City Council Designates Funds for Capital Improvements, Adds $1 Million to Police Budget

By Liz Spear

The city's first-ever Juneteenth Celebration Day, the city's water tower once again lit in rainbow colors in honor of LGBTQ+ Pride Month; three upcoming tours of Blue Butterfly habitat and hopefully some blue butterflies in July; a resident who is volunteering time and money to produce fun events and host an ESHS math teacher who runs a "Math Lab" at her house asking for fee waivers were all part of city proclamation presentations and the Public Comment portion of the City Council's meeting Tuesday night. Two residents also brought up three additional subjects: super loud conditions during a senior class at the Aquatics Center and subsequent safety issues arising from the excessive noise, pedestrian safety at Oak Avenue and Main Street near the high school, and posited that bike lanes on El Segundo Boulevard could slow down traffic whose speeds have increased since the widening of the traffic lanes after the stripes for a pilot parking project on the roadway were removed, and the boulevard repaved and re-stripped.

City Council also heard or addressed agenda items that included an update on the City of Los Angeles' Hyperion Water Reclamation Plant, which is still recovering from an emergency in July 2021 that has impacted El Segundo residents and their health. Approval of a new full-time position, Aquatics Manager, to help move the city forward as it gets ready to complete a major Capital Improvement Project to update and upgrade Urho Saari Swim Stadium, aka "The Plunge," while also currently operating two pools, including the Olympic-sized pool that is part of the Aquatics Center, with hopes of increasing sponsorships, notoriety, and position it for major use by sports organizations, including the 2028 Olympics, which will be held in Los Angeles.

And after reviewing and participating in budget sessions for the 2023-2024 city budget, some sessions held as recently as April and May, city council, which was a threesome by this point due to Mayor Drew Boyles' absence and council member Lance Giroux' virtual departure after the Aquatics Manager discussion and vote (he was working in New York), Mayor Pro Tem Chris Pimentel and council members Carol Pirsztuk and Ryan Baldino approved the budget, which includes $18-$19 million transferred into the Capital Improvement Projects fund to cover some "19 brick and mortar projects," including the updating and renovation of Recreation Park and The Plunge, among many other long-delayed projects. The city, which achieved an AA+ Bond Rating in 2021, is working to secure a Triple A rating by July 2024. At one time, the city allocated 12 percent in reserves. They now have 25 percent in reserves.

Pimentel brought up the issue of refunding/reimbursing residents for overpayments of wastewater bills made to the city and wanted to know how the city handled the overpayments. He called the $900,000 "improperly collected." The city was overcharged and hence overcharged its residents. "We are still holding people's money hostage. That is not our money." Public Works Director Elias Sassoon said the city had received a credit. Pimentel said the people who paid the city had not received their money back. Sassoon noted that he thought former Chief Financial Officer Joe Lillio, during the 2023-2024 budget process, which he stayed on with the city to help with before departing for a new job, "was recommending at that time" to keep the money in the reserves "for a rainy day." Said Pimentel, "That may have been Joe's plan, but I don't think that's defensible. I'm sure there's a magic computer that can figure this out."

Deputy City Treasurer II Dino Marsocci then said they think they reduced the revenues in that fund (saying he would check and confirm the next day and let the city manager know)

El Segundo Little League Season a Success

Story and Photos by Gregg McMullin

The El Segundo Little League's season ended when three championship games decided the Major, Triple-A, and Double-A level champions. What started on a rain-soaked February Saturday morning, with an abbreviated parade to start the league's 69th season, ended on a sun-drenched June Saturday afternoon. In between was a rescheduling nightmare due to the rainouts that pushed what was typically Championship Saturday into the Majors playing their championship game on a different day.

Typically, all three levels play their championship games on the same day culminating with Closing Ceremonies and a Homerun Hitting contest. Due to the rescheduled games and conflicts, the Majors played their championship game three days before the other two levels played theirs, which ended with the Closing Ceremonies. And, if you were fortunate enough to attend any of the championship games, you were in for a treat. All three games were decided in the last inning, and all were one-run games.

Braves Walk it off in Majors Thriller

In front of a large crowd, the Braves and Cardinals played an exciting game that was in doubt until the bottom of the sixth inning. That's when the Braves' Griffin Goshi, hit a ground ball through the infield, scoring Ethan Mooney from third base to give the Braves a 3-2 win for the championship.

