ES All-Stars Win West Region

All-Stars Head to LL World Series

Story and Photos by Gregg McMullin

The El Segundo Little League All-Stars are going where no previous all-star team has gone. With their 3-1 win over San Ramon's Bollinger Canyon Little League, the Northern California champions, in the West Region final, El Segundo punched their ticket to Williamsport, PA., to play in the Little League World Series.

El Segundo has already been on the map of baseball success. Our community has sent teams or individuals to play in different levels of World Series baseball. We have sent seven teams to the Babe Ruth League World Series, winning five titles. The 1986 American Legion team placed third in the American Legion World Series. One of our players played on the winning Connie Mack League World Series team. We've had several players play in the College World Series and three in the MLB World Series. And now we celebrate our latest team to reach the pinnacle of the postseason.

For nearly two hours, our community gathered at Rock & Brews, the Standard Station, Richmond Bar and Grill, and at home, glued in front of their TVs, watching twelve El Segundo Little League All-Stars vying for a berth in the Little League World Series. At Al Houghton Stadium in San Bernardino, where the Little League West Region Tournament is played, over 8500 Southern and Northern California people, including a large entourage from El Segundo, watched the game in person. ESPN televised the game, and it was the final game of all the Regional Tournaments, so viewership was expected to reach households nationwide. Tournament officials were bracing for a large turnout because of the rivalry. Jake Galloway, Assistant Region Director, said, "Whenever you have Northern California facing Southern California in the final, you're going to get a big crowd. It usually favors the Southern California team."

El Segundo had faced Bollinger Canyon in the West Region opener and defeated the Northern California champions 4-3. Then defeated Hilo, Hawaii, 6-0 in the second round and waited four days before facing Bollinger Canyon a second time, this time in the West Region final.

El Segundo is 14-1 in four tournaments this summer, including winning the District 36, the Section 4 Tournament, the Southern California State Tournament, and now the West Region Tournament. Over the course of 15 games, they have outscored their opponents 111-19. They are the first Los Angeles County team to win the West Region Tournament since 1994 when the all-star team from the Northridge Little League won and went on to win the U.S. championship with a team including future USC and NFL quarterback Matt Cassel. San Pedro's Eastview Little League, in 1989, is the only other South Bay Little League All-Star team to win the West Region and advance to the Little League World Series. Torrance Little League advanced two years ago when the West Region sent the runner-up due to Covid concerns.

The pitching matchup between arguably the two best 12-year-old pitchers on the West Coast was stalled. El Segundo's Louis Lappe started and had a shaky first inning. Bollinger Canyon's Mikey Wong singled to start the game, followed by Brandon Manivong, who reached on an error. Two batters later, Jay Murai singled to load the bases, but Lappe struck out the next two batters to get out of the inning. His 29-pitch first inning was a concern initially, but he settled down.

For unexplained reasons, Bollinger Canyon manager Phil Wong sent Mickey Wong to the mound to start instead of their ace Manivong. El Segundo said thank you very much and

Deep Dive into Plunge

By Rob McCarthy

A construction-management firm with expertise in public swimming pools will undertake a deep dive into the condition of the Urho Saari Swim Stadium and come back to city leaders in the fall with an estimate of the cost of remodeling the historic indoor community pool. The City Council on Tuesday approved hiring the KOA group to take charge of the project for which El Segundo expects to have $9 million available when construction begins.

The price tag for the renovation of the pools, dressing rooms, and public-use areas of the 1940s-era facility won't be known until KOA engineers and crews thoroughly examine and specifically look beneath the pools, the firm's project manager told the council on Tuesday night. He prepared El Segundo leaders for a worst-case scenario in which his team could find more problems than expected, driving the cost above $10.9 million.

"It's like remodeling a house. You don't really know until you start poking holes in the wall," KOA project manager Chuck Stefan said. "The other thing is what's under the pool, what it looks like down there." Once KOA has access to the pool, Stefan said his team will be able to answer the big question: What's the project really going to cost? "That list is going to say everything, and it will be extensive," he said, adding it's a rough guess right now. "You're probably going to have to look

1.3 Million Students Eligible for Metro's GoPass Pilot Program

As the new school year begins, the Los Angeles County Metropolitan Transportation Authority (Metro) encourages students, families and school districts to participate in its GoPass pilot program which allows students in K-12 and community college unlimited free rides on Metro bus and rail. The popular program, renewed by Metro's board in April for a third year, currently has 274,915 registered students using GoPass for travel to school, work, and fun, and has helped Metro grow its student ridership by 43 percent over pre-pandemic levels.

