South Bay Welcomes in the New Year

Nonprofit Celebrates Five Years of Work, Success in South Bay

By Cristian Vasquez

In November, the Lot to Spot celebrated alongside Lawndale and other South Bay area residents at Restoration Life Christian Church located on 147th Street and Larch Avenue. Directly across the street on Larch Avenue is the site of one of the nonprofit's next projects: an empty lot turned interim dog park that they hope to convert into green space for local residents.

"Community engagement for that will begin in 2014 and I believe the park should be open by late 2015," From Lot to Spot (FLTS) Founder and Executive Director Viviana Franco said. "The new park will be dog-friendly although there is not much demand for that in Lawndale--at least we did not hear that during the design process from the community."

The celebration was a small break from the usual busy schedule that the staff of FLTS encounters on a daily basis. Founded in response to the need for recreational space and the lack of accessible green space in low-income neighborhoods, FLTS aims at improving the quality of life of the residents via these open spaces.

"We have a huge issue that it takes five, six, seven or eight years to get a park in these communities and it's not fair," Franco said.

"You come out to these park-poor communities, you have some amazing engagement workshops and get them [residents] all excited and then have to wait for funding. You ask the kids in the community what they want in a park and when they finally come back, they [kids] are all grown up. That's not okay."

FLTS's unique approach involves absolute community engagement in designing what is best for each particular city's needs. All communities that FLTS works alongside with have their residents contribute ideas in developing healthy spaces. During the last five years, FLTS has worked tediously to convert vacant lots into urban spots. Working with The Trust for Public Land and with the City of Lawndale has led to successful projects in the past and has set up the upcoming project located on Larch Avenue.

"From Lot to Spot and The Trust For Public Land, together, have been working in the South Bay communities for awhile," Franco said. "We informed them [City of Lawndale] that we had a grant coming up and asked if they had a property or something that they wanted to build into a park space, so they did."

Community engagement for the dog park across the street from the church where FLTS celebrated its fifth year of community work will begin in January. Residents will be given a forum to provide ideas as to what they would like to see in the park space. The first meetings will take place in January, but dates are yet to be set. The goal is to have the park open by 2015. FLTS will not become involved with a project if it is not community designed. The group is committed to having the residents design the space because in the end it is an area they will use. "The City was okay with everything," Franco said. "It has been refreshing to have this support."

For the staff of FLTS, the benefits to these spaces are more than just of a physical nature. "When kids reconnect with nature in an urban environment, it opens their mind and allows for more creativity," Franco said.

Helping create these spaces today and in the future will be crucial for every community that FLTS has worked with and they hope to set a blueprint that can be followed by future generations. "We are creating a process manual for park builders, whether it be the Public Works department or the community, on how to identify these spaces that create networks in the community," Franco said. "It is about the green spaces and urban walking trials. It about learning how to build these spaces in a timely fashion and that they are cost-effective and sustainable." •

...friends will stand the test of time too!

It's time to get the grandfather clock checked and oiled. It's a beautiful way to tell time, but most of the day I use a wristwatch or cell phone.

Sunrises and sunsets are natural ways to mark time.

It's About Time!

When we speak about time we talk about the past, present or the future.

Read the clues to fill in the puzzle:

- one hundred years
- common way to tell time
- shows events in order of when they happened
- tool to keep track of activities, days and months
- fun way to capture a moment in time (item is dug up later)
- Baby _____ Year is full of energy to start the year
- there are 24 time _____ throughout the world
- _____ clock shows what time it is anywhere on the planet – often shown by a series of clocks on a panel
- something that isn't affected by the passage of time
- _____ Father Time is tired after working all year; he is often shown with a long beard, sundial and sickle
- the start of each morning, dawn
- time that has yet to pass
- period of time marked by important events
- parts of the year that mark the temperature and weather
- twenty-four hours

Clues for crossword puzzle:

Many kinds of clocks and watches have been invented through the years. A watch was even made for engineers to help them run the trains on time.

- _____ clock, tall standing clock with swinging pendulums
- _____ watch, timepiece you can wear to school
- _____ watch, great for measuring races
- _____ watch, can be underwater without being damaged
- _____ clock, hangs on the wall and sings a song every hour
- _____ watch, often on a chain and kept in a small pouch on vest

A Race Against Time!