The Braves finished behind the Mets for second place during the regular season, while the Cardinals were third. The Cardinals worked their way through the loser's bracket to reach the championship game. After falling to the Braves in the first round, they turned it around, defeating the Royals, White Sox and Mets. The Braves, who gave up the least runs during the regular season by a large margin, were undefeated on their way to the finals. After defeating the Cardinals, they held the Mets, one of the league's most explosive offenses, to one run in their 4-1 win to reach the final.

The Cardinals struck first for two first-inning runs. Logan Meyer singled to lead off the game, followed by a single by Colby Lee. Meyer would come around and score on a passed ball, and Lee scored on long fly ball by Johnny Amaral to give the Cardinals a 2-0 lead. The Braves countered with two runs in their half of the first inning. Declan McRoberts singled and would later score on a wild pitch. Crew O'Connor, who drew a base on balls, scored on an RBI single by Griffin Goshi to tie the game at 2-2.

The game became a strategic managerial game filled with great plays and pitching moves that involved six pitchers, including arguably two of the best, finishing the game. Each team had runners in scoring positions but couldn't push the base runner across. The Cardinal's Jude Hansen singled in the fifth inning but was left stranded at third base. In the fourth inning, Goshi singled and went to third base on a ball hit by Jack Richmond that was misplayed. But the Cardinals got out of the inning on a double play when Charlie Espinosa caught a line drive and forced Richmond when he was off second base.

Communication, Humor and Dementia

We all know the frustration of not understanding someone or feeling misunderstood. Miscommunication can be one of the greatest divides of all time, and disease, aging, and cognitive decline make this even more pronounced and difficult, especially when dementia is involved.

Communication often includes references to past events, to current news, nuances, sarcasm, or sense of humor, all of which are compromised by the disease. There are sparks of clarity and brightness in the day, and there can also be darkness, quietness, and withdrawal; and as I always remind my clients and readers, this is part of the disease, and no one's fault.

How to improve communication with someone with dementia:

The routine and normal cycle of a day has times of highs and lows. When seeking to communicate with your loved one, try and use the "high time" of the day. Often, this may be mid-morning after a snack but not a lunch. And yet, gauge for a response: Be aware of uneasiness, if they are tired, distracted, or simply don't want to talk or interact as your communication will not be successful.

The space is also of relevance. Often, TV is on for "white noise," but this is also a distraction and can be over stimulating.

Author Spotlight: Toshikazu Kawaguchi

By Kristina Kora-Beckman, Senior Librarian, El Segundo Public Library

This week, I'm reviewing one of my favorite Japanese authors, Toshikazu Kawaguchi and his series, Before the Coffee Gets Cold, about a mystical Tokyo café that lets customers travel back in time. Seems too good to be true right?! The catch is a number of conditions including nothing they do in the past will change the present, which deters many from Kawaguchi's other titles Tales from the Café and Before Your Memory Fades. Throughout the stories, the reasons customers chose to go back in time vary, including loss, grief, regret and love. If customers stay too long, they risk becoming a ghost that is stuck in time, forever waiting for loved ones that never arrive.

Like many Japanese stories, these tales are often bittersweet, filled with emotions and hardships that all humans struggle with.

Before the Coffee Gets Cold by Toshikazu Kawaguchi. taking the trip.

The story alternates between the lives of the customers looking to time travel and the café workers and regulars that observe and interact with potential travelers. Characters lives often intersect in interesting ways that continue into

Before Your Memory Fades by Toshikazu Kawaguchi.

Tales from the Café by Toshikazu Kawaguchi.

Honor, duty and love in many forms also weave throughout, tugging at the heartstrings of readers. Sometimes things work out, sometimes they don't, that's life. But the journey is a beautiful experience to behold.

Kawaguchi's titles are available in a variety of formats including eBook and eAudiobook, which you can download for free with your El Segundo Public Library card on the Libby App. •

Film Review

Sundance Darling, The Cow Who Sang a Song Into the Future, is Ripe Eco-Conscious Folklore

By Morgan Rojas for Cinemacy

An eco-conscious folklore bathed in surrealism, The Cow Who Sang a Song Into the Future is an ambitious exploration of relationships with things beyond the material world. Director Francisca Alegria crafts a story rich in imagery and topical urgency in this bold feature debut.

