Camping in Public Banned Citywide

By Rob McCarthy

El Segundo will follow the lead of 14 California cities and ban camping and sleeping in public areas. The Council on Tuesday implemented stricter measures to balance public safety and coax homeless residents and transients to use shelter beds and social services instead of living on the street.

Now, camping in public, including sleeping in a vehicle or camper parked on a street, is forbidden within the city limits. The broader ban is modeled after one in Grants Pass, Oregon, which won a legal challenge this summer at the U.S. Supreme Court. The cities of Long Beach, Hemet in Riverside County, and Vista in San Diego have also enacted camping bans since the Grants Pass decision.

The council voted 4-0 to expand a narrower nuisance ordinance that restricted overnight camping in public parks, parking lots, and the beach. Under the new camping ban, anyone caught sleeping in a public area between 10 p.m. and 6 a.m. will be cited and could face fines and possible jail time for a third offense in one year. Penalties range from a $1,000 fine to six months in jail or a 30-day ban from the property.

That includes sleeping in vehicles and campers parked on city streets, though public driveways are exempt from the restriction. Examples of camping include tents, sleeping bags, and storing belongings on public property. It's now illegal to block a sidewalk or public right-of-way in El Segundo. Personal belongings can be removed with a 24-hour notice and held in storage. The ordinance gives a person whose belongings are moved 30 days to provide proof of ownership and claim them.

Justices ruled on June 28 that outlawing camping in public parks and other spaces was legal and that the approach taken by the southern Oregon city had merit. The court noted that Grants Pass tried to persuade people living in tents at public parks to move into shelters and take advantage of social service programs.

The Supreme Court also ended a requirement that shelter beds must be available for a city or county to enforce a camping ban. Based on a January census, South Bay's homeless population sits at 5,428 people. Volunteers who went out over three nights in January counted fewer unsheltered people than in 2023. El Segundo's permanent homeless population is small compared to its neighbors though it fluctuates with transients, according to the city attorney's office that drafted the revision to the nuisance ordinance.

"For the first time in years, the number of people sleeping on our streets is down, and the

Additional information can be found at www.bit.ly/southbayvshate.

Stern, Chair of the Coalition. "Through these special programs and activities, we welcome everyone to stand with us in solidarity against hate and discrimination in all its forms. We hope you will attend these programs to learn, support each other, and bring our community together in kindness and peace."

"United Against Hate Week is a powerful reminder that everyone can do something to stand up to hate, and it starts with making a daily commitment to not allowing or perpetuating racism, homophobia, anti-Asian, anti-Black, or any form of hate that only serves to divide us. It is inspiring to see the organizations within South Bay Community Coalition Against Hate and

Four considerations as you save for college

There are several savings options as you and your future college student prepare for the costs of college.

WHEN YOU ADD UP THE COSTS of raising a child, education looms large. “Four years at a public in-state college is projected to cost $47,152 today;”¹ says Richard Polimeni, head of Education Savings Programs at Merrill. At a private college, that total could hit nearly $169,000¹, and at the most elite schools you could spend far more. “You can expect tuition costs to rise by about five percent each year,” he adds. That’s why it’s important to start saving as early as you can. “Ideally, you want your savings to pay for a larger portion of the costs, so you or your child can borrow less.”

“Start by setting up automatic monthly contributions to an account earmarked for college,” Polimeni suggests. Then, as freshman year approaches, you can look for ways to fill in the gaps. Contribution limits, tax benefits, and other factors differ across the four major college savings options, including a 529 savings plan, a 529 prepaid tuition plan, a Coverdell Education Savings Account, and UTMA/UGMA custodial accounts created under the Uniform Gifts to Minors Act/Uniform Transfers to Minors Act. Consider a conversation with your advisor about which options best align to your family’s overall financial plan.

Make the most of tax benefits

“There are various federal income tax provisions that not only encourage people to set aside funds to pay for higher education costs but could also help offset some of those expenses,” says the Chief Investment Office (“CIO”) National Wealth Strategies

Team for Merrill and Bank of America Private Bank. Those include tax credits for higher education expenses and a deduction for student loan interest. What’s more, you can withdraw funds from individual retirement accounts to cover eligible college costs without incurring additional taxes for early withdrawals, but it’s better to leave those funds invested for your long-term goals, the CIO notes. For more on these tax rules, ask your advisor for the CIO’s Wealth Strategy Report: Tax Provisions Related to Higher Education Expenses, June 2023.