Every day is packed with chores, activities and fun. Can you find the shortest way through this maze from morning wake-up to bedtime?

- Start at the star ★ wake up to a new day!
- Next, find your way to the morning activity.
- Then, go to the afternoon activity.
- Travel along to your evening activity.
- Finally, end your day at bedtime!

News for the 'City of Good Neighbors'

From City Clerk Norb Huber
HAPPY NEW YEAR!

It's time to reflect on the past and look forward to the future. It's time to evaluate how we did last year and look at what changes we want to make in 2014. It's time to set goals and try to break bad habits. It's time to think about what is really important to us in life and set priorities to put those people and things at the top of our list of things to take care of. Yes, it's that time of year. A fresh start, a new beginning, another chance to do things better, these thoughts all come to mind as we hit January 1st. So much of the time during the year we are occupied by our duties. If we are fortunate enough to be employed, we go to work to provide money to live on. If we are blessed to have a family, we take care of the needs of our children, our spouses or our elder parents. If we want to stay healthy, we are concerned about eating healthy food and getting some exercise. After all of our "daily duties" are taken care of, we may still have time to choose what to do with "my time". Over the years, I have found that I get the greatest satisfaction and real joy from giving my time to others. By volunteering at our churches, at service clubs, at community events we give back to others. It may just be helping our neighbor with a chore. It may be seeing a need and doing something about it. By being involved, we become good neighbors. By giving up our selfish, lazy, or apathetic ways, we find a real satisfaction from knowing we helped someone or our community.

My 2014 resolutions will include a resolve to look for more ways in which to help others. I want to take advantage of opportunities to use my talents and resources to help make Hawthorne a caring community of good neighbors. Will you join me? There are many ways to volunteer. There are many civic clubs and organizations that could use your help. Our neighborhood and homeowners associations are always looking for more members to participate. Let's make 2014 a year of giving to others. (If you wish to volunteer for or help with a Hawthorne club or event, please contact me at 310-292-6714 or at norbhuber@gmail.com)

2014 HAWTHORNE WISH LIST

Here are a few things that would be great if they were to happen this year.

I wish . . .

1. The high unemployment rate in Hawthorne would go down.
2. The Hawthorne Police Department would have a safe year and crime in our city would continue to decline a plan to redevelop the Hawthorne Mall be put in motion.
3. All of the homeless or nearly homeless people living on the streets of Hawthorne would find a warm place to sleep and a place to eat.
4. The store owners who had their businesses burn up in the Hawthorne Blvd. fire prior to Christmas would rebuild and return to success as soon as possible.
5. All of the students in our public, charter and private schools would return to a safe and peaceful environment in which to learn and grow to become productive citizens in this ever changing world
6. The newly elected mayor and city council would find the resources and the skills needed to lead Hawthorne in the direction of economic development.
7. All of the residents of our fine city would be able to avoid those irritations like parking tickets, red light camera tickets, illegal fireworks exploding over their homes, getting rear ended while stopped at a stop sign, or spending hundreds of dollars on the lottery and never winning.

No matter what 2014 brings, I wish you and all of my good neighbors in Hawthorne the very best. (Don't cry, we all get a parking ticket eventually if we live here long enough.)

Lawndale's Last City Council Meeting of 2013; Nominations Open for Mayoral and Council Elections

By Nancy Peters

The Lawndale City Council met for the last time in 2013, a year of change for the City. From a changing of the guard at the Sheriff's Department assignments to the new Fire Department Battalion Chief to the death of the Mayor, it was an eventful time. So the last meeting only touched on a few topics to close out the year.

A public hearing took place to receive input for a change to the trash collection fees from Consolidated Disposal Services for the 2014 annual adjustment built-in to the contract at the rate of 2.4% or less than $0.43 cents for most commercial trash and approximately $0.50 for the 35-gallon residential container. The increase will cover fuel, labor and equipment costs. The actual cost calculator is available with a link on the City website home page. There was one residential letter of protest received in the City Clerk's office. The Council voted unanimously to accept the change effective Jan. 1, 2014.