Students can activate their cards on the online GoPass portal or by calling 866.TAPTOGO. They also have the option of using a virtual TAP card on the TAP LA App.

All schools in the Los Angeles Unified School District (LAUSD) will offer GoPass to their students this school year, with activation codes available through the LAUSD student portal. The Torrance Unified School District is joining the program this fall.

Entering year three of the pilot program, Metro is pleased to share that 102 school districts and charter networks, with a combined 1,441 schools, are participating in the program. There have been more than 22 million boardings since the program launched in October 2021.

"We are excited to bring back the successful and popular GoPass pilot program and make it available again for a third year to even more K-12 and community college students. I look forward to seeing how we can continue this program further," said Los Angeles Mayor and Metro Board Chair Karen Bass. "Thank you to Metro and CEO Stephanie Wiggins for recognizing how important fareless transit is for our students and helping ensure that cost never stands in the way of getting to school."

"The GoPass pilot has helped hundreds of thousands of L.A. County students get to school, work and extracurricular activities, while also reducing family expenses," said Metro CEO Stephanie Wiggins. "GoPass is central to our strategy to build transit ridership by introducing young people to the benefits of using transit long before they drive. We look forward to welcoming even more students onto our system in the coming school year."

Metro's GoPass pilot is available to all students whose school district has registered with the program. Participating schools distribute TAP cards and activation codes so students can ride transit to school, extracurricular activities, or work without the worry of paying fares.

GoPass participants can take unlimited free rides on Metro bus and rail. AVTA (beginning September 2023), City of Commerce Transit, Culver CityBus, Foothill Transit, Glendale Beeline, GTrans, LADOT DASH, LA County Shuttles, Long Beach Transit, Lynwood Trolley, Montebello Bus, Norwalk Transit, Pasadena Transit, Santa Monica Big Blue Bus and Torrance Transit. Together we are opening destinations for young people to experience throughout the region. Now museums, parks, the beach, concerts, and more are available to them with no transportation costs.

For more information on the Metro GoPass program visit: Metro.net/GoPass.

Film Review

The Inspiring Story of a Pop Star-Turned-Politician is Documented in Bobi Wine: The People's President

By Morgan Rojas for Cinemacy

If there's one documentary you seek out this year, make it this one. Equal parts inspiring, educational, entertaining, and emotionally activating, the story of Ugandan musician turned politician Bobi Wine is an incredible exposé of the hypocrisy of political elections and the hero who was willing to sacrifice his life to defend the oppressed. Documented over five years by filmmakers Christopher Sharp and Moses Bwayo, Bobi Wine: The People's President charts the fascinating trajectory of one man's selfless dedication to his people in true David vs Goliath fashion. Now playing in select theaters.

Bobi Wine: The People's President courtesy Nat Geo Documentary Films

Bobi was born in the slums of Kampala, which shaped his identity as he grew into a young man. His awareness of the lack of equality within his country's political system struck a nerve with the budding social activist who, at that time, was expressing his frustration through music. With colorful vocals and infectious beats, Bobi's catchy tunes held a deeper meaning than just entertainment value, these songs were calls for freedom. Robert adopted the stage name Bobi Wine and then, a star was born. As his musical career turned him into a national superstar, Bobi remained a man of the people and returned to the slums often to encourage future generations to persevere through the tough times.

Bobi's dreams extended beyond the recording studio – his eyes were set on Parliament. He secured a seat within the government and quickly realized that behind the facade was corruption, illegal activity, and anti-republic intentions. Since 1986, Uganda had been under a ruthless regime led by power-hungry Yoweri Museveni, and the opposition wanted him gone. With a Presidential election upcoming, Museveni was determined to take another five-year term after he unethically changed the country's constitution to make him eligible to run again. As a result, Bobi decides to gear up for the biggest battle of his life and run against the most powerful man in Uganda.

