El Segundo Public Works Director Elias Sassoon Keeps the Water Flowing

By Duane Plank

Elias Sassoon has dedicated himself to public service for more than forty years. His experiences and successes along the way are why the City of El Segundo administrators selected Sassoon in the summer of 2020 to take over as Public Works Director. He has attacked his new post with the same fervor that marked his tenure of more than four decades, expertly filling similar positions in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, and most recently, as the Public Works Department Director in Rancho Palos Verdes. Sassoon, who hails from Iran, once known as Persia (he prefers Persia), left his home country when he was 17 to traverse to America. After a pit-stop at JFK Airport in New York City, he soon jetted to the North Texas environs, where he settled in and attended college, scoring multiple degrees from the University of Texas at Arlington, culminating with a master's degree in Public Administration.

He nabbed a job as a project manager for the City of Fort Worth in 1980, where one of his duties was to make sure people efficiently and expediently got from point A to point B, working closely with the Transportation and Public Works Director.

Sassoon later would draw his paycheck from the City of Dallas, where he spent some 25 years and oversaw the construction of one of Dallas's municipal jewels.

Sassoon said that his work spearheading the construction of and overseeing all the facets of Dallas' American Airlines Center, a nearly ½ billion-dollar project that was christened twenty years ago and is the home base for the NBA's Maverick's as well as the NHL Stars, is a piece of work that he is truly proud of. "A fantastic project," he said. While El Segundo does not have the available turf to house a construction project on the scale of the American Airlines Center, Sassoon has been keeping himself busy, since August of 2020, tirelessly working on what some would say are mundane endeavors, like making sure the water flows when you turn on your faucet at home, or diving into sprucing-up the long-neglected El Segundo downtown flower poles. More about the poles later.

Said Sassoon, speaking about something we all take for granted: "You really don't think about water through the faucet until you turn on the faucet, and there is no water." Sassoon greets each challenge and task that he and his department face with a positive outlook, saying he considers himself a "servant to the people. I have always tried to put a smile on

LAX CEO Justin Erbacci Discusses Airport Plans Ahead of the 2028 Olympics

By Kiersten Vannest

Tired of LAX traffic congestion? CEO of Los Angeles World Airports (LAWA) Justin Erbacci shares plans for a streamlined LAX ahead of the 2028 Olympics, as well as his experience managing an airport during a global pandemic.

Erbacci's days are long and filled with everything from Covid related upkeep to ground communication with flights to construction projects underway and in development.

"[The day] starts early and goes long," he laughs, trying to explain his day-to-day work. Erbacci was appointed interim CEO of LAWA in January of 2020, just before California went into lockdown because of the virus. Before that, he worked as the Chief Operations Officer, and he was officially appointed full-time CEO status in June of last year.

LAWA encompasses LAX, Van Nuys airport, and an aviation-related property in Palmdale. In order to operate a major airport, there are three major entities involved: the airport operator (in this case, LAWA), commercial air carriers and aviation businesses, and federal agencies like the Department of Homeland Security and the Department of Transportation.

With one of the largest metropolitan hubs in the world, including travel from around the globe, stepping into this leadership role would prove a challenge at any time for anyone. But for Erbacci, he took

Barbara Jane Kyzar

Barbara Jane Kyzar (Ellis) went home to be with the Lord and her beloved husband Frank, on May 26, 2021 at the age of eighty-seven. Barbara was born in Pueblo, Colorado on May 31, 1933 and was adopted at the age of four months by Samuel D. Ellis and Bernice Ellis (Garwood). She grew up with her adopted brother, James Theodore. During her younger years, her mother Bernice taught her to play the harp and also taught her art, which included making porcelain figurines, some of which were sold at the opening of the Flamingo Hotel & Casino in Las Vegas. Her father Sam, who owned one of the first Greek restaurants in Denver, CO, taught her the restaurant and hospitality business.

She graduated high school in San Juan Capistrano, California, where she earned her letterman jacket for various varsity sports, including softball and tennis. She worked at the first burger shack on the pier in San Clemente, California. She lived in Daytona Beach, Florida before the famous racetrack was built! She then came back to Denver, Colorado where her father lived and went to college there, attending Denver University. At this time, her father married Alva Ellis (Enfield). Her family grew over the years to include her stepsisters Crystal, Frosyne and Leona as well as her stepbrother Sammy Junior.

While in college, she went on a blind date with Frankie Joe Kyzar, whom, after serving in the US Air Force, Frank asked her father for her hand in marriage. Frank and Barbara were married on December 8, 1957. At this time, Frank started his career at Continental Airlines. While in Denver, they started their family, having Nancy Lorraine and then Kenneth Bruce. Shortly after Ken's birth, they moved to Chicago, Illinois with Continental Airlines. They once again moved with Continental Airlines to Los Angeles, California in 1967 and had Samuel Louis shortly after. They moved to the city of El Segundo, California and became incredibly involved in the community by volunteering with the Little League baseball and Babe Ruth baseball organizations. Barbara made the snack bars for both organizations her home away from home as well as serving as room parent and on the PTA. She worked at Robert Nelson Studios in El Segundo, who later printed material for the President's Clubs for Continental Airlines. She also had so much fun raising money for El Segundo Babe Ruth through their yearly show, The Blackouts.