Final stretch? Fill in the gaps ...

On average, families cover only 54% of college costs with savings and the parents’ and student’s income.² Another 26% comes from scholarships and grants, with loans covering 18% (friends and relatives kick in the rest).² That means that in the final run-up to college, you may want to look into one or more of these options:

Apply for federal student aid: Start by filling out the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA), which you can do beginning October 1 of your child’s senior year in high school. “Everyone should apply for federal student loans and grants, even if you think you won’t qualify,” says Polimeni. Your aid eligibility doesn’t hinge on your income alone, although it is a significant factor. Financial aid awards, which often take the form of student loans, take into account the

Eagles Prepping for League Schedule

Story and Photos by Gregg McMullin

The El Segundo Eagles have been preparing for their respective league schedules by playing non-league games. In the past the Eagles competed in the Pioneer League but starting this season they no longer are locked into that competitive league. For example, the boy’s water polo team’s ride to an undefeated CIF championship season propelled the five-time defending Pioneer League champions into the Bay League. Conversely, the football team’s failure to advance to the playoffs for several seasons went from the Pioneer League to the Ocean League.

Perhaps the team that could struggle the most is the girls’ volleyball team. Their success a few seasons ago, which led them to a CIF quarter-final appearance, sent the program into the Bay League. That means the Eagles will face an arduous league schedule with three nationally ranked teams waiting.

Since the girls’ flag football team is in its first season in the Pioneer League, it’s too early to tell their playoff position.

Football Team Gets Ready for Homecoming with Win over South Torrance

The Eagles football schedule is unique this season, with just four home games. To ensure the scheduling of the Homecoming and Senior Appreciation games, those contests were moved up in the schedule. Typically, those games are played later in the season, including Friday night’s Homecoming game. The Eagles used their dominating performance against the South Torrance Spartans to help prepare them for their Homecoming game.

The Eagles used a strong running game along with special teams to defeat the Spartans 16-7. The defense continued to show how much they’ve improved over last season by implementing an organized, more simplified

The Substance: Vanity Fares Poorly in this Multi-Sensory Stunner

By Morgan Rojas for Cinemacy

Youth is a hot commodity in Hollywood. Once you lose it, you can never get it back. Everyone ages, of course, but if you're a fading A-List celebrity, one forehead wrinkle can be the difference between bankable and broke. In the new body horror film, The Substance, French filmmaker Coralie Fargeat explores the toxic repercussions of ageism and body image. Bordering on fetishism when it comes to the film industry's obsession with beauty, Fargeat's film takes a stand against this demoralizing, anti-feminist treatment of women's bodies. In the ultimate power move, The Substance is a graphic and gory cinematic rallying cry that aims to upend the effects of toxic beauty culture. In theaters nationwide on Friday, September 20th.

Demi Moore plays Elizabeth Sparkle, a Jane Fonda-type who has made a career for herself as an actor-turned-fitness personality. Despite having a star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame and her own aerobic morning show, Elizabeth knows her time in the spotlight is running out. She sees her life begin to play out in the past tense, picking up on the not-so-subtle cues from her boss, Harvey (Dennis Quaid), with phrases like "you were great". Despite her legendary status in the industry, she can't avoid the inevitable. She will be aged out of Hollywood. If becoming old makes one invisible, regaining youth is the only way to feel desired. Luckily, there's a drug for that.

A chance encounter leads Elizabeth to discover a miracle drug that claims to be the fountain of youth. One injection of "the substance" is all it takes for her to become reborn as the gorgeous, twenty-something Sue (Margaret Qualley). Blinded by this promise of a younger self, Elizabeth acquires and injects the neon-green liquid into her body. After a demonic exorcism-like process, Sue is born and she is beautiful. Her long limbs, silky hair, and clear porcelain skin stand in stark contrast to Elizabeth's aging body.