Bobi's campaign journey is documented in harrowing detail throughout the film's 2-hour runtime. Caravanning from town to town in an effort to connect with the voiceless people in remote Ugandan towns, Bobi and his team of supporters continuously risk persecution, intimidation, and even death from Museveni's military. Told through intimate conversations with filmmakers Christopher Sharp and Moses Bwayo, Bobi gives audiences a glimpse into his secret life at home with his wife, Barbie, and their three children, revealing the sacrifices he makes to keep them safe.

The music that drives the film is a compilation of Bobi's own recordings. Similar to the way Rodriguez came into the musical zeitgeist after the debut of the documentary Searching for Sugar Man – which also happened to be produced by Bobi Wine's John Battsek – Bobi's music has the potential to find its way to a mainstream audience. Inspiring activism through music, Bobi sings about denouncing the dictatorial regime and fighting for freedom. It's a universally resonating message that you'll be eager to sing along to.

The target on Bobi Wine's head is never out of sight, even today, and the very act of making this documentary is already an act of defiance. If there's one takeaway from the film, it's that nobody can stop Bobi Wine from carrying on. Getting his message out into the Western world would be a huge victory for all the Ugandan people who feel oppressed at the hands of their own government. We owe it to Bobi, the filmmakers, and our fellow world citizens to listen to their stories and then act in a way that allows for liberty and freedom to prevail. •

The Wishing Game by Meg Shaffer

By Roz Templin, Library Assistant

I was sad to come to the end of Meg Shaffer's The Wishing Game. The book was full of smart and witty conversation between the very realistically drawn characters mixed with touching (no, I'm not crying!) scenes that would melt anyone's heart.

Lucy Hart is a teacher's aide for a kindergarten class in Northern California. She lives in a rented house with roommates, shops at local thrift stores and uses public transportation. And she knits scarves she sells on Etsy. She's saving every cent to accomplish her heart's desire: Being able to be self-supporting so she can adopt Christopher, a seven-year-old orphan in foster care. Lucy bonded with Christopher by sharing her love for a beloved series of "Clock Island" books by the mysterious Jack Masterson.

Just when obstacles look impossible to overcome, Lucy receives an invitation to compete in a contest orchestrated by the author himself! There is actually a Clock Island in New England and the winner of the contest receives the new manuscript from the Clock Island series.

This story truly is as adventurous as those books from our childhoods starring Nancy Drew, the Hardy Boys and Encyclopedia Brown, but told in a unique adult voice. What happened in Lucy's childhood to estrange her from her family? What shadowy figure from her past may come back to haunt her? And most importantly, why was Lucy selected out of the blue? Or maybe Lucy knows exactly why she was selected. These questions are answered in tantalizing segments played out over time. Characters are so human it seems they will jump off the page and interact with the reader. Revealing too much of the intricate plot(s) may spoil the fun!

As I was reading, I often thought how successful Ms. Shaffer was in building a fantastical world that would have relevance to adults. She explained in an interview with the Los Angeles Public Library:

"My life changed when I read A Wrinkle in Time [by] Madeleine L' Engle in the 5th grade. Something about that book captured my imagination like no other book had before ... That book combined everything I was fascinated with into one beautiful story—magic and fantasy, science, religion, philosophy, romance, hope..." (I would definitely agree, since that book is also high on my list.) In another article in Writer's Digest, she answers a question about what she hopes readers will get out of her book: "Just some happiness. Maybe a lot of happiness. A little optimism. A slice of old-fashioned nostalgia for the books you read as a kid and still love as an adult. A good cry. A few laughs. A great time. All that and more." You can tell that the books from her own childhood left an imprint on her imagination that led to this delightful debut.

City Council

at what's going to fit within the budget," he told the council.

The city's financing plan is built on an expectation that The Plunge project will cost $10.9 million, leaving El Segundo needing $3 million to complete the job. The city hopes to close the funding gap with contributions from private sources through a capital campaign. According to the Parks and Recreation Department, the Plunge will sell naming rights for the children's pool, diving blocks, and viewing area, costing between $100,000 and $350,000. A Legacy wall is planned, too, and will feature tiles remembering and honoring local people and achievements. Tiles start at $1,000 and go up to $25,000.