In 1982, Continental Airlines transferred Frank to Houston, Texas. Shortly after, Barbara became a grandmother for the first time when Nancy had her first child, Christine. Over the next twelve years Nancy had four more children; Ryan, Sarah, Raymond and Jason. She adored her five grandchildren very much. She shared her time traveling back and forth from Houston to El Segundo and some of her most fondest memories and favorite past times were spent going on many adventures with her family and friends.

In her sixties, she met her biological mother, Bobbie Bookhammer, for the first time. This opened the door for even more branches on her family tree! She was also able to connect with her biological brothers Joe & Virgil and her biological sister, Sheila.

When she was eighty, Barbara became a great-grandmother for the first time after Sarah had a child, Paisley, whom she adored very much.

She is survived by her children, Nancy Johnson (Howard) of El Segundo, CA, Ken Kyzar of Splendor, TX and Sam Kyzar of Humble, TX; her sisters Frosyne Mensindick (Dan) of Ivins, UT, and Leona Ellis of Castle Rock, CO; her brother Sammy Jr. (Suzanne) of Table Rock, NE; her sister-in-law Sylvia Ellis of Denver, CO; her sister-in-law Joan Kyzar of Bogue Chitto, MS, as well as her five grandchildren (Christine Johnson, Ryan Johnson, Sarah Johnson, Raymond Johnson & Jason Johnson), one great-grandchild (Paisley Ward Johnson) and many nieces and nephews. She is preceded in death by her father Sam Ellis, and her mothers Bobbie Bookhammer, Bernice Ellis (Garwood) & Alva Ellis; her beloved husband Frank Kyzar (2002); her father and mother-in-law Louis and Lessie Kyzar; her brother and sister-in-law Julian and Agnes Calcote; her brother-in-law Elbert Bernard Kyzar; her sister Crystal French and her brother James Theodore Ellis.

Barbara was known by everyone to be such an amazing, sweet, kind hearted and patient woman who spread smiles and joy everywhere she went. She was forever grateful for her forever friends that she made through her journey of life as well as her family that she loved so much. She will be forever missed by everyone who knew her.

Barbara's remains will be taken to Providence Baptist Church Cemetery located in Lawrence County, Mississippi and buried next to her beloved Frank.

"Let not your hearts be troubled. Believe in God; believe also in me. In my Father's house are many rooms. If it were not so, would I have told you that I go to prepare a place for you? And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again and will take you to myself, that where I am you may be also." – John 14:1-3

A Class We Won't Forget

By Gregg McMullin

The El Segundo High School graduated its ninety-third class, but it may go down in history as one of the most memorable classes. The Commencement was void of a tradition for the seniors graduating being escorted through the arch bearers. Instead, the Class of 2021 processional was serenaded by the "Pomp and Circumstance" by the school band and paraded around Hazletine Field's track. This was to allow the friends of those viewing the Commencement from the visitor's stands. Senior members of the choir opened the Commencement with an emotionally charged rendition of the National Anthem and later with 'Rise Up'.

The Class of 2021 missed some memorable events and milestones. When Ryan Whalen gave his Valedictorian Address, he walked his classmates down memory lane and how, as a freshman, they were wide-eyed and curious. As sophomores, they became more involved in different clubs on campus and sports. As juniors, something called Covid-19 interrupted their everyday lives that would shut down their in-person classroom setting. Ryan reflected on the things that make high school life fun and memorable. He reviewed how they overcame challenges and how proud they should all be.

Mellissa Gooden, the high school's principal, addressed the over 300 seniors of the Class of 2021 and how proud she and the whole community was of them. "You've all overcome the adversity and will be known in the future as 'The Covid Class.' She wound down her comments with, "Don't forget the power of human connection."

One of the traditions of each class is to present a gift from the graduating class to the school—the funds earned by various fundraising events, including running the snack bar at football games. Senior Class Governor Thomas Davies announced that their classes' gift was being transferred to the Class of 2022.

Benny Villa, ASB President, thanked his classmates for four great years even if they were on zoom calls. He said they showed tenacity and hope for the future and demonstrated that they were the future.

School Superintendent Dr. Melissa Moore remarked, "You're at the finish line, and with what you've overcome to get to this point, you have a bright future ahead." Then Dr. Moore presented the class for certification and acceptance.

And with that, the graduates of the Class of 2021 took off their masks and accepted their well-earned diplomas with smiles we haven't seen in over a year. •

Second Vaccination Site at LAX

LAX has added a second COVID-19 Vaccination Site at Terminal 1 Extension. On Tuesday, LAX officials announced the addition of a second site where guests can receive COVID-19 vaccinations free of charge. The new site is located on the Lower/Arrivals level of the new Terminal 1 extension on its far west end. Both vaccination clinics are open 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday, and currently offer one-dose vaccinations from Johnson & Johnson to anyone age 18 or older. Vaccinations are administered by the Los Angeles Fire Department and are available without appointments. There is no cost for the vaccine and no proof of insurance is required. The Johnson & Johnson vaccine requires only one dose, so those who receive it will be considered fully vaccinated two weeks after receiving the shot.