Taking the substance comes with a non-negotiable rule: Remember, you are one. Therefore, the time between Elizabeth and Sue needs to be split equally. For one week, the world gets Elizabeth, the next week they get Sue. While the women take turns as sentient beings, their counterpart lays unconscious on the bathroom floor, being fed through a tube until it's time to wake up. Things go according to plan, in the beginning at least. Both Elizabeth and Sue are respectful of the schedule and Sue quickly becomes Hollywood's budding darling. The divide between Elizabeth's hopelessness and resentment and Sue's optimism and success escalates, eventually reaching a breaking point. What follows is a multi-sensory monstrosity as both women battle to break free from their repression and regain control of their womanhood.

Behind the riotous visual elements of The Substance, director Coralie Fargeat crafts a deeply personal message that resonates. Portraying Elizabeth Sparkle is Demi Moore's latest crowning achievement. Her theatrical skills and comedic timing are on full display and are especially mesmerizing toward the film's second half. Margaret Qualley as Sue is another perfect casting choice. Her shift from a Bambi-like demeanor to a greedy it-girl is methodical and devilishly fun to watch.

Amplifying the onscreen visuals are a pitch-perfect score and sound design. What starts as slightly campy in tone, the sound eventually morphs into a hypnotic and brutal sonic experience. ASMR tingles, especially at the very beginning of the film, add another layer of full-body chills.

As the credits rolled after nearly two and a half hours, my jaw was practically on the floor. What had I just witnessed?! With The Substance, Coralie Fargeat cements herself as a new visionary and bold voice in modern cinema. The Substance is defiant, deranged, and demonic... and I loved every bloody second of it.

If Something Happens to Me by Alex Finlay

By Kristen Morell, Librarian

This month I will be reviewing If Something Happens to Me by Alex Finlay. If you like books that are suspenseful and fit the mystery/thriller genres, you may enjoy this novel. It's been five years since Ryan Richardson's life was forever changed one night. The night was a bit of a blur, but he remembers a few key details. Ryan remembers hands yanking him out of his car and then shortly after he hears his girlfriend Ali's loud screams as she too is taken from the car. Ryan is automatically made to be a suspect since there is no trace of Ali or their vehicle. However, thanks to the lack of evidence and having a good attorney, Ryan is never officially charged. Not being charged doesn't stop the online trolls and podcasters from keeping his name out of the picture. Everything changes when Ryan goes on a summer trip abroad with his law-school classmates to Italy. Ryan receives a call from his dad, Ali's car has been found. The car was submerged in a lake in his hometown and two dead men along with a cryptic note are found inside. The note found in the car reads, "If something happens to me..." Meanwhile, in Europe, Ryan can't believe his eyes, he sees the man from the night Ali was taken. Ryan's determination to find out what happened to Ali takes him throughout Europe from the hills of Tuscany to a rural village in the UK, to the streets of Paris all the while he doesn't realize his fate lies with a young sheriff working in Kansas. To find out what happens next, place If Something Happens to Me by Alex Finlay on hold at www.elsegundolibrary.org.

size of your family (are you sending more than one child to college?), the cost of the college and your child's year in school. If necessary, students should consider using federal direct subsidized loans before other types of loans as they generally have lower interest rates and more favorable repayment terms.

Borrow against your investments: A Loan Management Account® (LMA® account) from Bank of America is a line of credit that allows you to use the value of your eligible investments as collateral. "You can borrow against your account without disrupting your long-term investment plan, and your interest rate will be lower than most other borrowing options," says Patrick Bitter, a credit and banking product executive at Bank of America. Plus, you can get access to a loan quickly. "When you're borrowing against your investments, you can set that up within a couple of days," says Bitter. The LMA also offers flexibility; it can be used as needed, with no defined repayment time frame. Just keep in mind that if the value of your investments drops sharply, you may have to repay the loan, move more money into your account or sell some of your stocks or bonds, Bitter adds.

"Your financial advisor can help you evaluate all of these options and determine which might make the most sense for you," says Polimeni. One more tip: "Involve your child in the process," he adds. "It's a great way to kickstart their financial education and it will help them understand the financial impact of considering one school over another."

