose to live with because I loved them both so much. Can you imagine how destroyed I was when I found out that neither of them wanted me so they just dumped me at an L.A. area shelter? Here I am a 4-year old, female Miniature Schnauzer mix who was worried about them and now I'm the one looking for a forever home. Oh, by the way, my name is Leia and I'm a very friendly little gal, however, I am tad bit nervous at first meeting but settle in nicely after I know you're not going to dump me. I'm only 17 pounds so I'm very transportable, I have a great smile (thanks to my dental) and I'm really cute. I do get along with other dogs but I'm not very playful and would rather be with my "people". If you are interested in Leia, please email info@msfr.org for more information.

Hola. My name is Peso and I am a very unusual, but precious, mix of breeds. My friends think that I am a Corgi/Pug mix but you'll have to see for yourself if you agree. One thing I know for sure is that I am an 8-year-old male who was rescued from the Baldwin Park Shelter after being picked up as a stray on Thanksgiving Day. I spent six weeks at the shelter before being rescued and I am now anxiously looking for my forever home. One look and I know you will fall in love with me. I have such beautiful, soft, thick, chocolate fur and a most animated face that you won't be able to resist snuggling with me. I get along great with other dogs and make friends quickly with strangers. I am good-natured and content to be with my people. Since I am not very big, only about 20 pounds, I can easily accompany you on any adventure you choose. Peso can be seen anytime at Yellow Brick Road Doggie Playcare in El Segundo. passengers who need medical assistance.

The rights of disabled passengers and responsibilities of the airlines are explained at the Department of Transportation web site. Type in "About the Air Carrier Access Act" in the search window to find the information.

Consumers have the right to file complaints with an airline, and to expect a written response to their concerns. Federal rules require carriers to explain how to file a complaint. Their policy must appear on their web sites, on all e-ticket confirmations, and upon request at any of the airline's ticket counters or gates.

An airline must acknowledge a passenger complaint within 30 days and respond in de-

The department says that an airline passengers should keep notes about an incident, including when it happened and the names of airline employees who were contacted. It's important when filing a complaint to have the ticket or confirmation, baggage check stubs, and boarding pass. Also, passengers should keep receipts for out-of-pocket expenses that were incurred as a result of the airlines' actions. •

Airlines are required to have copies of bumping and baggage policies at ticket counters.