Eagle Swimmers Have a Bright Future

By Gregg McMullin

The next time you're in the high school main gymnasium, look up on the side walls, and you'll see the league championship and CIF championship banners hanging proudly. Nearly every sport the school has supported over the decades is represented. El Segundo high school can boast several CIF Southern Section championship titles in baseball, softball, basketball, boys volleyball, boys soccer and girls soccer, boys water polo, and girls water polo, and, of course, swim titles.

The first CIF-SS title El Segundo won was a team title in swimming in 1948 and led by Jack Spargo, Bob Hughes, and George Allen. The most recent swim team titles were won in 2008 when Chelsea Kemp and Mattea Perotta led the girl's squad to a title.

The boy's team won the Division II title in 2011. This year's team didn't win a team title, but the boy's team did well enough to finish fourth overall while the girls placed 14th out of 44 teams. Both teams are loaded with underclassmen, so the future looks bright for the swim program.

This season the boys won the Pioneer League team title and had three who won individual titles. Sophomore sensation Alexander Cole's 1:40.46 in the 200-yard freestyle and 500-yard freestyle in 4:34.39 and earned his SoCal Swimming Futures cut in both events. Taisei Saito won the 200-yard Individual Medley in 1:56.22. Four-year standout Hirota Inoki, blistered the 100-yard freestyle in 46.96 to win that sprint event.

Council Talks Finances, Covid and Future

By Liz Spear

It was a heavy agenda for the El Segundo City Council at its most recent regularly scheduled meeting last Tuesday night. Discussions on the city's financial state and moving forward toward securing a possible AAA rating from Standard & Poor's, accomplishing much-needed facility upgrades at parks and pools, with a sense of urgency and a commitment to getting things done for residents, while also spending taxpayer dollars well.

City Council members were charged with looking at and approving a proposed operating budget for the fiscal year 2021-2022, a Capital Improvement Program budget, and reviewing staffing, and adding a part-time special projects administrator to help shore up city operations.

The meeting, which spanned nearly 5-1/2 hours, began with a special acknowledgment and presentation to the El Segundo High School girls' soccer team for winning the CIF Southern Section Division 4 championship, the school's first for its girls' team. The Cinderella season for the team saw them overcome a third-place finish in league competition, soaring in CIF playoffs with four wins that advanced them to face undefeated San Dimas for the CIF division championship. They then lost to San Dimas in CIF regional competition shortly thereafter.

The council's discussion of finances took an interesting turn when council member Scot Nicol wanted to learn more about why the newly renovated fire station 1 needed new carpet at a projected cost of $85,000 after just four years.

Council also honed in on asking city staff to come back with a $1 million reduction in the proposed budget after a lengthy conversation and settled on the city operating with a 20% reserve level. According to a staff report, the lowest reserve level allowed for a city is slightly over 16%, said city staff, and 20% is considered a "Best Management Practice" by municipal financial advisory firms and bond rating agencies. Reserves can be used in case of natural disasters like fires, floods, and earthquakes, as well as economic recessions. Mayor Drew Boyles was not "bullish" on the post-COVID-19 recovery, especially given El Segundo's reliance on people occupying office spaces and hotels being booked to capacity.

City Council entertained the idea of asking the El Segundo Unified School District to help pay for crossing guard services (the cost is $130,950) but, for now, decided to approve the funding from city coffers. Council member Carol Pirztuk said, "... the safety of our children should be our focus," and urged the council to bear that in mind. Mayor Pro Tem Chris Pimentel believed there was room for discussion and negotiation with ESUSD and noted that they probably have "an understanding that we are in this together," saying he didn't think the city and school district were in an "acrimonious position."

Da Vinci Schools CEO/Superintendent Matt Wunder, a founder of Da Vinci, which opened in 2017, thanked the city for its All-Hazards Incident Management Team's efforts during COVID-19 and for vaccinating Da Vinci staff. He called out the team's "professionalism, service, and quality."

The city's Director of Information Technology Services, Charles Mallory, told the council the South Bay Fiber Ring Network, a regional broadband, fiber-optic network designed to keep South Bay cities on the leading edge of luring companies to the area as a technology-savvy community, had been completed last November and that El Segundo was the first city to connect to the network, which cost the city "zero" and saved the city approximately the $20,000 it was spending to provide wi fi at the city library.

Mayor Drew Boyles read a proclamation for Juneteenth, an acknowledgment of Jun. 19, 1865, when the last slaves in Galveston, Texas, became aware of their freedom, a freedom the US had recorded as law on Jan. 1, 1863, after an official proclamation was made in September of 1862.

Shad McFadden, the city's Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion committee chairperson, came forward to tell the council in person at the microphone (city council meetings are currently still being held on Zoom) his thoughts about Juneteenth. He noted that growing up, he'd interpreted Juneteenth as a sad day because the time lapse between the issuance of the US proclamation versus when the last slaves heard about it contained such a gap. He urged all "to celebrate our diversity" and said that having sometimes everyone's face who has crossed my path. I love this beautiful city!"

Most managers develop an organizational, pyramid-shaped chart, with the boss man or lady perched at the top of said chart. Sassoon said he does have a chart, but he has flipped the script on that management tool.

He places himself at the bottom of the pyramid, a "servant leader," he said, whose goal is to maximize the talents of his assembled team, and calling on his engineering background, solve the challenge at hand in the most efficient manner. "When I resolve an issue, it energizes me," Sassoon said, who, it has been noted by past and current employers, is often the first to arrive at work, the last to leave, and has been known to venture out and visit projects on the weekend to keep tabs on their progress. Too much time on the job?