About United Against Hate Week

UAHW emerged from a United Against Hate poster campaign created by San Francisco Bay Area cities in response to white supremacist rallies held in Berkeley and San Francisco in 2017. The original 13 communities were convened in 2018 by Not in Our Town, a national anti-hate organization and partner in the LA vs Hate campaign, and committed to an annual week of action and awareness. Since its inception, UAHW is recognized by communities throughout California and the United States, including by the County of Los Angeles, where faith-based groups, LGBTQ+ and human rights organizations, and other community-based agencies and organizations provide local and regional programming and grow annual participation.

About South Bay Community Coalition Against Hate

The SBCCAHA was formed to address the increase in incidents of hate crimes in our communities and is a collaboration of thought leaders representing cities, schools, businesses, faith-based organizations and other community partners who come together to reduce all acts of hatred. This includes acts of bias, disrespect, discrimination, verbal and physical abuse, harassment, threats, defacing of property, violence, and the creation of environments of fear against any person, group, community, or population. The SBCCAHA will continue to elevate our collective consciousness across our communities through education, training, and community engagement.

(BPT) - Are you one of the 185 million Americans who garden? If not, it's time to consider joining the crowd. Gardening can be an incredibly rewarding hobby, especially if you grow your own produce. Growing your own produce guarantees you have the freshest possible fruits and vegetables at the best price. According to a recent U.S. Census Household Pulse Survey analysis, the average household spending on groceries is $1,080 a month. You can quickly curb your grocery bill by growing your own food. The National Gardening Association found that a 600-square-foot garden, which costs about $70 per year, can yield 300 pounds of fresh produce a year, worth $600. The return on investment is well worth the time, expense and effort you put into cultivating your garden. Depending on where you shop, your selection of produce can be limited. However, when you garden, you're in control of what you grow, so take the opportunity to expand your palate. With just a few packets of seeds, you can grow a rainbow of flavor in your backyard! For example, Ferry-Morse, one of the leading and oldest gardening seed brands in the U.S., has a new Colossal Collection of seeds that will take your gardening to new heights this season. The collection features six seed varieties that will grow vegetables double the average size - or double the yield - for extra flavor, value and bragging rights! The collection includes The Big Dill Cucumber, Jack's Magic Pole Beans, Super Nacho Jalapeño Peppers, Beefed Up Beefsteak Tomato, Sasquatch Butternut Squash and Cinderella's Ride Pumpkins. Not only do they taste good, but they also provide the most bang for your buck - for example, one pack of The Big Dill Cucumber seeds can grow up to $250 worth of fresh cucumbers. To start your culinary adventure in your garden, visit FerryMorse.com/Collections/Colossal-Seed. Skip the gym and get your hands dirty instead! Tending to your garden is a labor of love and an engaging workout. As you nurture your garden, you'll have to dig, plant, weed, water and harvest. Before you know it, you'll have gotten your exercise in for the day and be one step closer to enjoying the fruits (and vegetables) of your labor. Best of all, you get to do this all in the fresh air under sunny skies! Happy gardening! *

Luke Griffiths comes up with a save in the fourth period against Irvine in the Eagles 9-8 win.

system. The defense had four sacks and an interception.

After a scoreless first quarter, the Eagles took advantage of a fumble recovery at the South Torrance 13-yard line by Isaiah Rodriguez. Three plays later, Cole Castillo followed his line into the end zone for a 3-yard T.D. On the touchdown run the Spartans were assessed a major penalty that was assessed on the ensuing kickoff. Eagle's kicker Chase Mattoon executed a perfectly placed on-sides kick that went the required ten-yard distance. Mattoon was the first to jump on the ball and the Eagles took over at the Spartan's 37-yard line.

The offense went back to work on a short field. The South Torrance defense held the Eagles out of the end zone and Mattoon kicked the first of three field goals; this one from 25-yards away.

With time winding down in the second quarter sophomore quarterback Ryan Wiacek was faced with third and eight. He saw an opening to rush for the first down. Once through the line, he raced down the right sideline 60 yards for a first down. On fourth and six, Mattoon connected on a 42-yard field goal with forty-two seconds remaining in the half to make it 13-0. The half ended on a sack of Spartan QB Chase Spahr by Eagle defensive end Jake Danford.

The Eagles took their 13-0 lead into halftime realizing they had had their way with the Spartans. The offense rolled up over 160 yards on the ground, while the defense limited the Spartans to 90 total yards of offense.