A public hearing took place for the change to building codes to be in compliance with County and State codes for energy-efficient building standards that lead to a zero-net energy footprint, meet accessibility standards for Americans with Disabilities Act code requirements, and application to CALGreen standards for modifications or additions to any existing construction. The cost of the new building codes is approximately $2,290 and $11 per month when amortized over 30 years, but the savings in energy efficiency is $6,200 or $27 per month, for a net savings of $16 per month. The Council unanimously adopted the ordinance to match building codes in the municipal code with all County and State building codes as delineated in the Los Angeles County California Green Building Code, the Building, Electrical, Mechanical, Plumbing, Fire and Residential codes, and the California Green Building Standards Code, effective Jan. 1, 2014.

The last public hearing was to present the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) for 2014 in the amount of $306,000 to be spent on senior citizen nutrition programs and also to be allocated for additional street repair projects to be completed throughout the year. The CDBG funds are earmarked at 15% for special programs and the balance may be spent on specific projects that the City deems necessary when general funds are not available.

The Assistant City Clerk announced that the nomination cycle for the upcoming election began on Monday, Dec. 16 and will continue through 6 p.m. on Jan. 13, 2014. Any citizen who is a resident of Lawndale and a registered voter may cast their name in nomination for the municipal election on Tuesday, April 8, 2014. At that time, a Mayor of Lawndale will be elected for a two-year term and two seats on the City Council will be filled for a four-year term. In addition, an election will be held for City Clerk on a four-year term. Nomination paperwork can be obtained from the City Clerk's office by appointment. Call (310) 973-3213 and Pamela Giammarino can provide the information.

The municipal code was changed with an approval of the new ordinance that adds Chapter 9.30 prohibiting the sale, distribution and use of psychoactive bath salts, psychoactive herbal incense and other synthetic drugs. These drugs are available on the street and at other locations under the guise of "legal" purchases, but are extremely harmful if ingested.

The Council recognized the speakers at the podium, in particular a Master's degree candidate at George Washington University who is a local resident educated in the Lawndale Elementary School District. He voiced his support of the Youth Advisory Committee of which he had been a member when he attended Redondo Union High School. As a major in political programs, he stated that this kind of program can prepare students for a life of public service. Youth are encouraged to submit their applications through the City Clerk's office for consideration and appointment to the Youth Advisory Committee.

The volunteers for the Santa Sleigh during the holiday season worked more than 243 hours assisting with all the children who were visited by the sleigh.

The Public Safety report included a request for any information about the white Cadillac involved in a hit and run of a bicyclist at 149th Street and Hawthorne Boulevard on Dec. 4. The driver left the scene of the accident in which the young rider was severely injured and hospitalized. The ongoing investigation will continue until the suspect is apprehended.

The City Manager advised that any code violations should be reported to his office with as much information as possible so that violators can be investigated and advised to make corrections.

The Lawndale City Council will hold the first meeting of 2014 on Monday, Jan. 6 at 6:30 p.m. in the Council Chambers. •

Why Was Your Credit Card Transaction Denied?

By Jason Alderman

We've all had these moments: You're at a romantic restaurant and the evening went great. But just as you and your date are readying to leave, an embarrassed waiter appears and whispers, "I'm afraid your card has been denied." So much for romance.

so learn your issuer's policy before attempting one.

Other common triggers for credit card denials include:

Outdated or incorrect personal information – for example, when you're asked to enter your zip code at a gas station. Always alert your card issuer whenever you move.

Also, make sure you don't mistype your credit card number, expiration date, security code, address or other identifying information.

Expired card. Always check the card's expiration date. You should receive a replacement card several weeks beforehand. It's often mailed in a plain envelope, so be careful what you toss. If the new card doesn't arrive, contact the issuer to ensure it hasn't been stolen.

You've reached your credit limit. For the sake of your credit score, try to keep your overall and individual card credit utilization ratios (credit available divided by amount used) as low as possible – ideally below 50, or even 30, percent.

A temporary hold has been placed on your card – say for a rental car or hotel reservation – that puts you over your credit limit. Always ask whether a hold will be placed, how much and for how long, and factor that into your remaining balance calculations.

You miss a monthly payment. Card issuers may let this slide once or twice, depending on your history with them, but eventually if you don't make at least the minimum payment due, your card will probably be frozen.

The primary cardholder made changes on the account and forgot to tell other authorized users – for example, reporting his or her card stolen, lowering credit limits or removing you from the account.