Magdalena herself in the woods. Magdalena is quiet-silent throughout the entirety of the film, in fact—but conveys her message through her expression. Cecilia can't deny her mother's presence but one big question remains: why is Magdalena here?

The Cow Who Sang A Song Into The Future is, at its core, a simple story about life and death, both literally and figuratively. The resurrection of Magdalena is like Mother Nature in human form who descends from the ethereal world to draw attention to the local factory that is killing fish and contaminating the water, putting all humans and animals at risk. In addition to the vivid imagery and heartfelt performances, one of the standout characteristics of the film is the use of music; specifically, the lyrics that accompany the haunting melody. The bass drum beats like a heartbeat as a choir of voices sings about returning to Earth after death. It's equal parts haunting and beautiful and expertly fills in the gaps between scenes.

Unlike some environmental films that aim to shock or scare viewers into action, The Cow Who Sang A Song Into The Future acts as a gentle reminder that if we continue to live selfishly, our planet, environment, and our lives will feel the repercussions. Most importantly, though, it's not too late to reverse some of the damage that's already been done. •

The Cow Who Sang a Song Into the Future, courtesy Kino Lorber

The film takes place in southern Chile, in an area overrun by pollution and water contamination. Thousands of fish have turned up dead in the river, so it's shocking to see a woman emerge from the deadly waters. As she makes her way from the river and into the small town, she catches the eye of an older man. When he spots her, he immediately gets overcome with emotion. He believes this is Magdalena (Mia Maestro), his deceased wife who killed herself in a mysterious suicide decades ago.

This revelation frightens the man's middle aged daughter, Cecilia (Leonor Varela), who returns to her hometown to be by her dad's side while he recovers from his shock. Could this really be her resurrected mother, back from the dead? Cecilia doesn't believe this theory until she comes face to face with

If there is a TV or music or others in the background, always ensure you are sitting close to the person you are speaking to. This helps create better focus and also alleviates the difficulties of speaking to someone that may be hard of hearing. Try to find a comfortable chair for yourself so that you may show yourself as relaxed in your body language and don't project tension. Be sure to speak slowly enough to let them process what you are saying and give them enough time to form their own thoughts and respond.

What if you sense tension during communication?

Never take this personally. There are many factors involved in cognitive decline and chances are that you may have limited control. This said, invite your loved one to lead the conversation if they are able. As you are mindful of their mood and nonverbal communication, ask if there is anything he or she wants to talk about and never shut out sad feelings or thoughts. This conversation may be simple but still beneficial and you should feel free to ask simple questions, one at a time. Avoid asking "Remember when...?" If you still feel limited by conversation, consider having a magazine in your hands with pictures that may motivate conversation, such as "look at this: I like the colors of this picture, do you?"

Humor and dementia

Humor, sarcasm, irony, and other forms of communication that may fill our normal days may be difficult to follow for someone with cognitive decline. Worse yet, it may give them the feeling that you are laughing at them or frustrated by their challenges—make sure to minimize these. But no one should go a day without laughing... think of it as exercise for yourself and your loved one. Set aside 10-15 minutes a day and do something that will not only amuse your loved one, but you as well. You may motivate conversations about a funny event. As a tip, consider browsing through an album of funny family photos or playing some of their favorite music or videos of their favorite comedians from years ago. Studies have shown that the quickness and visual energy of slapstick comedy may often be more entertaining for people with dementia. It is fast-paced, and yet requires little context. Consider shows like I love Lucy, Three's Company, The Carol Burnett or Dick Van Dyke Shows. For homegrown comedy, you may sing a song, perform a dance, or put on a silly hat. If these things aren't working, don't take it personally — just move on to something else.

Reconsidering Expectations

It is true that it can be difficult to communicate with someone in cognitive decline. But communication can also be limited to short or simple interactions. A few smiles can make for a great afternoon. •

Purrrfect Companions

Kitten Rescue rescues cats and kittens from a variety of situations. Most are fostered in our volunteers' homes until we can find permanent homes for them. Young or old, tabby or calico, we care for orphaned and abandoned kittens that need to be

Lisa bottle-fed around the clock, moms with litters, cats that need socialization, and sick or injured animals. When they are finally ready for their forever home, we will help match you with the purr-fect one. When you adopt, you save a life... and in turn enrich your own.