Near the end of the third quarter, the Spartans were driving deep into El Segundo territory with a 12-play drive; the drive leaked into the fourth quarter. On third and ten from the El Segundo 12-yard line, the Spartans Q.B. threw an interception. Shane Mossman stepped in front of Braden McCormick, the intended Spartan receiver, near the goal line and returned it to the El Segundo 12-yard line.

On the next Spartans possession, they went 52 yards in seven plays to score a touchdown on Seth Blevins' 3-yard run. This narrowed the score to 13-7. With 2:08 to play, Mattoon kicked his third field goal from 33 yards away for a final 16-7 score.

Cole Castillo had a big night rushing the ball for 133 yards and a T.D. The lanes were opened thanks to the line play of seniors Isaac Beas and Xavier Ramos, juniors Preston Greaser and Samiuela Vaikona, and freshman Gio Blanco.

The Eagles celebrate their Homecoming game Friday night at 7 p.m. against the Torrance Tartars. The Homecoming Parade down Main Street is slated to start at 5 p.m. This year's theme is "Ancient Empires and Wonders of Gundo." The seniors will represent the Roman Empire, the juniors of the Babylonian Empire, the Mongolian Empire's sophomores, and the Egyptian Empire's freshmen. Each class will also choose an El Segundo landmark to represent and incorporate on their respective floats.

Water Polo Team

Head coach Nila Ward knows what it'll take to compete in the challenging Bay League, so scheduling non-league matches against top-notch programs was a priority. The days of overpowering some of the Pioneer League teams that weren't as competitively as good as the Eagles are over.

The Eagles played the Irvine Vaqueros in a non-league matchup at home and came away with a hotly contested 9-8 win. It may not have been the Eagles' best-played game because of all the unforced errors and difficulty with their passing, but when they needed a steal or a goal down the stretch, the Eagles stepped it up.

The Eagles forced the Vaqueros into low-percentage shot attempts in the opening period. On several attempts, their shots clanked off the side and top of the goalposts. On the other hand, the Eagles had clear shot attempts blocked or saved by goalie Neil Maddox. With two minutes gone, Cooper Albano found an opening inside and fired it in for a goal. Austin Miller took a pass and weaved his way inside for a goal to make it 2-0. The second period revealed plenty of miscues by each team due to defensive efforts. With 2:09 remaining Cooper Albano lobbed a high pass for Hayden Abbott who timed the pass at the pinnacle and fired it into the net for a 3-1 lead. Sutton Fisk gave the Eagles a 4-1 lead with a goal with forty-two seconds remaining in the first half.

Austin Miller scored from close in early in the third period to extend the Eagles' lead. The Eagles then benefitted from an exclusion opportunity when Albano found Miller open for another clear shot and a 6-2 lead.

Irvine then made their bid for a comeback by scoring five of the next seven goals to close the gap. With the Eagles clinging to an 8-7 lead in a wild fourth quarter, the Vaqueros' Zach Belleveau scored the tying goal with 3:22 remaining in regulation. The Eagles worked for a shot with less than thirty seconds remaining. Sutton Fisk made the most of the opportunity with the game-winning goal with twelve seconds left.

The Eagles took their unbeaten (7-0) record on the road to face a familiar foe, the Downey Vikings. The Eagles had defeated the Vikings five consecutive times before their second meeting of this young season. The Vikings dominated the first period by racing to a 4-1 lead and then held on for a 9-7 victory over the Eagles. It marked the Eagles' first loss in 39 games, considering their 32-0 CIF championship season in 2023.

The Eagles faced the Notre Dame (Sherman Oaks) Knights yesterday and host Crean Lutheran next Tuesday and Santa Monica next Wednesday. Both games are slated for 3:30 p.m.

Girls Volleyball Welcomed to Bay League

The Eagles moved from the Pioneer League into the rugged Bay League. In their opening match against the Palos Verdes Sea Kings they met a team that showed why they are one of the top three teams in the Bay League and a top ten Division 1 team. The Sea Kings mauled the Eagles in three games: 25-2, 25-17, and 25-18.

