City of El Segundo Banking on Future Commercial Projects

By Brian Simon

Despite staff estimates that economic development efforts will yield about $350,000 in new annual revenues for the City of El Segundo over the next few years, potential commercial activity in town could markedly increase those numbers. Planning and Building Safety Director Sam Lee noted that in making budget projections, it is better to be on the conservative side rather than counting eggs before they are hatched. Here is a look at some of the commercial projects currently in the El Segundo pipeline along with some future possibilities not quite set in stone.

Ready to Go

As part of its consolidation, aerospace giant Boeing will build a 6,009-square foot addition to its existing S-17 building located at 930 Selby Street to accommodate an employee fitness center. The company will also convert 27,584 square feet of the S-20 industrial building (formerly used by Satco Company) to an office use and then add another 5,800 square foot of office. Finally, Boeing plans a three-story, 25,308 gross square foot addition located at the northeast corner of its existing three-story S-50 building at 1700 E. Imperial Avenue.

Federal Realty hopes to complete by the summer of 2015 the 113,000-square foot complex called The Point at the hard corner of Sepulveda and Rosecrans as part of Plaza El Segundo. The center will include 55,000 square feet of high-end retail and 33,000 square feet of restaurant space, with the rest dedicated to office. The Point will also feature a large courtyard roughly the size of a football field.

Developed by Mar Ventures, the 1.55-acre Grand Kansas development will feature a couple of two-story buildings totaling 31,000 square feet, with individual work spaces as small as 2,000 square feet available for prospective tenants. The architectural plan features brick, concrete and glass exteriors

School Board Meets New Richmond Street Administrator

By Duane Plank

Now that summer vacation time is in full swing, the El Segundo School Board held a quick Tuesday night meeting that moved at breakneck speed, with nary a special presentation or discussion item dotting the limited agenda. But the Board members did get to briefly meet the new assistant principal at Richmond Street Elementary, Dr. Rebecca Godbey, who will start her work in the El Segundo Unified School District later this summer.

Godbey comes to El Segundo from the Culver City Unified School District, with more than a decade of experience teaching students, ranging from kindergarten through grade four. "I am looking so forward to working at the school, and thank you so much for giving me this opportunity," said Godbey. "I know that it will be a great year."

The consent agenda featured Board approval of a new teacher technology boot camp slated to take place on August 15. The boot camp, which is expected to attract about 15 teachers, will run from 9 a.m. to noon. Participating teachers will then have the opportunity to stay over and review, practice and perfect their technology skills pertaining to databases and programs they will be using during the school year.

The action items included acceptance of the previously mentioned $950,000 bestowed upon the District by the El Segundo Ed Foundation; $75,000 headed towards Richmond Street, raised by that school's PTA; and $20,000 from the El Segundo High PTA. Clerk Jeanie Nishime represented her colleagues by thanking the above groups for their tireless fundraising efforts. "I would like to thank our generous donors for their amazingly generous gifts to us."

The Board also approved the new Advanced Placement Spanish book that will debut at the High School this fall, the Middle School Theater class, and the

Don Brann Appointed to Lead Inglewood Unified School District

Don Brann, who once led the Wiseburn School District in Hawthorne, was appointed to lead Inglewood Unified School District (IUSD) on June 28 and was expected to begin his duties on Monday, July 1. Brann is the third person to serve as Interim Superintendent since the State takeover last year.

California Professional Employees Representative Christopher Graeber, thought having a new Interim Superintendent demonstrated the need the District has for direction--but he is hopeful that things can begin to improve. "We think that the State finally got someone who has the proper background and resume to do this," Graeber said. "That is what the State should have done right away--they should have hired a seasoned expert. This is a big school district and this person has lots of experience. He has been all over the county working with districts and the budget is our big problem."

along with high ceilings and a roof deck. Lee views the project as a perfect tie-in with the City's efforts to market the burgeoning Smoky Hollow area to small technology, entertainment and other creative businesses. "We hope this will be a gateway project that we can build on to draw more people to Smoky Hollow," said Lee. Expected to be ready for occupancy at the beginning of 2014, the buildings will be adjacent to the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) inspection facility, offices and laboratory currently under construction.

and Mariposa. The new restaurant should be completed in 2014.