On last thought: If your card is denied, don't shoot the messenger – he's only following instructions. Rather, call the card issuer and find out what happened. Embarrassment aside, it's nice to know that someone is trying to ensure your card isn't being used fraudulently. •

The same thing can happen at the grocery store, when shopping online or worst of all, when you're traveling and don't have a back-up means of payment. Why do credit card transactions get denied and what can you do to prevent it?

Banks and other credit card issuers have developed complex algorithms that track credit card behavior and highlight unusual usage patterns commonly associated with card theft or fraud.

"Unusual activities" that jump out to card issuers include:

When you ordinarily use your card only rarely, but suddenly make several charges in one day.

Making multiple purchases at the same store (or website) within a few minutes of each other.

An unusually large purchase – say for a major appliance, furniture or jewelry. Alert your card issuer before making large purchases.

One small purchase quickly followed by larger ones. Thieves will test the waters to see if a small purchase is denied; if it's not, they'll quickly run up major charges.

Exceeding daily spending limits. Some cards limit how much you can charge per day, even if you have sufficient remaining credit.

Making large purchases outside your geographic area.

Multiple out-of-town purchases in short succession. (Always tell your card issuer when you'll be traveling.)

International purchases, whether online or while traveling. In fact, some card issuers automatically decline international transactions because of the high potential for fraud,

Eye Diseases May Go Unnoticed in Individuals with Diabetes

(BPT) - With more than 8 percent of the American population having been diagnosed with diabetes, regular dilated eye exams are critical to prevent vision loss.

Diabetes is a disease that interferes with the body's ability to use and store sugar, which can cause many health problems. Too much sugar in the blood can cause damage throughout the body, including the eyes. Over time, diabetes affects the circulation system of the retina, the light-sensitive lining at the back of the eye.

"Many eye problems show no symptoms until they are in an advanced stage, and that is why we recommend that people with diabetes in particular have an eye examination by a doctor of optometry at least once a year," says Doctor of Optometry Tina MacDonald, a Certified Diabetes Educator and a member of the AOA's Health Promotions Committee. "When the eyes are dilated, an eye doctor is able to examine the retina for signs of diabetic eye disease and prescribe a course of treatment to help preserve an individual's sight."

Only 32 percent of respondents are aware that diabetic eye disease often has no visual signs or symptoms, according to the AOA's 2013 American Eye-Q consumer survey. Additionally, only 39 percent know that diabetes can be detected through a comprehensive eye examination.

People with diabetes are at a significantly higher risk for developing eye diseases including glaucoma, cataracts and diabetic retinopathy, one of the most serious sight-threatening complications of diabetes.

Those with diabetes are 40 percent more likely to suffer from glaucoma than people without. Glaucoma is a group of eye diseases characterized by damage to the optic nerve resulting in gradual peripheral vision loss.

Many people without diabetes will get cataracts, but those with the disease are 60 percent more likely to develop this eye condition. People with diabetes also tend to get cataracts at a younger age and have them progress faster. With cataracts, the eye's clear lens clouds, blocking light and interfering with normal vision.

Diabetic retinopathy is a condition that causes progressive damage to the retina. Damage to the tiny blood vessels that nourish the retina causes swelling of retinal tissue and clouding of vision. If left untreated, diabetic retinopathy may lead to blindness.

Since early warning signs of diabetic eye and vision disorders are often subtle or undetected, the AOA recommends that high-risk individuals look for initial signs and contact a doctor of optometry if any of the following symptoms are present:

- Sudden blurred or double vision
- Trouble reading or focusing on near-work
- Eye pain or pressure
- A noticeable aura or dark ring around lights or illuminated objects
- Visible dark spots in vision or images of flashing lights

In addition to having a yearly, comprehensive eye exam, the AOA offers the following tips to help prevent or slow the development of diabetic eye disease:

- Take prescribed medication as directed
- Keep glycohemoglobin test results consistently under 7 percent
- Stick to a healthy diet that includes omega 3s, fresh fruits and vegetables
- Exercise regularly
- Control high blood pressure
- Avoid alcohol and smoking

Cassini Sees Saturn and Its Moons in Holiday Dress

By Bob Eklund

This holiday season, feast your eyes on images of Saturn and two of its most fascinating moons, Titan and Enceladus, in a care package from NASA's Cassini spacecraft. All three bodies are dressed and dazzling in this special package assembled by Cassini's imaging team. The new images are available online:

- <http://www.nasa.gov/cassini>
- <http://saturn.jpl.nasa.gov>
- <http://ciclops.org>

"During this, our 10th holiday season at Saturn, we hope that these images from Cassini remind everyone the world over of the significance of our discoveries in exploring such a remote and beautiful planetary system," said Carolyn Porco, Cassini imaging team leader, based at the Space Science Institute, Boulder, Colorado. "Happy holidays from all of us on Cassini."