"I try to be the best at anything that I do," the Pacific Palisades resident said, noting that sometimes work has "interfered with my personal life" and that he is striving to "keep a balance" in his work and personal life.

Sassoon relishes his post working for the citizens and the City of El Segundo. Upon his hiring, City Manager Scott Mitnick noted Sassoon's "passion for public service, his high level of customer service, and his depth of experience." Mitnick touted Sassoon's prior experience, reiterating that the hiring of Sassoon was a "tremendous asset to the city."

Speak with folks who have worked with Sassoon over the years, a constant theme emerges. A caring man, who pays attention to detail, works tirelessly, and, said Greg Porter, who worked with Sassoon in Texas for eight years, "one of the most remarkable human beings that I have ever had the pleasure to work with." Continued Porter: "He is exceptionally giving, with the knowledge of people, culture, and his ability to listen, which makes him the absolute perfect fit for municipal government."

Porter related that Sassoon was effective not only in dealing with and shepherding multi-million-dollar municipal projects in the Dallas area, but could seamlessly pivot to giving his full attention to a local resident who may have an issue relating to her crumbling driveway concrete.

Porter lamented the day Sassoon decided to relocate to California. "It broke my heart," he said.

Jill Jordan has been associated with Sassoon for more than three decades. The two rose through the municipal management ranks in Dallas. "El Segundo is lucky to have him," Jordan said. "He is always dedicated, sees the job through, and is creative in coming up with solutions. Y'all are lucky to have him; his heart is in public service," she said. "He is going to watch out for his community."

Gabriella Yap was a colleague of Sassoon's during his three-year stint in Rancho Palos Verdes. She called Sassoon a "deeply knowledgeable engineer, with his heart in public service. He is generous in every sense of the word, very authentic, really wants to help people," while noting his show-up-early, stay late work ethic.

Mitnick said he did not doubt that Sassoon would be an asset to El Segundo. "Elias has done a great job in his first several months with the city," Mitnick said. "He maintains a tremendous "can do" attitude. He is always upbeat and positive. He is a problem-solver who seeks to understand a challenging issue and works toward coming up with a resolution. I like how he comes to me with "solutions" and not "problems."

Regarding those flower poles, Mitnick shared: "A small sample of how he finds solutions and implements them in short order involves the Downtown decorative flower poles. There are over 55 of these that sat unused in disrepair for years and had become a visual eyesore. I had asked previous staff why we let these poles deteriorate and go unmaintained and unused. I was provided with several excuses, including The water lines are broken, cannot obtain the necessary parts to fix, too expensive, no one likes them, not a priority, etc.

"When Elias was hired, I told him that one of his first priorities had to be to fix these flower poles. He immediately set out to research each pole, worked with his new staff, developed a plan within his existing budget, and within a short period had every single pole refurbished to look like new, fixed the water lines, planted each pot with beautiful flowers, and the Downtown merchants and community love the result.

"On a bigger scale," Mitnick continued, "Elias is working on developing a multi-year Capital Improvement Program (CIP). This is coming along nicely. He is also working with the City of LA to improve the drainage and landscaping within the medians on Imperial Highway just north of El Segundo and adjacent to LAX. He is awfully close to obtaining a positive outcome. "Elias is a true team player. He puts the needs of the city ahead of his own. He is an effective member of the City's Executive Team (Department Heads).

"He leads by example. He works as hard as any of his department employees. He is often the first one into the office early in the morning and the last one to leave in the evening. He is frequently in the office or out in the field on weekends to make sure the facilities that his department are responsible for are working. He has an incredible work ethic and commitment to all things El Segundo.

"He will not ask any of his employees to do something that he would not do himself. He has a strong depth of experience and knowledge of the Public Works profession. He does not complain, and he figures out a way to gets things done without seeking credit for the result. He loves public service and to make the community better."

When he is not putting in the extra hours at work, Sassoon said he enjoys playing racquetball (he even invited this old scribe, who probably has not played racquetball in 30 years, to join him as his guest at his racquetball club), swimming, pondering movements on the chessboard, and reading, specifically history and biographies. Sassoon said he had not regretted his intrepid American venture that he undertook when he was a teenager, which, he said, was inspired by watching John Wayne movies that extolled the virtues of America. "By birth, I am Persian, by choice, American." He said that, in his opinion, the American dream is still within reach. "If I, with all these barriers, could make it, there is no reason others cannot." •

Film Review

'Censor' is Vintage Horror Fun For the VHS Era

By Ryan Rojas, Cinemacy

Before going into the fun new horror film Censor, you should know what a "video nasty" is. A colloquial term coined in the United Kingdom in the 1980s "video nasties" were films distributed on video cassettes that were criticized for their violent content by the press and various religious organizations. In her directorial debut, Prano Bailey-Bond puts these graphic films at the center of the story about a film censor (Niamh Algar) who, after viewing a strangely familiar video nasty, sets out to solve the past mystery of her sister's disappearance and embarks on a quest that dissolves the line between fiction and reality.

reliability. It's telling that after her sister goes missing during childhood, Enid grows up to become a film censor, choosing to submerge herself in such gruesome and violent content, striving to single-handedly extricate the most horrific moments from the public's (and specifically children's) consumption. But when a particular video nasty becomes the center of a national headline for an inspired real-life murder, Enid is left shaken, and the trauma of her horrific past haunts her again. Bailey-Bond shows the unconscious ways that we try to stave off events that are too hard to make sense of in a disturbing moment and what worlds we then create for

Censor, courtesy Magnet Releasing.