Future Projects

Plans to build a five-story, 190-room hotel at 888 Sepulveda are in the works but on hold. "The owner is not a hotel developer," said Lee. "However, he is motivated and hopeful to get construction going in 2014 and hopefully have the hotel open in 2015." Three years ago, the City Council approved plans for a six-story, 152-room Cambria Suites Hotel on Continental Boulevard between Grand Avenue and El Segundo Boulevard. There is no construction timeline as yet, but Lee

"Federal Realty hopes to complete by the summer of 2015 the 113,000-square foot complex called The Point at the hard corner of Sepulveda and Rosecrans as part of Plaza El Segundo.."

Corporation recently purchased 24 acres of the Campus El Segundo site, with initial plans to build 150,000 square feet of office and 13,000 square feet of retail space. "The developers are open to ideas for future phases, but may opt to do a two- or three-story building," said Lee. New owners are also in place for a structure at 1222 E. Grand. They hope to revamp the site into two creative office buildings that will be sold separately.

After being vacant the last few years, the former Fire Station 2 site on El Segundo Boulevard will have tenants in 2014. Property owner Brian Sweeney is in the process of developing the property for a Farmer Boys restaurant and a 7-Eleven scheduled to open this November.

After spending an almost combined $150 million over the last few years on their facilities, local data center operators Equinix and T5 Partners are ready to expand further. Equinix plans a $12 million addition in the near future to possibly double its operations in the next few years, while T5 will add another 175,000 square feet for a $100 million project.

In Downtown El Segundo, the City recently approved signage and exterior work for the 99 Cents Only store set to go into the former Cooke's Family Market site on Grand and Richmond. The applicant also submitted plans for an interior remodel of the building with a goal to open by October 2013. A couple of blocks away at the site of the old post office on Main Street, Ole Smoky Tennessee Moonshine will move its corporate offices into 2,000 square feet of space, with an additional 800-square foot retail and tasting room area. The company makes its own moonshine (distilled whiskey) sold in jars.

And as reported last week, the Planning Commission has approved a proposal for In-N-Out Burger to build a drive-through to replace the Sizzler located in the Queen Esther Square shopping center at Sepulveda is hopeful it will still happen. Meanwhile, ownership at the longstanding Hacienda Hotel is expected to officially change hands this month. "The new owners are looking at a few options, including splitting the hotel into two different hotels," said Lee. "That would reduce the number of rooms. There is also talk of a retail and restaurant presence as well as a new parking structure."

Raytheon's proposal to develop 1.9 million square feet at its 142-acre south campus will go to the Planning Commission later this year and the Council in early 2014. However, El Segundo's largest employer is unsure what it wants to do with the site, according to Lee. "If the company consolidates across the country, they will want to build on this site," he said. "If they don't consolidate, they may sell the space. It's probably a 10-year project timetable, but if approved, development will double." In May, Raytheon announced it would move its headquarters staff (approximately 170 employees) from El Segundo to McKinney, Texas as part of a reorganization plan.

Phase II of Plaza El Segundo planned on 62 acres to the southeast of the existing site is on hold pending the extension of Park Place that is pivotal for vehicle access. "They are working on conceptual designs for road improvements," said Lee. "If this project moves forward, there will be another 400,000 square feet of retail and restaurant that could significantly help our sales tax base."

And finally, the former site of the Trisonic Wind Tunnel at 400 Duley Road, built by North American Aviation in the 1950s and eventually gifted to UCLA in the late 1990s, is now under new ownership. Demolition of the facility took place in 2011, leaving a 3.5-acre parcel ripe for development. "They [new owners] want to have 40,000 square feet of industrial space and 20,000 square feet of office, though there are no dates yet," said Lee. •

SBWIB Connects Job Seekers, Businesses One City at a Time

By Cristian Vasquez

Comprised of representatives from El Segundo, Manhattan Beach, Carson, Gardena, Inglewood, Lawndale, Redondo Beach, Hermosa Beach and Hawthorne, the South Bay Workforce Investment Board (SBWIB) has been providing employment and training services in the South Bay for years. Through its One-Stop Business and Career Centers, the SBWIB has been able to provide an abundant amount of employment services to the residents of the South Bay, including job skill assessment, career coaching and individualized skill development, among others.

"The way it works is that we are either inundated with people being laid off and we try to meet the needs of these individuals or we have new companies that come in and need to hire new people," SBWIB Executive Director Jan Vogel said. "We do other things too such as afterschool programs like the local teen centers. We try to create a good foundation for those youths so they can be productive in the workforce. We also do mentoring programs and anything to do with jobs and the economy."