Two views of Enceladus are included in the package and highlight the many fissures, fractures and ridges that decorate the icy moon's surface. Enceladus is a white, glittering snowball of a moon, now famous for the nearly 100 geysers that are spread across its south polar region and spout tiny icy particles into space. Most of these particles fall back to the surface as snow. Some small fraction escapes the gravity of Enceladus and makes its way into orbit around Saturn, forming the planet's extensive and diffuse E ring. Because scientists believe these geysers are directly connected to a subsurface, salty, organic-rich, liquid-water reservoir, Enceladus is home to one of the most accessible extraterrestrial habitable zones in the solar system.

Packaged along with Saturn and Enceladus is a group of natural-color images of Saturn's largest moon Titan, highlighting two of Titan's most outstanding features. Peering through the moon's hazy, orange atmosphere, the Cassini narrow-angle camera spots dark, splotchy features in the polar regions of the moon. These features are the lakes and seas of liquid methane and ethane for which the moon is renowned. Titan is the only other place in the solar system that we know has stable liquids on its surface, though in Titan's case, the liquids are ethane and methane rather than water. At Titan's south pole, a swirling high-altitude vortex stands out distinctly against the darkness of the moon's un-illuminated atmosphere. Titan's hazy atmosphere and surface environment are believed to be similar in certain respects to the early atmosphere of Earth.

But the planet that towers over these moons is a celestial wonder itself. The north and south poles of Saturn are highlighted and appear drastically different from each other, as seen in new natural-color views. The globe of Saturn resembles a holiday ornament in a wide-angle image overlooking its north pole, bringing into view the hexagonal jet stream and rapidly spinning polar vortex that reside there. And the planet's south pole, now in winter, looking very different than the springtime north, displays brilliant blue hues, reminiscent of a frosty winter wonderland.

"Until Cassini arrived at Saturn, we didn't know about the hydrocarbon lakes of Titan, the active drama of Enceladus' jets and the intricate patterns at Saturn's poles," said Linda Spilker, the Cassini project scientist at NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory, Pasadena, California. "Spectacular images like these highlight that Cassini has given us the gift of knowledge, which we have been so excited to share with everyone."

Launched in 1997, Cassini has explored the Saturn system for more than nine years. NASA plans to continue the mission through 2017, with the anticipation of much more groundbreaking science and imagery to come. •

Tips to Achieve Wholesome Health in 2014

You're all too familiar with that one, dreaded moment when the festivities end. It hits you every year like a bad hangover. You promise yourself that once the last sip of eggnog has been guzzled and the cookie jar has been emptied, you'll get healthy.

But what does healthy mean? We're bombarded with visions of steel abdominal muscles and gazelle-like limbs. For most people, however, achieving health can't be reduced to a lower health club membership deal or a dieting pill. Rather, the road to health is a lifelong journey encompassing mind, body and spirit.

That said, there are manageable steps you can take in your daily life to experience and sustain a healthier, balanced lifestyle. 1) Everything in moderation. 2) Walk 3) Floss 4) Eat fruits and veggies 5) Lots of water and 6) whole grains.

Popcorn, low in calories and high in fiber, whole grains and antioxidants, can help. One of the oldest and most beloved snacks for any age, popcorn is also a treat to lift the spirit.

Start your day with this balanced whole-grain toasted berry granola recipe from Jolly Time Pop Corn that is good for both your body and your soul.