The sweep was a rude awakening for a young Eagles team that has seen some success this season. The Sea Kings overpowered the Eagles at the net with their size. In the first game, P.V. scored the first 16 points, and the Eagles had no answer. In the second game, El Segundo improved on their net play and returns and made a run at their opponents but came up short. In the third game, the Eagles got better and better as the game went on. Kate Summers' dig started a long rally, and the Eagles won the point. Her ace knotted the game at 8-8. Macy Ludwig, Catherine Reed, Sarina Waite, and Sydney Neely played well for the Eagles.

The schedule doesn't get any easier with a home match with Torrance and Redondo this past Tuesday and Wednesday, respectfully, and host the twelfth ranked (nationally) Mira Costa Mustangs next Tuesday at 3:30 p.m.

Flag Football Team Gets Epic Win

The Eagles traveled to Culver City to take on the Centaurs in a non-league game. The Centaurs are in their second season and have experience, but the start-up Eagles showed that their first-year experience was enough. The result was a 38-6 win for the Eagles, who improved to 3-2 on the season.

Allie Stevenson led the Eagles' offense by passing for four touchdowns, including a 40-yarder to Olivia McPherson, who also had a rushing touchdown. Ava Gutierrez led the Eagles with six receptions, including one for a T.D. Nyla Cho and Sage Guy each caught touchdown passes, too.

As good as the offense was clicking, the defense was stellar under the tutelage of defensive coordinators Jessica Davis and Randall Moss. The Eagles had four interceptions, including one by Maggie Green, who returned one twenty yards for a touchdown. Nyla Cho used her speed and hounded the Centaur quarterback to make several sacks.

The Eagles travel to South Torrance today and are at home next Tuesday when they host West Torrance for a 4:30 p.m. game and honor their seniors. •

Cole Castillo rushed for 131 yards and a T.D. to lead the Eagles over South Torrance.

The Eagle's defense limited the Spartans' offense with gang tackling by #7 Sean Mossman, #12 Charles Juarez, and #20 Mason Gonzalez.

Thai Ginger Chicken with Yellow Jasmine Rice

Provided by Campbells Soup Corp.

Originally developed with Thai Flavor Infused Broth, we've updated this recipe to use Swanson® Chicken Broth, coconut milk and ginger for authentic Thai flavor. Chicken broth is pureed with jalapeño peppers and cilantro then stirred into coconut milk for a unique, complex flavor in a smooth velvety sauce. If you like some extra spice, leave in a few of the jalapeño seeds. Serve over jasmine rice to soak up every last drop.

Ingredients

- 1 cup uncooked jasmine rice
- 1/4 teaspoon ground turmeric
- 1 1/4 pounds skinless, boneless chicken breast halves, cut into thin strips
- 3 tablespoons canola oil
- 1 small eggplant, cut lengthwise in quarters, then crosswise into 1/2-inch-thick slices (about 2 cups)
- 1 large red bell pepper, cut into 2-inch-long strips (about 1 1/2 cups)
- 1 large onion, cut in half and cut into 1/2-inch-thick slices
- 2 cloves garlic
- 2 tablespoons minced peeled ginger root
- 3/4 cup unsweetened coconut milk
- 1/4 teaspoon cayenne pepper
- 3/4 cup Swanson® Chicken Broth or Swanson® Natural Goodness® Chicken Broth or Swanson® Organic Chicken Broth
- 2 jalapeño pepper, seeded and chopped
- 1 cup fresh whole cilantro leaves
- 1 teaspoon lemon zest

Directions

- Step 1: Prepare the rice according to the package directions, adding the turmeric to the cooking water.
- Step 2: Season the chicken as desired. Heat 1 tablespoon oil in a 12-inch skillet over medium-high heat. Add the chicken and cook until browned, stirring often. Remove the chicken from the skillet.
- Step 3: Heat the remaining oil in the skillet. Add the eggplant, red pepper and onion and cook for 5 minutes or until the vegetables are tender-crisp, stirring occasionally. Add the garlic and ginger and cook and stir for 1 minute. Add the coconut milk and cayenne pepper and heat to a boil. Reduce the heat to medium-low. Cook for 2 minutes, stirring occasionally.
- Step 4: Place the broth, jalapeño peppers and cilantro into a blender. Cover and blend until the mixture is smooth.
- Step 5: Stir the broth mixture in the skillet. Return the chicken to the skillet. Cook until the chicken is cooked through. Stir in the lemon zest. Season to taste. Serve the chicken mixture with the rice.