Recently, the SBWIB has begun having a stronger presence in of El Segundo where representatives have made themselves available to the public in the West Conference Room at City Hall. The next scheduled outreach dates in El Segundo are scheduled for July 25, August 22, September 26 and October 24 all from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. In addition, the representatives from the SBWIB will be at the Lawndale Library from 2-5 p.m. every Wednesday.

"We customize the approach and have enough choices and enough different training options that the individuals in those cities can benefit from it," Vogel said. "If you are a dislocated aerospace worker from El Segundo, then you need different kind of services than an individual on public assistance or one that has never worked before. It is a different need, so we try to find out how we can best assist them. The people that are residents in Redondo Beach are looking for something different than Inglewood residents. So we have a One-Stop Center in Redondo Beach that fits more to the Redondo Beach and beach cities needs than those Inglewood where the needs are a bit different."

With a strong emphasis on the local development of resources for potential employees and employers, the SBWIB has found a wide range of methods to reach the residents in the communities it serves. Through the Hawthorne Teen Center, the SBWIB has been able to provide an afterschool setting where kids can further develop academic and social skills. By the end of July, it is expected that Inglewood will open its own teen center thanks to the collaborative efforts of the City and SBWIB.

"The kids in Hawthorne have been grateful for the services there and there have been some Gates Millennium Scholarship award-ees [three], so hopefully the success will be replicated in Inglewood," Vogel said. "It is for academic enrichment and also recreational, but we want them to do their homework and what they have to do before they come in and be recreational."

Every year, the Department of Labor negotiates with the State of California to establish the performance standards. The State in turn will tell the 49 different Workforce Investment Boards what they are expected to do. The SBWIB has the highest performance from every board in the state. A year ago, it received the national award as one of the best in the country.

"The good news is that we are the best in the state. The bad news is that they expect us to keep going until it is impossible," Vogel chuckled. "We are proud of the fact that they expect more from us because we are indeed the highest performing workforce board in the state. We intend to keep achieving as best we can. The formula dollars keep going down every year with the federal budget the way it is, but we try to make do the best we can."

In order to fulfill the training and preparation aspect its goal, the SBWIB has a list of schools and courses on the directory that are available for free to the public and as long as there are funds. "We have more schools on our local directory than any other directory in the state," Vogel said "We screen these schools for competency, we make sure they are fiscally solvent and we demand that there be a 70 percent hiring rate when training is over. We have lots of occupations in this directory and hundreds and hundreds of different courses."

He mentioned that the participation and fundraising efforts of the Ed Foundation and parents will be key in the ability to continue offering a quality education to all District students. Yantz mentioned the relatively sparse items dotting the District's informational calendar this summer, noting upcoming events that will take place in the next few weeks, culminating in the always anticipated first day of school slated for August 27. Next up were the Board reports, with member Bill Watkins discussing how decisions in school district funding will occur, and noting that the funding formula currently in place fact that the Ed Foundation has stepped up to help fund summer school courses that had been eliminated due to the ongoing budgetary funding issues emanating from Sacramento. Last to speak was Yantz, who noted that the District had cut energy usage in the last eight years by 35 percent, which he described as "a remarkable reduction." With that, the less-than-30-minute session was adjourned and the lights turned off in the meeting room for the next six weeks. •

Politically Speaking

One Man's Opinion

By Gerry Chong

Last night I went to the annual Sodomasochists Ball, and met once again the most prominent members of the Liberal Establishment. It was to have been a costume party, but there was no disguising the political make-up of the group. Some greens were dressed as trees. Some unisexual, dressed attendees were holding hands. Some Islamists went incognito. The NSA bugged the room. Some dressed as IRS/DOJ scowled as they interrogated and taxed all attendees. And finally some dressed as Santa Claus throwing freshly minted money to anyone dressed as a dictator. It was a ball!

Eavesdropping, I heard one couple discussing the Washington Examiner report that the Pentagon is spending $771 million on 30 Russian helicopters and 18 Swiss planes for use by the Afghan military. John Sopko, special inspector general for reconstruction, said this program would waste $1 billion because our Afghan allies have only one-quarter the personnel and equipment needed to operate and maintain the aircraft and Afghan pilots are not trained to operate these planes—but hey, our hearts are empathetic.

I cruised over to listen in on another conversation regarding the progress of General Motors. Everyone knows taxpayers lost $10 billion in the new GM, giving 17 percent of the company to the UAW. We know too of the President's berating of firms that move jobs overseas and reduce U.S. federal income tax revenue. So given that, what has the patriotic GM done for America? First, it shut down the Janesville, WI plant that the President visited and promised would stay open for 100 years. Four months later, GM opened a new plant in China! Second, in July, GM announced it would invest $691 million in new plants in... ta da...Mexico. Thanks to taxpayer largesse, GM now builds more cars overseas than in the U.S., creating foreign jobs.