Whole-grain Toasted Berry Granola

Makes about 11 cups

Ingredients

- 10 cups popped JOLLY TIME Butter Light Microwave Pop Corn made with the Smart Balance unique blend of oils
- 2 cups barley flakes
- 1/4 cup oat bran
- 1/4 cup wheat germ
- 1/2 cup honey
- 3 tablespoons light olive oil
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon ground ginger or cardamom
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/3 cup dried blueberries
- 1/3 cup dried cranberries

Directions

Preheat oven to 250 F. Line a large-rimmed baking sheet with foil. Mix popcorn (remove any unpopped kernels), barley flakes, oat bran and wheat germ in a large bowl. Mix honey, oil, spices, vanilla and salt in a glass measuring cup until well blended. Pour over popcorn mixture; toss to coat. Pour mixture onto baking sheet in an even layer. Bake about 40 minutes or until crisp, stirring occasionally. Stir in blueberries and cranberries. Cool completely; store in airtight container.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF: LAWRENCE JOSEPH DYJOR AKA LAWRENCE J. DYJOR AKA LAWRENCE DYJOR CASE NO. BP144034
To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the WILL or estate, or both of LAWRENCE JOSEPH DYJOR AKA LAWRENCE J. DYJOR AKA LAWRENCE DYJOR. APETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by LANA JOEL DYJOR in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES. THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that LANA JOEL DYJOR be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.
THE PETITION requests the decedent's WILL and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The WILL and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.
THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.
A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows: 02/28/14 at 8:30AM in Dept. 29 located at 111 N. HILL ST., LOS ANGELES, CA 90012
HH-24080

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.
IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.
Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.
YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

To Sit or Not to Sit

By Adam Serrao

If you're a Los Angeles sports fan like I am, then you must have found it just as painful to watch the two most popular teams in Los Angeles play sports lately. When I say painful, I mean it. The players on both the Los Angeles Lakers and the Los Angeles Dodgers just can't stay healthy lately. The "Boys in Blue" seemed to look more like the "Boys in Black and Blue" over their past two seasons of play and with the Lakers...well, the unthinkable has happened. Kobe Bryant has met his match. No, it's not LeBron James and no, Michael Jordan hasn't resurrected his career again to make a comeback. It is Father Time who has walked right up to Kobe and smacked him in the face. Or the Achilles... Perhaps it is fitting or ironic even that one of the toughest, most durable players to ever set foot on an NBA court is being hampered by a tendon called Achilles. As invulnerable as Kobe has always seemed to those who have watched him play here in L.A., this injury may be the one that slowly does him in. With time no longer on his side, the riveting question has now become do you sit Kobe Bryant out for the rest of this year, or play him as soon as he returns from his latest injury.

Kobe's latest injury is in fact not his Achilles tendon tear. Bryant returned from that injury rather successfully and was beginning to look a lot better in his sixth game of the season against the Memphis Grizzlies when he suddenly broke a bone in his knee. Initially, Kobe tried to play through it like he always does and actually finished the game without pause. In the following days, however, the pain would not subside. Kobe took an MRI, learned that he had broken a bone and would be back watching from the sidelines for a minimum of six weeks. "You hate it for Kobe," Lakers head coach Mike D'Antoni said. "He's worked so hard to get back." Now, Kobe will have to begin that work once again, but for just how long?

The timetable for Bryant's return is in fact six weeks and knowing Kobe, he'll try to make it back before that amount of time. But maybe, just maybe, the Lakers should think about sitting him out for the rest of the season. Sure, the two-year, $48.5 million contract that Bryant just signed to make him the wealthiest athlete in the game of basketball certainly does not support that point. But signing Kobe to that contract was more of a symbol than anything else--a reward, if you will, for 17 years of dedication, hard work and five championship rings. Whether Kobe plays this year or not, the Lakers are not going to win a championship let alone get out of the first round of the playoffs. If Kobe does return in six weeks, it will most likely come right after the All-Star break in a game against his old pal Dwight Howard and the Houston Rockets. That would mean that Bryant will have missed right around 30 games, give or take a couple, and that the Lakers will most likely be well out of playoff contention. Sure, that's speculation, but following Bryant's injury, the Lakers quickly dropped two of their first three without the superstar, losing to Golden State by 19 points and Phoenix by

27. Aside from Jordan Farmar's return from injury, things do not look to be on the up and up for the Lake Show.

The Lakers are, of course, always better to watch when Kobe Bryant is on the court. He is the face of the franchise and the man who brings in the money for the Lakers. For that reason and that reason alone, management would most likely much rather have him competing and out there on the court. He drives ratings and he drives sales. Unfortunately, Bryant cannot do that if he is injured. That's why it will be in the best interest for the Lakers to sideline Bryant for the rest of the season, have him heal his injuries and come back next season when he is able to have a training camp and get himself into basketball condition. As it stands, Bryant cannot train with the injuries that he currently has. That means that if and when he tries to return from his latest injury, he will need at least another few weeks to get back into the basketball condition that has sustained his career for as long as it is currently tenured. Knowing Bryant, however, he will believe that he is already in that kind of shape, thus injuring himself even further and jeopardizing his entire career.