While operating within the familiarities of the horror genre that fans will hope for, Prano Bailey-Bond also flexes her deeper knowledge and appreciation of the genre with the plot's central connection to video nasties. The fun that Bailey-Bond brings to the screen with the video nasties' campy kills, titles, and even videocassette jackets are going to be some of the film's most memorable moments. And on a more personal level, it's clear that Bailey-Bond is expressing her voice through the central character Enid (Niamh Algar), a young and beautiful woman who is more interested in losing herself in her career of grisly fantasy than following a more traditional life path. Censor has a strong and empowering female perspective about being a woman both in the workplace and in danger, which Algar is as equally game for the whole time.

For a film that is so knowledgeable about video nasties and the fun that's had in staging violence in film, though, Censor's disturbances are aimed at the more heady paranoia of mental instability rather than blood-spurting horror sequences. There are only one or two jump scares and a few moments of grisly slasher fun, all handled rather mildly. I wonder if Censor had allowed itself to indulge in the genre's more bloody mayhem what further fun could have been had within this set-up.

Censor actually ends up hitting on the softer side in terms of an all-out gorefest. However, the deeper human truth that Bailey-Bond expresses here is even more terrifying in its ourselves to cope. In asking the audience what fears are we running from, and what actions we take in an attempt to push those unendurable memories out of our minds, Censor is a film that will stick around and stir inside our minds.

At 84 minutes, Censor is perfect for casual mature audiences looking for a fun time with a horror movie, as well as for the more seasoned horror fans looking to indulge their appetites with the throwback to "video nasties." If you're wondering what a video store clerk's re-imagining of Midsommar and Mandy might look like, you might want to queue up Censor quickly.

84 minutes. Not rated. 'Censor' is now playing at The Landmark Westwood, Alamo Drafthouse and the Laemmle Glendale. •

Your Neighborhood Therapist

Dear Neighborhood Therapist,

I have just graduated from college and now I'm expected to embark on a "career." I did some internships, and I did well, but I cannot seem to muster that passion for the business I was in that some of my colleagues do. It's not that I mind paying my dues or working hard. It's that I look at the people who are mid-career and I think, "I don't want to do that." I don't want to spend the next 15 years of my life dedicated to this work just so that I can get to where they are, which is a place I don't want to be. It doesn't seem worth it to me, and it's incredibly depressing.

— Frustrated Recent Grad

Dear Frustrated Recent Grad,

I'm sure there is a school of thought that would say, "Hey, it's rough out there. Life isn't easy. Toughen up and get used to it." The thinking behind this is most likely something like, "Sure, it stinks, but it stinks for all of us, so don't think you are better than anyone else, or special."

I don't think that's a very helpful sentiment.

It's like saying that because kids get too much vacation, adults should be happy they don't get enough. Of course you're not better than anyone else, but you don't have to like our system, which is roughly like this:

In school, we see continual progress. All you have to do is pass and you are "promoted" to the next grade. The grade levels keep going up, and then you have a big celebration. (And we should celebrate. School is hard. It's a big achievement to get through it.) But while everyone who passes gets to graduate, not everyone who does their job well gets to constantly move up and eventually be CEO. Of course not everyone is going to get promoted, so competition heats up. There just isn't room for everyone at the top of any organization, and so many people compete for it.

Why we protect our kids from the "real world" until we toss them head first into it is a topic for another time, but there is no question that the transition from the academic to the working world can cause real whiplash. Especially if you think you may have been condemned to years of misery in a profession you can't stand, it does truly feel like losing a lot of freedom. So how do you avoid this fate if you don't even know what you "want" yet out of your working life?

First, give yourself some more time. Just because you haven't seen a job that appeals to you doesn't mean a good life doesn't exist. You may not have been exposed to people who share your concerns, so how could you expect to have figured it out yet all on your own?

In the meantime, do something - anything - that helps provide a service that people need or enjoy.. Maybe it's picking up trash. Maybe it's selling warm bread in the morning, or driving a bus, or teaching.

Also, don't be the bad guy. Don't market cigarettes to teens. Don't convince people who are struggling to take on more debt. Don't be a patent troll. Don't help billionaires hide their money.

Your frustration that you have not seen better options or possibilities for life sounds very reasonable. If you don't want to be part of a rat race, finding those other options and possibilities means that you have some extra work cut out for you. This isn't a bad thing. It is just a harder path, but perhaps one with better views along the way.