This group clearly believes that investing in Mexico rather than America would reverse the flow of illegal immigration, making it Mexico's responsibility to build a wall to keep out Gringos.

Finally, I meandered over to a group of frowning economists clustered around graphs, charts and economic models. Each was vehemently insisting his version of economic stimulus would awaken this moribund economy. Curious, I asked if all this intellect was wasted and whether economic answers simply lay in asking the right questions.

On June 24, for instance, the Gallup poll asked small businessmen the most direct question: "What is holding you back from hiring?"

- Forty-one percent said Obamacare has caused them to freeze hiring.
- Nineteen percent said Obamacare caused them to cut existing workers.
- Nine percent believed Obamacare would be good for business while 48 percent said it would be bad.
- Five percent said Obamacare would lower healthcare costs while 55 percent said it would raise them.

• Thirteen percent believed Obamacare would improve the quality of healthcare while 52 percent disagreed.

• Thirty-eight percent said Obamacare has caused them to pull back on business growth.

So the evening ended as all sodomasochistic encounters do...with the never-ending search for more government solutions to more governmentally induced crises. •

Another Man's Opinion

By Cristian Vasquez

The California Assembly's Judiciary Committee passed AB5, the Homeless Bill of Rights, in a 7-2 vote. Unlike current laws and ordinances that tend to criminalize homelessness, AB5 is a significant attempt at helping individuals without shelter rather imposing a punishment. AB5 was authored by Assemblyman Tom Ammiano from San Francisco and it overcame strong opposition through a well-organized grassroots movement of homeless and poor people. AB5 serves a reminder to us that everyone deserves the same protection under law regardless of socio-economic status.

The National Center on Family Homelessness reports that California ranks second worst in the nation in the number of homeless children. It is estimated that 160,000 men, women and children experience homelessness. With so many people living under the homeless label, it is unreasonable to criminalize everyone. Furthermore, how can our legislators justify the prosecution of individuals so down on their luck, circumstances or whatever you want to call it that we simply label them criminals? Granted, there are homeless people who chose to live on the street—and that presents a problem to the rest of the general population. However, that does not mean you become a sub-par human, let alone citizen of this state entitled to equal protection by the law.

Currently criminalization of homelessness comes in the form of laws that make it illegal to sleep, sit or store personal belongings in public spaces, with enforcement against homeless people for violating laws like loitering (which is very selective), jaywalking or open container ordinances. Furthermore, the removal of homeless people under such circumstances often results in the destruction of their personal property such as medications and personal documents. There are also laws against begging and panhandling, which also restrict groups from sharing food with homeless people in public areas. These laws are enacted to push the homeless population away from one's city, but it does not eliminate the problem.

Some of the measures proposed in the Homeless Bill of Rights include the establishment of hygiene centers such as bathrooms and showers, allowing individuals to rest or sleep in certain public spaces; access to counsel during civil prosecutions; and protecting people who offer food in public places. All of these amenities will cost taxpayers money. Yet, it is costing us money now to prosecute people and families for not having a place to live. Not only is it costing us money, but criminal prosecution is not resolving the homeless issue in any way, shape or form—and neither is prosecution mitigating the nuisances that are associated with the homeless population.

AB5 is not the ultimate solution to a never-ending problem. However, it does decriminalize an issue that should have been humanized many years ago. At the end of the day, these are not 160,000 units or numbers or stats represented in a report. These are 160,000 men, women and children finding it more difficult to get back on their feet because of the tendency for localities to prosecute. Giving such people the amenities necessary to improve their personal existence even in the direst of circumstances will have a more positive effect on their attempt to escape out of homelessness. •

Don't Get 'Spoofed' by Rogue Callers

By Jason Alderman

When caller ID first arrived on the scene it seemed like a godsend to many people: Now you could easily identify who was on the line and ignore unwanted calls, whether from telemarketers, an ex-boyfriend or an unfriendly collection agency.

But as often happens, unscrupulous individuals soon began manipulating the technology to defraud people by pretending to be someone else. Their scheme is called "caller ID spoofing" and disturbingly, it's perfectly legal in many cases.

Here's how caller ID spoofing works and what precautions you should take to avoid being victimized:

screen.