Lisa, also known as Lisa Lovebug, is one of the kittens from the "Simpsons" litter. She will likely sit right in your lap upon meeting you and start grooming your hand immedi-

Bart ately. Lisa shows her love each morning by waking you up with some licks and letting you know she is ready to eat! Lisa loves to cuddle on your lap or with her siblings, and play. Since this litter is still so young and have grown up together, they each need the companionship of another kitten to help their development. Lisa gets along with all her siblings and would like to be adopted with any one of the other Simpsons bunch: Homer, Bart, Marge or Maggie.

Bart, known to his fans as Bartholamew or Bartimus the third, makes such cute little sounds that you might think he is a squeaky toy. Often mistaken for a teddy bear, Bart loves to cuddle and constantly be in your lap. If he had it his way, he would be carried around like a baby the whole day. Upon being picked up, he transforms into a rag doll and calmly flops around happily in your arms.

Sunkist is a curious, sweet boy who loves the simple things in life – food and affection. He is a little ray of sunshine and anyone who adopts him is going to be very lucky to have him in their lives. He has all the ingredients for the perfect kitty companion...loving, affectionate, and easy going. Not to mention he is just so darn handsome! Sunkist would be okay adopted into a single cat household or into a home with another friendly cat. Please come meet this friendly, adorable kitty and see for yourself what a great guy he is.

These cats and kittens are available for adoption through Kitten Rescue, one of the largest cat rescue groups in Southern California. All our kitties are spayed/neutered, microchipped, tested for FeLV and FIV, dewormed and current on their vaccinations. For additional information and to see these Sunkist or our other kittens and cats, please check our website www.kittenrescue.org.

Sports

The game came down to the last inning, tied at 2-2. The Cardinals had a runner on first with no outs. Braves pitcher Declan McRoberts induced a ground ball double play and then got Colby Lee to fly out to end the inning. In the bottom half of the sixth inning, Ethan Mooney led off the inning with a single, and McRoberts singled up the middle. Hot-hitting Crew O'Connor was walked to load the bases. Griffin Goshi turned on a fastball and sent the pitch up the middle for a game-winning walk-off RBI single, giving the Braves their championship.

Afterward a beaming Goshi said it was a team win and that "It took the whole team to concentrate and become a team." He added he was "Looking for a fastball, and I turned on it."

Jax Sutherland Leads Triple-A Giants to Nail-bitter Championship Win

In keeping with the championship game atmosphere, the Triple-A championship game came down to the last inning in another exciting contest. The Giants had a big first inning and then held on for a 9-8 win over the Padres.

In the bottom of the first inning, the Giants benefitted from five walks to score five runs, highlighted by a two-run single by Jax Sutherland. The Padres got a run back in the second inning when Hunter Zajicek singled and scored on a passed ball to make it 5-1. In the bottom of the second inning, Andre Quinn walked, and Miller Ferier's RBI single, coupled with Sutherland's two-run single extended the Giant's lead to 9-1.

Samuel Everett strokes a two-run single to put the Braves in front 9-8 in the Double-A championship game.

Sutherland, who started for the Giants on the mound, threw three innings and gave up one run on one hit, and struck out four, including three in a row in the second inning. Once Sutherland left the game, the bats came alive for the Padres. Trailing 9-2 in the fifth inning, they scored five runs. It started with Santiago Reyes singled to left field, Gavin Edwards drawing a base on balls, and Oliver Salcedo getting hit with a pitch to load the bases. Asher Aguilar-Abdelshipe's two-run double cut into their deficit. Caden Krumbach smacked a two-run double making it 9-7. In the sixth inning, the Padres made it a nail-bitter when Hunter Zajicek hard hit ball was misplayed, and he ended up scoring later on a ground ball by Kaden Perez to make it 9-8. With two outs, Levi Robinson turned on a fast ball and drilled it on a line drive up the middle, only to have it snared and caught by pitcher Wyatt Becker for the game-ending final out.