Coupled with the chance the pools are in worse shape than anticipated, inflation and higher labor costs are lurking as a cost add-on that will be figured into the project's estimated cost. The city could know as early as September how much it will need to fulfill El Segundo's promise to restore The Plunge for public use again.

As public construction projects go, pools are expensive, and maintenance is costly. The City Council expects by 2024, when construction begins, to have $9 million set aside for The Plunge makeover. That figure includes $1 million from the L.A. Chargers for their headquarters in El Segundo and a promise of $1 million from the El Segundo Unified School District once the project is complete and the final cost is tallied.

The city agreed Tuesday to hire KOA to manage the project for $998,600. This public works project has been anticipated since the Wiseburn swim complex opened in early 2019 on the east side of El Segundo. The city paid $1.8 million toward the building of the aquatics center. The Wiseburn district and private donors paid $6 million each to make the project happen.

The Plunge is a historic swim stadium and Olympic-sized pool that bears the name of two-time U.S. Olympic water polo coach Urho Saari. Chevron has donated $500,000 toward the rebuild. The same architect who designed the Griffith Observatory and Los Angeles City Hall designed the El Segundo swim stadium.

The Legacy wall will feature a rotating display of community photos that will change each year, thus keeping the wall "alive with glimpses of life in El Segundo," according to the campaign. "Each legacy tile will become a permanent part of this beloved community facility that will serve the community for years to come."

In other council action:

Councilman Ryan Baldino thinks Hilltop Park would make an excellent site for a new ballfield for the Little League's Rookies and Challengers games. Buried beneath the northern end of the park is the water tower and an underground reservoir that is no longer in use. Baldino outlined his vision for a small-sized ballfield, saying in the event El Segundo needs more water storage in the future, it could build another reservoir below the baseball diamond and replace the grass. This is just a concept at this point, and residents in the Hilltop Park area would be kept in the loop and have a chance to comment about any land-use changes.

Per his contract, City Manager Darryl George will receive a four percent raise. His employment contract called for a $10,000 raise after six months on the job. His annual salary stands at $280,000.

George told the council that Standard & Poors raised the city's credit rating to AAA, a sign of excellence in fiscal management. He credited former Finance Manager Joe Lillio, who attended Tuesday's meeting, for helping El Segundo to reach the pinnacle of creditworthiness. During the height of the pandemic from 2020-21, Standard & Poors rated the city an AA+. Part of the reason given for the excellent AAA credit rating was El Segundo's decision to issue pension obligation bonds to catch up with its future obligations to CALPERS. The AAA rating is a sign of excellence, which can lower a city's borrowing costs.

The city manager updated the council on legislation in Sacramento that would require fence-line monitoring and real-time reporting of odors and emissions from the Los Angeles Hyperion plant. AB 1216 would put strict monitoring and reporting requirements on the Hyperion plant for airborne emissions. The City Council, in July 2021, declared a local state of emergency resulting from the wastewater treatment plant's emission of noxious gas and foul odors. The city sued the city of Los Angeles in September 2022 over its operation of the Hyperion plant. Assemblymember Al Muratsuchi authored AB 1216 to require all California wastewater treatment plants, like Hyperion, to monitor the air quality for hydrogen sulfide, nitrogen oxides, and volatile organic compounds. If the Legislature passes the bill and the governor signs it, the air-quality monitoring at the Hyperion would need to be in place by January 1, 2025. City manager George said that Hyperion self-reported two incidents recently. • scored their only three-game runs in the first inning. Each of El Segundo's first four batters reached base. Brody Brooks took a two-strike offering fastball and drove a line drive double down the third base line. Lappe followed with a single, sending Brooks to third base, and Jaxon Kalish drew a base on balls. Bollinger Canyon had seen enough and replaced Mickey Wong with the hard-throwing Manivong, who threw one to the backstop, allowing Brooks to score. Lucas Keldorf fouled a pitch off and, in the process, damaged his bat. With a new bat in his hands, Keldorf sent Manivong's fastball to on contact but was thrown out at the plate. Brooks would wind up at third base later in the inning but was left stranded.

As good as Lappe was on the mound for his team, El Segundo's bats were silenced by Manivong. He struck out the last two hitters to end the fourth inning and struck out the side in the fifth inning.