Under the pretext of warning about an urgent situation (breached account, late payment, pending insurance claim, missed jury duty summons, etc.), the spoofer will try to coax you into revealing personal or account information, supposedly to verify their records.

Often these are robocalls, where a recorded voice asks you to stay on the line to speak to a representative or call another number for more information. Do not. If you suspect the call might possibly be genuine, contact the company yourself at the toll-free number found on your card, account statement or the company's website.

"You should never reveal your full Social Security number, mother's maiden name, credit card number, passwords or other private information over the phone unless you initiated the call yourself."

For a very low cost, businesses and individuals can use widely available caller ID spoofing software to generate calls that alter the telephone number and/or name which appear on the recipient's caller ID screen.

Police, private investigators and collection agencies have used legal spoofing services for many years. Others who might have a legitimate reason to hide their identity when making a call include domestic violence victims and doctors returning patient calls who don't wish to release their private telephone numbers.

Beyond that, the lines of legality begin to blur. The Truth in Caller ID Act of 2009 prohibits anyone from transmitting misleading or inaccurate caller ID information with the intent to defraud, cause harm or wrongfully obtain anything of value. Violators can be penalized up to $10,000 for each infraction. Unfortunately, such penalties haven't dissuaded many scammers.

One common scam involves spoofers pretending to represent a bank, government agency, insurer, credit card company or other organization with which you do business. They count on you being reassured after recognizing the company's name on your

You should never reveal your full Social Security number, mother's maiden name, credit card number, passwords or other private information over the phone unless you initiated the call yourself. Someone possessing such information could use it to gain access to your existing accounts to withdraw or transfer money, raise credit limits or snoop around your recent activity, among other intrusions.

ID thieves also can use your personal information to open new credit accounts (e.g., credit cards, mortgage or car loan), create a new identity or even obtain a job fraudulently. Often, you won't even realize something's wrong until a collection agency – or the IRS – starts hounding you for unpaid bills or taxes.

Another common caller ID spoof involves hacking into someone's voice mail account. Many cellphone users never bother to set up passwords on their voice mailboxes. And, since many voicemail systems grant access to callers phoning from their own number, a hacker could easily spoof your number and gain access to your messages.

Bottom line: You wouldn't give your personal information to a stranger on the street. Take the same level of precaution with strangers on the phone – or online. •

Names for New Pluto Moons Chosen after Public Vote

By Bob Eklund

Remember our ninth planet, little Pluto, which was kicked out of the Planetary Club not long ago and relegated to "Dwarf Planet" status? It has been found to have no less than five moons, and the two most recently discovered ones—previously known as P4 and P5—have now been given official names.

The International Astronomical Union (IAU), which is responsible for naming new sky discoveries, has officially recognized the names Kerberos and Styx for the fourth and fifth moons of Pluto respectively. These names were suggested by voters in a recently held popular contest.

The new moons were discovered in 2011 and 2012 during observations of the Pluto system made with the NASA/ESA Hubble Space Telescope Wide Field Camera 3, and increasing the number of known Pluto moons to five. Kerberos lies between the orbits of Nix and Hydra, two bigger moons discovered by Hubble in 2005, and Styx lies between Charon, the innermost and biggest moon, and Nix. Both have circular orbits assumed to be in the plane of the other satellites in the system. Kerberos has an estimated diameter of 13 to 34 kilometers, and Styx is thought to be irregular in shape and is 10 to 25 kilometers across.

The IAU acts as the arbiter of the naming process of celestial bodies and is advised and supported by astronomers active in different fields. On discovery, astronomical objects receive unambiguous and official catalogue designations. When common names are assigned, the IAU rules ensure that the names work across different languages and cultures in order to support collaborative worldwide research and avoid confusion.

After the discovery, the leader of the research team, Mark Showalter (SETI Institute), decided to call for a public vote to suggest names for the two objects. To be consistent with the names of the other Pluto satellites, the names had to be picked from classical mythology, in particular with reference to the underworld—the realm where the souls of the deceased were thought to go in the afterlife. The contest concluded with the proposed names Vulcan, Cerberus and Styx ranking first, second and third respectively. Showalter submitted Vulcan and Cerberus to the IAU where the Working Group for Planetary System Nomenclature discussed the names for approval.