Together for L.A. will serve businesses with multilingual and multicultural programs and resources critical to small business survival, reinvention and recovery via substantial outreach and engagement campaigns, webinars and workshops to teach best practices, and will provide one-on-one technical assistance which will be delivered both online and in community. This program will be one of the largest efforts, not just in Los Angeles or California, but across the nation, to reach and serve LMI BIPOC businesses and help them reopen, reinvent themselves and recover through the provision of various forms of technical assistance. In close coordination with the County of Los Angeles Department of Consumer and Business Affairs and the City of Los Angeles Economic and Workforce Development Department, the five Together for L.A. partners have been serving thousands of diverse small businesses since the inception of the pandemic. This new, Wells Fargo-funded phase will launch in July 2021 and continue for a full year. Businesses are encouraged to request assistance at the Together for L.A. webpage. •

difficult conversations is necessary. City staff updated the council on COVID-19, noting the city had had nine new cases since the last briefing two weeks ago at the previous council meeting. He also said that the city had successfully conducted 18 vaccination sites and facilitated 2,606 vaccinations, among other notable recognitions. He said that as of Jun. 15, the state had now removed its "blueprint guidance" of color tiers but that individuals not vaccinated are still required to wear masks in all public indoor settings such as, but not limited to, grocery stores and movie theaters. Fully vaccinated people could go maskless everywhere except for public transportation, indoors in K-12 schools, childcare and other youth settings, healthcare settings, homeless shelters, cooling shelters and emergency shelters, and state and local correctional facilities. Staff also said that in settings where masks are required only for unvaccinated individuals, businesses, venue operators, or hosts may choose to allow individuals to self-attest to having been vaccinated, implement vaccine verification, or require all to wear masks. In a nod to city staff's good work, a FEMA representative will visit the city next week to discuss El Segundo's participation in the Supplemental Response Team. Staff called this "a big honor just to be looked at and recruited by FEMA," noting El Segundo is the smallest city to have this distinction. City council and staff also bid adieu to Police Chief Bill Whalen, who retired after four years as police chief in El Segundo and a 32-year law enforcement career. The council called him out for bringing his knowledge of implicit bias to the fore during last year's protests and heralded him for meeting with protesters. The City council will take a break and not hold any regularly scheduled meetings until Tuesday, Aug. 17. •

The boys did well in the 200-yard freestyle relay. Rainer Reczer, Taisei Saito, Hirota Inoki, and Alexander Cole combined to win the event in 1:29.46. This same relay team won the 400-yard freestyle in 3:12.46, and qualified for the CIF Prelims meet in both events.

On the girls' side, they finished an impressive second overall in the Pioneer League. Only freshman Molly Beetner won an individual league title when her strong surge at the end was good enough to win the 100-yard breaststroke in 1:08.62. The girls also won the 200-yard freestyle relay that consisted of Gabriela Crother-Collado, Molly Beetner, Maya Viramontes, and Emery Arnold.

Others who fared well at the league finals were freshmen Lucas Crother-Collado and Emery Arnold, who finished second and third respectfully in the 50-yard freestyle. Arnold finished second and Luke Pohlman third in the 100 fly, while Rainer Reczer was third in the 100-yard freestyle. Taisei Saito swam to a second-place finish with a 54.33 in the 100-yard backstroke. Kai Albertson was nudged out of winning the 100-yard breast and finished second in a time of 1:01.77. On the girls' side, Gabriella Crother-Collado finished second in the 200-yard freestyle and Molly Beetner's 59.92 was good enough for a third-place finish in the 100-yard fly.

Both boys and girls JV teams finished third overall at the Pioneer League finals. Andrew Felix's 1:06.07 in the 100-yard backstroke, and Tyler Thomas won the 100-yard freestyle in 56.37. Victor Ayaay, Patrick Wang, Andrew Felix, and Julian Raymond took home the 200-yard freestyle relay crown

In a year where only the top 16 earned the right to compete at CIF Prelims, due to COVID restrictions, El Segundo was well represented among the over 50 schools that had qualifiers for CIF Southern Section Division 2. This year the Eagles were moved into Division 2 up from Division 3, which made the competition a little more daunting. The girls finished a respectable 18th out of 47 teams while the boys' team finished fourth overall.

The girls were seeded eleventh in the 200-yard freestyle relay and finished strong and placed sixth, good enough for a medal. Three freshmen led the Eagles, starting with Emery Arnold, who got off to a good start, followed by Molly Beetner, who swam a team's best 24.61. Maya Viramontes swam a strong third leg while senior Gabriella Crother-Collado anchored for the Eagles and held off Trabuco Hills' Taylor Lowe to give El Segundo a medal.

Alexander Cole had a great meet by winning the 200 free in a sizzling 1:39.25 and third in the 500 free (4:34.41). Taisei Saito made it to the podium twice, including one for finishing fifth in the 200IM in 1:54.18 and a sixth-place finish in the 100 backstroke (52.83). Hirota Inoki took home a sixth-place medal in the 50-yard freestyle. The Eagles (Inoki, Reczer, Saito, and Cole) won the 400 freestyle relay by nosing out Notre Dame of Sherman Oaks by six-tenths of a second thanks to Cole's anchor time of 44.98.

With so many talented swimmers returning next season, the Eagles have a bright future and continued success ahead. •

over leadership with all that entails in the wake of travel and airports becoming a significant point of focus associated with medical risks.

With the threat of Covid looming large, Erbacci didn't miss a beat. Taking federal guidance and safety precautions into consideration, he created a Covid task force to handle everything from implementing new touchless technologies all over the facility to implementing new cleaning standards and training to keep every employee up to date and on the same page. This includes things like new UV light sterilized handrails on escalators and buttons on elevators. Many normal airport functions moved over to a format usable on a mobile phone. Erbacci worked in his office every day of the pandemic to ensure the safety of all essential workers still required to go to the airport and begin working on a health and recovery plan for the future.