Braves Get Hit for Double-A Championship

The Double-A championship game had it all, including good pitching, great defense, and a grand slam. In front of nearly 300 fans, the Dodgers and Braves battled each other, but in the end, the Braves overcame an early five-run deficit to win it 11-10 on a walk-off hit by the pitcher batter.

The Dodgers loaded the bases in the first inning when Colin Currier turned on a fast-ball and drove it over the head of Braves left fielder Samuel Everett. Scoring on the play was Sebastian Campos, Dax Olson, Benson Chi and Currier. Kelly Crouch would end the scoring in the first inning and the Dodgers led 5-0. The Dodgers added to their lead in the second inning when Grant Dorman singled, Xander Perkins walked, and both scored on Benson Chi's two-run single and a 7-0 lead.

The Braves mounted their comeback with a five-run second inning. Ketch McAndrews doubled to start the inning, followed by a walk to Kellen Grossman, Grady Goshi who was hit by a pitch to load the bases. Dylan Anderson had a run-scoring single, and Veer Kidambi's RBI single made to 7-2. Connor Stewart then hit a bases-clearing double to cut their deficit to 7-5.

In the fourth inning, with the Braves trailing 8-5, they put together a five-run inning highlighted by a two-run single by Samuel Everett and an RBI single by Ketch McAndrews to take a 10-8 lead.

In the fifth and final inning, the Dodgers tied the game when Colin Currier and Camden Ennis had back-to-back singles. Jack Evans had a scoring ground ball that scored Currier, and James Sisk's RBI single scored Ennis to tie the game at 10-10. In the bottom of the fifth, the Braves loaded the bases when Kellen Grossman singled, Grady Goshi walked, and Dylan Anderson singled. When Dillon Yarbrough was hit by a pitch it scored Grossman giving the Braves the 11-10 win igniting a celebration among the Braves.

Closing Ceremonies End with a Ring

The Closing Ceremonies included the ring ceremony that presented rings to the first place and runners-up players of each team. The presentation of the Nate Hobgood-Chittick "Phenomenal Coach Award" was presented to long-time coach, Craig Brooks. The Bill Klug Memorial Scholarship Award was presented to Cooper Gamble and Dylan Immel for their continued support of El Segundo Little League.

The three all-star teams were announced, as well as the 12-year-olds who are aging out of the league. There was a homerun hitting contest that pitted any player who had hit a homerun during the season to participate. In the first round, Daniel Bass, Connor Patt, Lennon Salazar, Crew O'Connor, Oliver Parks, and Louis Lappe all hit home runs but only Patt, Salazar, O'Connor, and Lappe advanced. It was whittled down to the top two, Salazar and Lappe. In the final round, Lappe hit 21 home runs and won the title.

It was a fitting conclusion to another successful season for the El Segundo Little League.

Names in the News

The CIF Southern Section handed out awards for this past volleyball season. The Eagles, who finished the year by winning the CIF-SS Division 3 and the CIF Southern California Division 2 titles were well represented on the All-CIF teams. Nolan Kelly was named Player of the Year, while teammates Connor Logan, Dylan Pilkvist, and Ryan Pilkvist were named to the All-CIF Southern Section Division 3 team.

“on the anticipation of one possibility being reducing the increase that’s due to come up in January. I believe it’s (the increase) 9.5 percent. And one thing we’ve possibly talked about was reducing that increase in order to offset that excess charge.” Baldino and Marsocci called it a subsidy. Said Pimentel, “As long as we have a strategy and are accounting for it here. I mean, it wasn’t our fault. They took it from us, and we took it from them.”

At the end of the report, which lasted about 50 minutes, and after the public hearing was closed, Baldino said the report had been presented in a “very clear and cogent fashion. Any opportunity we have to educate the folks in town on where their tax dollars are going is time well spent.” Pirsztuk said, “I’m just really excited that we do have the funds for the capital improvement... It’s been a push for us to really put every additional revenue we get into the Capital improvement reserve, so I’m just really excited to see that we’re moving forward. I just hope that my message to the city manager, as well as Elias Sassoon, has been, ‘Let’s push forward. We’ll find the money.’ And I just want to continue that message.” She added, “Let’s get some of these capital improvements that have been stacking up for quite a while done.”