However, the name Vulcan had already been used for a hypothetical planet thought to exist between Mercury and the Sun. Although this planet was found not to exist, the term "vulcanoid" remains attached to any asteroid with an orbit inside that of Mercury, and the name Vulcan could not be accepted for one of Pluto's satellites (also, Vulcan does not fit into the underworld mythology scheme). Instead, the third most popular name was chosen—Styx, the name of the goddess who ruled over the underworld river, also called the Styx.

After a final deliberation, the IAU agreed to change Cerberus to Kerberos—the Greek spelling of the word—to avoid confusion with an asteroid called 1865 Cerberus. According to mythology, Cerberus, or Kerberos in Greek, was a many-headed dog that guarded the entrance to the underworld.

operators to machinists, the SBWIB will train and upgrade basic skills needs in potential employees. "We work with a whole range of people—from people who have never worked to people who have been laid off to people who have not worked for a while," Business Services & Economic Development Manager John Parsons said. "We try to help everyone looking for their next job."

In addition to all the hard work, the SBWIB likes to recognize the efforts of everyone making it possible for every One-Stop-Center to succeed during its October 31 annual awards ceremony that will take place at the Ayres Hotel in Hawthorne. "This is where we provide recognition to those businesses that have helped us all year as well," Vogel said. "We also recognize the service providers that have done an excellent job of providing services to our participants. We also select a handful of participants that we have helped over the last couple of years."

Maintaining strong relationships makes all the difference in accomplishing what the SBWIB sets out to do on a daily basis. "You have to build a certain trust with people in order for them to come to you and that takes a lot of time. In certain communities, they know me well and in other communities they know John Parsons well," Vogel said. "If they are dealing with somebody that they know and trust, then the individuals running certain organizations will work with us. So we try to get involved in many functions."

Vogel added, "When people are depending on you for their livelihood, then we try to make ourselves as available as we can. The people that we hire for the most part think the same way and that is what I look for in somebody. They need to care and have good character. It is hard to test from something like that, but it is important. We need people with the right frame of mind and who want to do the right thing." •

A great lady passed away last week. She was the heart and soul of farmer's markets at Wilson Park and other venues. She set the standards that many, if not all farmers' markets should operate by.

Her name was Mary Lou Wiess. She taught me so much about the market and the season's bounty, and was a fixture in the community.

I remember taking my monthly cooking classes at the Saturday Market and we would shop for all kinds of goodies. Mary Lou and I would then come back to the Depot and create some great fresh flavors of the season.

On July 27, the next class is planned to go to the market. It will not be the same without Mary Lou telling me that my students are looking for me. Then she would snicker and tell my students that I'm running late! This week's recipe is dedicated to Mary Lou, who was in charge of the largest farmers market and ran it better than anyone else.

and how to bang them
by Chef Shafer

Mixed Mushroom, Spring Onion and Chardonnay Cream Sauce

- 1/2 cup sliced spring onions or an onion of your choosing
- 2 pounds of mixed mushrooms, sliced
(I use Portobellos, Crimini, Shiitake, and regular white mushrooms)
- 1/4 cup olive oil
- 1/2 cup chardonnay wine
- 1 cup heavy cream
- 2 tablespoons unsalted butter
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 4 fresh basil leaves, coarsely cut up

In a hot large sauté pan, pour olive oil then add the onions. Sauté for about one minute or until onions are translucent.

Add the mushrooms and sauté for another minute or so.

When the mushrooms are soft, add the chardonnay and let it reduce down by half.

Pour in the cream and let the mixture cook for one minute. Continue to stir as it will prevent it from burning or sticking.

Season with salt and pepper, then slowly add the butter while stirring to incorporate butter into the mix. Just before you serve the mix, sprinkle some basil and use the extras to garnish the dish.

How To Use This:

Use as a sauce for fish, shellfish, pasta, chicken, pork, omelets, and baguettes as shown in the photo. Bon appetit! •

All Stars Making Their Pitch for Greatness

By Gregg McMullin

It's all star baseball time. With Major League Baseball's 83rd annual game set for Tuesday, our local teams have been in action for the past week or so. With home field advantage in the World Series at stake for the pros, our teams are vying for a chance to play in a world

Ethan Burner crosses the bag on a double play to end the game as Manhattan Beach's Jarrod Harris prepares to slide.

Last summer, the El Segundo Babe Ruth 15-year-old all stars won the Pacific Southwest Region and advanced to the World Series held in Van Buren, Arkansas and placed third. The 13-year-old team advanced to the finals of the Pacific Southwest Regional held at Surprise, Arizona. Last year's 12-year-old Little League team advanced to the North Sub-Division tournament for the third consecutive year.