As for what's going on as we begin to exit the pandemic, some exciting new projects are underway. Erbacci explains some of the new plans he's approved and is developing with the LAWA team.

"We have a $14.5 billion improvement program going on," he says. The project he is most excited about is the construction of a people mover train that will transport travelers to and from the airport and all terminals, effectively mitigating the need for cars to be in the center of the airport.

Justin Erbacci, CEO of Los Angeles World Airports.

The new people mover train will have three stations within the airport: a west stop near the Bradley International Terminal, a Central Terminal stop, and the third stop between terminals 1 and 7. From here, the train will continue eastward to a stop at an intermodal transportation facility. This will be a remote parking lot with about 4,300 spaces that will allow for parking, as well as ride pickups and drop-offs.

Continuing east, the people mover train will intersect with the Crenshaw metro line, allowing access by metro to the airport. Finally, the last station will be at the largest consolidated rental car facility in the United States.

"It will be the second-largest cement structure in the United States, second only to the Pentagon," says Erbacci. The idea with all of this is that all rental car transactions will happen at this final station, residents will have an easier time accessing the airport sans car via the metro, and all cars and hotel shuttles can mostly use the remote parking lot, where guests can then enter the airport by train. With all of these measures, the flow of travel through LAX will be much more ergonomic for a city of this size.

In addition to the train, Erbacci is working on the renovation of terminals, improvements to the airfield to alleviate congestion experienced on the ground, and adding more gates and a new concourse. A new elevated roadway system is also underway to replace the current system of how cars enter the central terminal, easing traffic on nearby streets and improving circulation in and out of the airport.

As Erbacci looks to the future, these projects are anticipated to be completed in total by 2023. Though he says these changes would have happened regardless of the upcoming Olympics, he says that he does want to make a good impression as athletes from all over the globe enter our city, which these new airport modifications will help provide. His team has set forth an ambitious sustainability plan with the goal of being carbon neutral by 2045. Through all of these goals, Erbacci makes it clear that inclusion is a priority, making sure that diverse groups and companies have the chance to participate in these ongoing plans.

With participation in mind, Erbacci relates his desire to be a good neighbor to El Segundo. With all these plans being set forth, he is making sure the community has time to review them and reach out with any questions, concerns, or suggestions. Feedback to local elected representatives will make it on his desk, and he encourages all local residents to be informed.

Erbacci describes a sense of honor and privilege in his role and focuses on serving travelers the best experience possible.

"My personal goals are those for the airport... We want to make sure that we are providing a world-class airport for the citizens of Los Angeles and those who are coming to Los Angeles." •

NOTICE OF INTENT TO CIRCULATE INITIATIVE PETITION FOR THE EL SEGUNDO CANNABIS REGULATION AND PUBLIC SAFETY MEASURE (Cal. Elect. Code § 9202)

NOTICE OF INTENT TO CIRCULATE PETITION
 Notice is hereby given by the persons whose names appear hereon of their intention to circulate the petition within the City of El Segundo for the purpose of adopting an initiative that will enact provisions regarding the regulation of commercial cannabis activity in the City. A statement of the reasons of the proposed action as contemplated in said petition is as follows (up to 500 words):
 The purpose and intent of this Measure is to accommodate the needs of medically-ill persons in need of cannabis for medicinal purposes, as advised and recommended by their health care provider(s), and adults over the age of twenty-one (21), and to implement State of California ("State") law, which includes, but is not limited to the provisions of the Medicinal & Adult-Use Cannabis Regulation & Safety Act, as may be amended and augmented under State law, while imposing regulations on the conduct of business and use of land to protect the City of El Segundo's (the "City") neighborhoods, residents, and businesses from negative impacts. It is a further purpose and intent of this Measure to regulate the cultivation, manufacturing, processing, testing, distribution, and retail sale and delivery of cannabis and cannabis products in a manner which is responsible, which protects the health, safety, and welfare of the residents of the City, and which enforces rules and regulations consistent with State law. In part to meet these objectives, a commercial cannabis business permit shall be required to own or to operate a cannabis business within the City. Further, this Measure's requirement for a cannabis business to possess a commercial cannabis business permit is in addition to any other permits, licenses, and approvals which may be required to conduct business in the City, and is in addition to any permits, licenses, and approvals required under State or County of Los Angeles law.

 The purpose of this initiative is to place on the ballot a proposed ordinance that amends the El Segundo Municipal Code to repeal the current prohibition on commercial cannabis activities in all areas of the city and instead authorize commercial cannabis retailing by right in the General Commercial (C-3), Smoky Hollow West (SH-W), and Smoky Hollow East (SH-E) zones, subject to a city-issued cannabis business permit and any other license required by state law. A cannabis retail business would not be permitted within 600 feet of any school, day care center, or youth center that is specifically listed in the proposed ordinance.