In the fifth inning, Lappe struck out two of the three hitters he faced. In the sixth inning, with victory and a ticket to Williamsport in sight, Lappe struck out Arya Dauer but walked Drew Obara on seven pitches. Kenji Bradley then hit a ground ball to Jaxon Kalish, who

As you might imagine, the team became instant celebrities while real former El Segundo Little League celebrities weighed in. Lars Nootbaar, the starting center fielder for the St Louis Cardinals, said, "Pretty unbelievable. I'm so proud of them. They represent the town so well and make me proud to be

When Lopez was asked about how these players have grown, he said, "Their baseball IQ, their understanding of the game, and the consistent high-level play that results from it. These boys have played a lot of baseball together; it's fun to watch."

Lopez says these players have made a huge impact on others at the facility and said, "The players have made a huge impact on our academy. They have become role models for our younger players and are the

the right-centerfield fence scoring Lappe and Kalish for a 3-0 El Segundo lead.

After his rocky first-inning start, Lappe was in control the rest of the way. The tall, hard-throwing right-hander scattered four hits the rest of the way, including a solo home run he gave up to Manivong in the fourth inning. El Segundo's offense was stalled but had an opportunity in the third inning to add to their 3-0 lead. With one out, Lennon Salazar tripled down the leftfield line. Next, Brody Brooks hit a sharp ground ball to Jay Murai at shortstop, and Salazar went Jaxon Kalish came on in relief and got Mikey Wong to fly out to right-fielder Lennon Salazar to end the game and send El Segundo to Williamsport for the Little League World Series. The field celebration was epic, including a Gatorade bath for Manager Danny Boehle.

Afterward, the team posed for photos with their Little League West Region banner and circled the field as the throng of fans in the stands celebrated. The stage was not too big,

Purrfect Companions

Panda

Kitten Rescue rescues cats and kittens from a variety of situations. Most are fostered in our volunteers' homes until we can find permanent homes for them. Young or old, tabby or calico, we care for orphaned and abandoned kittens that need to be bottle-fed around the clock, moms with litters, cats that need socialization, and sick or injured animals. When they are finally ready for their forever home, we will help match you with the purr-fect one. When you adopt, you save a life... and in turn enrich your own.

Panda is a smart, beautiful, inquisitive, and happy girl who loves to play and climb trees. She is affectionate, funny, and very pleasant to have around. Her original "parents" can no longer care for her; one passed away and the other who had a devastating stroke can no longer live at home. Panda is a healthy cat who has many good years remaining to be someone's cherished friend. She deserves a good home; if possible, would love to stay with her brother, Bear.

Bear is a shy, yet affectionate guy who is well behaved and loves his sister, Panda. They would like to stay together, if possible, but either way they are ready to start new lives. Bear is a sweet, healthy cat who is waiting for a new loving home and would be a wonderful addition to your family.

Mostaccioli is a sweet, friendly, confident guy who purrs to the touch and loves to get showered with affection from his people. He will frequently approach you, looking for quality hug time, joyfully meowing for more. With a curious gentle nature, he explores his surroundings as he gets comfortable. Mostaccioli is an active and engaging player but is not an alpha or dominant type. After growing up with very active brothers, he is a non-dominant boy who meets other animal friends with a welcoming spirit. If a balanced energy boy with lots of love to give is your type, Mostaccioli is the kitty for you. Due to his age and activity level, he will need to be adopted with a buddy or to a home with an active companion animal. His brothers Strozzapreti, Gemelli and Antimony all would be terrific matches with Mostaccioli.

Sassy is an affable older cat who loves to play and spend time in the same room as her people. When laying on the bed, she will happily run over to cuddle next to you and get in some chin scratches. A vocal girl, she will let you know when she wants attention and will keep you on a schedule. Sassy takes to new people very quickly, especially when they have a treat for her. She prefers a quiet home with spots by the window for her to ponder outside. Sassy's previous owner surrendered her to the shelter after owning her for ten years. Sassy is ready to find another home that will give her more of the attention she deserves.

These cats and kittens are available for adoption through Kitten Rescue, one of the largest cat rescue groups in Southern California. All our kitties are spayed/neutered, microchipped, tested for FeLV and FIV, dewormed and current on their vaccinations. For additional information and to see these or our other kittens and cats, please check our website www.kittenrescue.org.