The 15s played host to the District 2 tournament that included South Torrance, Torrance and Westchester. The Westchester team, comprised mostly of the 14-year-old all stars who advanced to the World Series last summer, was the favorite to advance to the state tournament hosted by Torrance Babe Ruth starting Friday.

El Segundo found out first-hand why Westchester was a favorite when the former fell 7-1 in the first round of the tournament. El Segundo's only score came in the fourth inning when it trailed 3-0. Nick Saucedo singled and later scored on Dylan McDonnell's double.

El Segundo faced South Torrance in an elimination game and came away with an easy 7-3 win. Saucedo started for El Segundo and went six strong innings before tiring and being replaced by McDonnell in the seventh. Saucedo gave up three runs (two earned) on three hits and struck out seven. McDonnell came in to throw a perfect seventh.

El Segundo took an early 1-0 lead in the first inning when Griffen Martes was hit by a pitch and scored on a sacrifice fly by Saucedo. After trailing 2-1 in the third, Brandon Craig hit a sacrifice fly to score Ben Martinez and tie the game.

With South Torrance leading 3-2 in the fifth, Martes singled and Ryan Graner doubled.

Martinez had an RBI single scoring Martes, but Graner was out at the plate when he also attempted to score.

In the sixth inning, Sam O'Connor's single would be the only hit in a three-run inning. Martinez had a sacrifice fly ball for an RBI and Craig and McDonnell drew RBI walks to give their team a 7-3 lead.

El Segundo faced Torrance in another elimination game and came away with a 4-3 win in nine innings to advance to the District 2 finals held Tuesday. El Segundo needed to defeat Westchester twice to advance to the state tournament in Torrance starting Friday.

El Segundo took a 3-0 lead in the third inning when Martes singled and Martinez walked. Saucedo reached on an error and McDonnell hammered a two-run double. Saucedo would later score from third base on a balk.

Cameron Dornblaser slides safely into second base.

McDonnell, who was cruising along, gave up his first hit in the fourth inning. Torrance would go on to score two runs on three hits to cut El Segundo's lead to 3-2. Then Torrance took advantage of an error in the fifth inning to score an unearned run to tie the game.

Torrance had an opportunity to win it in the eighth inning. With one out and the winning run on third base, Shane Keil, pitching in relief of McDonnell, induced a popup and got a strikeout to end the inning.

In the ninth inning, Frankie Martinez reached on a two-base error in the outfield. Martes sacrificed him to third base and Saucedo hit a towering fly ball deep enough to score Martinez from third base. Torrance threatened to win it in the bottom half of the ninth, but Keil got a strikeout to end the game with runners on second and third.

Fourteen-Year-Old All Stars

The El Segundo Babe Ruth 14 and under all stars began the District Tournament in Torrance losing to the host team Torrance 8-7. El Segundo scored two runs in the bottom of the fifth to cut the deficit to 3-2. Torrance responded by scoring five runs in the top of the sixth to take an 8-2 lead. El Segundo responded with five runs in the bottom of the sixth. El Segundo managed to get two runners on in the bottom of the seventh, but couldn't get the decisive hit.

Wyatt Boyce led El Segundo with two hits and three RBIs. Kobe Estrada pitched three innings of relief before tiring in the sixth. Joe Kelly got the final five outs.

El Segundo bounced back with a 14-3 victory over South Torrance to advance to the losers' bracket final on Monday, July 8. Charles Phelps pitched four innings to earn the victory. Dane Carlson led El Segundo with three hits while Cameron Judge, Wyatt Boyce, Jackson Stone and C.J. Shevlin each had two hits. Jason Kehl, Stone, Shevlin, Carlson and Phelps had two RBIs apiece.

Thirteen-Year-Old All Stars

The El Segundo 13-year-olds lost a 5-1 lead and ended up falling to Westchester 12-8. A number of errors and walks contributed to 11 unearned runs given up by El Segundo. Spencer Long had two home runs while Chris Pena and Joey Acosta each had one home run to pace El Segundo.

El Segundo faced Torrance in an elimination game, with the winner taking on Westchester this past Tuesday.

Little League All Stars

In the District 36 championship game, the 11-12-year-old all stars faced Manhattan Beach and came away with a 9-7 win to advance to the Section 4 playoffs. The Sectional tournament will be held at Torrance Little League starting on Saturday and El Segundo plays at 1:15 p.m. Torrance Little League is located at 1740 Plaza Del Amo Boulevard in Torrance.