 The proposed ordinance would limit the total number of cannabis retailer permits in the city to two and would establish a commercial cannabis business permit application procedure along with a point-based ranking system pursuant to which each application would be evaluated. Each cannabis business would be required to implement specified security measures and to comply with specified operating and recordkeeping requirements. The delivery of cannabis and cannabis products within the city by city-permitted cannabis retailers would be allowed subject to specified operating requirements.
 The proposed ordinance would also authorize the commercial cultivation, manufacturing, distribution, and testing of cannabis within the city subject to a city-issued cannabis business permit, but would allow the city council, in its discretion, to determine the total number of cannabis business permits that may be issued for those types of businesses.

the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.
 IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.
 Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law. YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. ## Butternut Squash Carbonara

Provided by Campbell Soup Company

A classic Carbonara recipe gets a lightened-up twist by using butternut squash noodles instead of spaghetti. Starting with Prego Alfredo Sauce, then adding bacon and onion, makes it easy to create a classic Carbonara flavor profile. Lemon and sage add a unique flavor twist that pairs perfectly with the butternut squash noodles for an easy dinner that is not only delicious but also a good source of fiber and provides a full serving of veggies.

Ingredients

- 6 cups butternut squash noodles (spiralized butternut squash) (about 1 pound)
- 1 tablespoon olive oil
- 1 large onion, chopped (about 1 cup)
- 1 cup Prego® Roasted Garlic Parmesan Alfredo Sauce or Prego® Homestyle Alfredo Sauce
- 1/2 cup Swanson® Vegetable Broth
- 2 teaspoons shredded fresh sage leaves
- 1/2 teaspoon grated lemon zest
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1/4 cup cooked crumbled bacon (from about 4 strips)
- 2 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley

Directions

- Step 1: Season the squash as desired. Heat the oil in a 12-inch nonstick skillet over medium-high heat. Add the onion and cook for 1 minute. Add the squash and cook for 3 minutes, stirring occasionally.
- Step 2: Stir in the sauce, broth, sage and lemon zest and heat to a boil. Reduce the heat to medium. Cook for 2 minutes, stirring occasionally.
- Step 3: Stir in the lemon juice. Season to taste. Sprinkle with the bacon and parsley just before serving.

PETSPETS Pets PETSPETS

Purrrfect Companions

Many of the teenage and adult cats we rescue have been abandoned, neglected, abused, or dumped at the shelter and find themselves in a terrifying, lonely new world. They have withstood hunger, pain, illness and fear to overcome the odds and survive. They are supremely deserving and appreciative of a second chance at life. When you adopt, you save a life... and in turn enrich your own.

Mama Poppy and her babies were rescued from the streets after neighbors saw her starving and struggling to care for her four kittens. Poppy is a very sweet loving kitty who clearly had been someone's pet at some point before being abandoned on the street. Poppy and Paisley are the cutest Calico mother daughter duo; we would love for them to go to their furever home together! However, for the right situation we may be able to adopt them separately. Poppy is initially very shy with new people, but once acclimated is a total love bug. Both Poppy and Paisley are purring machines who enjoy lounging, grooming each other and requesting endless belly rubs. Paisley is a curious happy go lucky kitten ready to play when she is not cuddling her mama.

Sam is an adorable and very loving little guy. With his gazing green eyes and cute pink nose, he is sure to melt your heart. Sam loves to be pet and craves your affections. Confident and outgoing, this boy would be happiest as the only cat in your home..

Sam

Merry is an adorable petite kitten who is spunky and can hold her own in play with her big brother, Blitzen. She loves to play with cats during the day and at night, she beds down with you for long and loving snuggles. Merry is also used to younger children and does well respecting children's space. She would enjoy playing with children who can use toys for a game of chase. Merry is bonded to her brother, Blitzen; they would love to be adopted together.

Blitzen is a gentle big boy who loves to play with his sister, Merry. Despite his size, he is an active kitten who enjoys playing with other cats. He is very loving and cuddly towards humans, often spending the entire night in close contact and cuddles. Blitzen is also great with younger children. He is bonded to his sister, Merry. Together they would be the purr-fect pair for your home.

Gil is a gorgeous black kitten with a tiny scruff of white under his chin. He has stunning green eyes and the sweetest little purr. He is a total love bug! He just demands attention. He loves to climb, play, run and wrestle his four siblings. He is curious, silly and sweet. Gil is an awesome little dude and would love to have a kitten playmate or two.

Fantastic Mr. Fox is absolutely bursting with love and affection! He has had a rough life with being abandoned at a feral cat colony, but is still friendly, mushy, and sweet. He starts each day with a little dance and a floppy-snuggle session. When his Kitten Rescue mom was able to get him, poor Mr. Fox was in bad shape. It left him with stomatitis, which requires medication to keep inflammation to a minimum. Mr. Fox is also FIV+, but that does not get this sweet cuddle-bug down because he knows FIV+ cats live full and happy lives too! These days, Fantastic Mr. Fox helps his foster mom by babysitting two tiny foster kittens-making sure they play nice and don't make a mess. He loves other cats and being part of a family. Even when you are busy, he will sit and gaze at you lovingly. Mr. Fox is a chatty fellow who meows, chirps, trills, grunts, or squeaks until you provide him with scratches. Despite being a senior, he is still very active, mobile, alert, and engaged with a happy, mellow energy.

These cats and kittens are available for adoption through Kitten Rescue, one of the largest cat rescue groups in Southern California. All our kitties are spayed/neutered, microchipped, tested for FeLV and FIV, dewormed and current on their vaccinations.