Pimentel noted that the budget and the ongoing work to upgrade the city’s bond rating have been taking place during the possibility of an upcoming recession and that the recent unusual natural gas price increase gave the city an unexpected $6 million to put into the CIP fund, which is “prudent” and enables the city to “build for the future.” He also noted that the $1 million budget increase for the city’s police department for 2023-2024 is for “one-time costs,” saying, “I also think this (the budget) does a reasonably good job of capturing some things we didn’t foresee. The public safety sort of issue that we have with this sort of trenchant crime wave of property crime that we’re trying to address with an increased police force and recruitment bonuses. Those are one-time costs that we could not have foreseen two years ago.” He cautioned that the city is still negotiating with personnel “bargaining units” and “$1.5 million in raises is going for two significantly large bargaining units is going to be tough.”

Information on the progress of the South Bay Cities Council of Governments Local Travel Network (LTN) Wayfinding and Signage “Pilot” Project was given by SBCOG Senior Project Manager David Leger, who presented maps of the roadways the LTN would use in El Segundo as well as the dotted lines that indicated pending roadways that provide access to Manhattan Beach and Hawthorne. The LTN would cost an estimated $25,000 in El Segundo through the use of Measure M “local return funds” that the city could reimburse with Measure M grant funds once the funds were received. LTN is being rolled out in the Beach Cities, which adds Manhattan Beach, Hermosa Beach and Redondo Beach. It is a micro-mobility program with a 243-mile route network using predominantly streets with 25 miles per hour speed limits (a few 35 mph roads will be used), aka “slow streets,” to reduce congestion on major streets, improve air quality, and reduce greenhouse gas emissions while supporting public transit services and easier connections, a low-cost infrastructure investment without long implementation lead times, and supporting Level 1 charging, which means electric transit owners can plug into a standard 120-volt AC outlet with no equipment installation required, unlike the charging needed for a Tesla, as an example. LTN is designed to produce zero emissions and for the public to use its own personally owned e-transportation equipment, including escooters, ebikes, bikes, and golf carts, among other appropriate transportation vehicles. The City Council received and filed the presentation.

Near the end of the meeting, as city staff and council members were allowed to briefly provide updates and information, Baldino told the public to attend the Thursday, June 8 Downtown Specific Plan Update - Planning Commission Study Session from 5:30-7 p.m. at City Council Chambers, 350 Main Street, if they were curious or had input on the draft, which includes new regulations regarding future land uses, private property development, streetscape beautification, improved mobility, outdoor dining and more. •

GUNDOGRAM

SUBMIT YOUR YUM DISH!!

Spanish Beef

Provided by Campbells Soup Corp.

Add some Spanish flair to dinner time with this quick cooking dish full of seasoned strips of beef simmered with sautéed vegetables in a savory beef stock. The meat is incredibly tender and flavorful, and it's on the table in just 35 minutes.

Ingredients

- 1 tablespoon chili powder
- 1 teaspoon ground cumin
- 1 teaspoon kosher salt
- 1/8 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
- 1 boneless beef sirloin steak (about 1 pound), cut into thin strips
- 1 tablespoon olive oil
- 1 large onion, cut in half and sliced (about 1 cup)
- 1 medium red bell pepper, cut into 2-inch-long strips (about 1 cup)
- 1 can (14.5 ounces) diced tomatoes, drained
- 1 tablespoon all-purpose flour
- 1 cup Swanson® Beef Stock
- 2 tablespoons chopped fresh cilantro

Send us a photo and recipe of your favorite dish.

We'd love to share it with the community. Send to: web@heraldpublications.com

Directions

- Step 1: Stir the chili powder, cumin, salt and black pepper in a large bowl. Add the beef and toss to coat.
- Step 2: Heat the oil in a 12-inch skillet over high heat. Add the beef and cook for 6 minutes or until well browned and cooked through. Remove the beef from the skillet, cover and keep warm.
- Step 3: Add the onion and pepper to the skillet. Cook for 3 minutes or until the vegetables are tender-crisp. Add the tomatoes and flour and cook and stir for 1 minute.
- Step 4: Add the stock and cook for 1 minute or until the mixture boils and thickens, stirring to scrape up the browned bits from the bottom of the skillet. Return the beef to the skillet. Stir in the cilantro.

Tip

- Serve the beef mixture over hot cooked rice.