City Council

number of people in our shelters is up," Los Angeles County Supervisor Janice Hahn said. The focus on shelters has convinced people who are homeless by choice or displaced to get inside, she added.

Following the Supreme Court decision, Gov. Gavin Newsom made $3.3 billion available to cities from Proposition 1 for more behavioral health outreach and care to individuals experiencing mental health conditions and substance use disorders. The governor's executive order issued in July focused in particular on residents who are most seriously ill, vulnerable, or homeless. Voters narrowly approved Prop. 1 in the March primary election.

People experience homelessness for different reasons, not all of which are mental health or substance abuse, according to El Segundo's five-year plan for homelessness from 2018. There are chronically homeless defined as without permanent shelter for a year or more, and often with a disability condition.

People classified as recently homeless have lost their housing within the past year because of a change in employment, health, or a breakup or divorce. In some cases, their rental is sold or owner-occupied.

The report said transients include young people who are drawn to living at the beach for the summer and can be persuaded to return if housing and other resources are available elsewhere.

The last category includes individuals and families at imminent risk of becoming homeless. According to the five-year plan, providing meals, laundry, and groceries from a food pantry can sustain these people and prevent others from falling into homelessness.

El Segundo police officers are trained to respond to calls involving homeless residents and transient visitors. City staff working in code enforcement, parks and recreation, public works, and legal services act as eyes and ears in the homeless community for police follow-up and referral to caseworkers with PATH.

In a related action, the council decided that El Segundo Public Library needs a code of conduct that the police can enforce. The El Segundo Board of Library Trustees will adopt a set of rules which will be added to the city's municipal code. Recent instances of misbehavior and violations of the library's rules, some by members of the homeless population, prompted the city to take this action.

In other council action:

The city commended El Segundo High School alum Allison Reaser-Halverson for winning the Women's Decathlon World Championship.

The Council agreed to allow alcohol sales on a city-owned parking lot for the Sept. 28 Kiwanis Main Street Fair.

The School Board will meet in the City Council chambers while the school district offices are remodeled. Work is expected to be completed in August 2025. The school district will reimburse the city for staff time to produce and record the school board meetings at an estimated rate of $484 for a two-hour meeting.

Crews repairing a sinkhole on Grand Avenue discovered additional damage, which will raise the cost of the project by $100,000. The city will use general fund reserves to make the necessary repairs to a dislodged sewer pipe that wasn't part of the original bid.

The designs for the Teen Center were reviewed, and the council favored Option 2. It would slightly change the size of the basketball and multi-use courts and add courtside seating. The project cost, including a remodel inside the Teen Center, is estimated at $5 million. The Parks & Recreation Commission, a Parks Renovation Subcommittee, and a Teen Advisory Committee all liked Option 2. •

El Segundo Education Foundation

WHY SUPPORT ED!?

El Segundo's public schools receive approximately 50% less state funding per student, compared to Los Angeles Unified School District (LAUSD) and other states in the U.S.

WHO IS ED!?

- 501(c)(3) founded in 1983 by the community and local businesses
- Primary goal to raise $2 million annually to provide sustainable and consistent funding for ESUSD
- Benefits students, parents, teachers, and local businesses

STRONG SCHOOLS = SUCCESSFUL STUDENTS

With the loss of Federal and State funding for the 2024-2025 school year, ESUSD has asked Ed! to increase the Annual Grant to $2,000,000. The additional $200,000 is to support class size reduction in 4th and 5th grade as well as math classes in grades 6-12. The Annual Ed! Grant ensures all students consistently receive a high-level education and funds programs at ALL school sites (Eagles Nest, CSS, RSS, ESMS, ESHS, and Arena).

Safeguarding the community starts with reducing emissions.

As a proud member of the South Bay community, we're dedicated to keeping our employees and our neighbors safe. We test over 320,000 components at our refinery for emission levels and repair them if it's above that of a single marker. That's just one way we work to keep El Segundo one of the safest refineries in the country.