El Segundo took a 4-0 lead after the first inning, but Manhattan Beach responded with two runs of its own. In the second inning, El Segundo's Justin Mostert banged a ball by the first baseman for a two-run error and a 6-2 lead. Once again Manhattan Beach responded, with two more runs off El Segundo ace Mathew Farrow to cut the lead to 6-4.

In the third inning, Manhattan Beach knocked Farrow out of the game when it scored two runs on two hits and a walk. With the bases loaded Jack Finders, in relief of Farrow, struck out Colin Livingston to end the threat. In the fifth inning, Ethan Burner singled and came around to third base on a sacrifice bunt. Shane Salzman had an RBI single, scoring Burner. Shane Frontino was hit by a pitch and Finders drilled a single to right field. Salzman attempted to score, but was thrown out at the plate. Farrow then clobbered a two-run single to make it 9-6.

In the bottom of the sixth, Manhattan Beach's Dylan Dennis singled and Livingston doubled. Casey Ozawa's RBI single made it 9-7. With one out and runners on the corners, Finders induced a double play ground ball to end the game. It marked the fifth consecutive District 36 title for El Segundo.

The 11-year-old and the 9-10-year-old all stars each won one game in their quest for a District 36 banner, but were eliminated in the third round. The 11s lost to Redondo, while Manhattan Beach defeated our 9-10s. •

PETSPETS Pets PETSPETS

Pets Without Partners

Adopt a “pet without a partner” and give a homeless pet a second chance in life

Little Dove is sporting her summer cut just in time for the heat wave. Her hair will grow out in no time. Dove is very playful and has good manners with other small- to medium-sized dogs and friendly cats. She is about eight months old and currently weighs six pounds. Dove has a prancing step and some wonder if she used to be a show dog. She is crate-trained and housebroken in her foster home, loves to sit on your lap and enjoys a good car ride. Dove is very fun to watch. Collecting toys seems to be a favorite pastime--after she shakes them and places them in a pile for a future time! She lets you know if there is anything out of place or strangers coming onto your property, and then quiets right down after being asked. Little Dove is spayed, current on vaccinations, de-wormed, microchipped, great with other dogs, and housebroken.

Karma was found as a stray near death in a box at a church. In her photo, here she is six days later, up and playing with the kitten toys. She was treated for demodex mange

Karma

(not contagious) and her coat is coming back in beautifully. She is about 10 weeks old and currently weighs 3.5 pounds. Karma is soooo very sweet and loving--she knows she has been rescued. Please help to give her another chance in life. Karma will be spayed, is current on vaccinations, de-wormed, microchipped, loves everyone she meets, is great with other dogs, and cat-safe.

To learn more about these and other wonderful dogs, visit our website at www.animalsrule.org.

If a dog is on our website, it's available. Or come to our Saturday adoption events from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. at 305 North Harbor Boulevard in San Pedro (just off the 110 near the cruise port). We are always in need of donations for veterinarian bills and our senior dogs. Donations can be made through our website or by sending a check payable to: Animals Rule Placement Foundation at 305 North Harbor Blvd., San Pedro, CA 90731. All donations are tax-deductible. play and will spend hours batting around her toys--especially anything on a wand or string.

Iridessa

Iridessa (aka Dessie) was rescued with her sister Lyra when she was only six weeks old. Poor little angel was absolutely terrified and refused to eat unless you fed her off your finger and while on your lap. Since then, she has grown into a positively stunning little girl who still adores cuddling and being held. Dessie is a sweet little angel and is fairly mellow considering she is still just a baby. Dessie loves to snuggle on the bed next to you, is a huge fan of kitty beds and will fall asleep anywhere that's soft, plushy and snuggly. She has very good manners and will definitely be a sweet beta girl when she grows up. Because of her young age and energy, Iridessa cannot be an Lyra loves to play with all her foster buddies and gets along wonderfully with new kitties. Due to her age and energy, Lyra cannot be an only kitty. She would love to go a home with any other young kitty or with her sister Iridessa.

These kittens/cats are available for adoption through Kitten Rescue, one of the largest cat rescue groups in Southern California. All of our kitties are spayed/neutered, microchipped, tested for FeLV and FIV, de-wormed and current on their vaccinations. With her huge eyes and flowing coat, Lyra is very elegant and her fur is pure silk to the touch. Lyra has a very expressive face with her funny patch of orange fur set right between her big, circular, grey eyes. Although she is very confident and outgoing, this sweet little girl loves to cuddle.