If he is capable, there is no way that Kobe will ever agree to sit on the sideline when he could instead be contributing to his team. That being said, expect to see Bryant back in purple and gold come mid-February. But perhaps the smart, yet unpopular decision would be for Bryant to take it easy this year. Bottom line, this team as it is currently constructed is not a contender for the title. Bryant's legacy will be about championships won--not games played or minutes logged. A lot of things can change in a year, especially with a free agent class and draft class like the ones that will arrive next season. Sitting out the remainder of the season can both enhance the longevity of Bryant's career and help him win that much-coveted sixth championship trophy that he longs oh-so deeply for. At a time like this, it is in the Lakers' and Kobe's best interest to focus on the future. Unfortunately for Kobe, that future is in six weeks. •

PETSPETS Pets PETSPETS

Wowzer Schnauzer

Let's see if we can give these furry kids a Happy Tails ending of their own!

"Even though my name is Miley, please don't confuse me with the other one. I'm not a twerker, but I will tweak your heartstrings if you give me a chance. My original owner, whose information is on my microchip, gave me and my pal Cyrus away. The new owner had us for six months and then surrendered us to an LA County shelter. When the shelter scanned my microchip after I was spayed, they discovered that he wasn't the registered owner. I had to wait another two weeks for them to contact the previous owner before I was rescued. Although I'm a little chunky--about 15 pounds--for a five-year-old, purebred, female Miniature Schnauzer, I am a real sweetheart and I get along great with other dogs. In fact, I would love to go to a home that already has a doggie pal or two since I've never been an only dog. I just had a dental and now have a great set of pearly white teeth, so please come to our pet adoptions and see what a great smile I have."

"I know for a fact that my name is Gina. However, my pedigree is somewhat questionable. Based on my coloring, I could be a Schnauzer/Yorkie mix. Then again, since I have a little "smooshie" face, I could also be part Brussels Griffon. Whatever my true heritage is, one thing for certain is that I'm petite at only eight pounds and just a real cutie. I'm a two-year-old female who was rescued from an LA County shelter where I was brought in as a stray. Because I'm a little self-conscious about my "smooshie" face, I'm very camera shy, so my picture really doesn't do justice to the real me! The MSFR folks think I'm very sweet and I have a great time playing with other dogs. You really have to come to our pet adoptions and see just how adorable I am."

"My family named me Jack and right now I'm so heartbroken, I don't know what to do. I'm only seven or maybe eight months old, but I had a great life with my first family,

Gina

I loved their toddler and we were the best of buddies. Then my family surrendered me because they were moving. No family, no toddler, no home! Is it any wonder that I'm a bit nervous and shy? I get along well with dogs and kids, but I need to be introduced slowly to new people and situations. I am a very sweet, male Terrier mix. I'm very gentle when handled and only weigh 20 pounds, so it's easy to give me hugs. Since I'm currently residing at a boarding facility, folks can't tell whether or not I'm housebroken, but everyone thinks it's a good possibility that I am. If you would like to be my forever family, I can be seen anytime at Yellow Brick Road Doggie Playcare in El Segundo. Call 310-606-5507.

Hi! My name is Cyrus and I was rescued along with my Miley from an LA County shelter. My original owner gave me and my pal Miley, away. The new owner had us for six months and then surrendered us to the shelter. When the shelter scanned my microchip after neutering me, they discovered that he wasn't the registered owner. I had to wait another two weeks for them to contact the previous owner to see if he wanted to reclaim me before I was eligible for adoption. I'm an 18-pound, purebred, male Miniature Schnauzer with a dazzling smile, thanks to my dental, and a terrific personality. I am about five years old, very playful and get along great with other dog friends. However, I could probably use some training. My play is very enthusiastic and I get easily distracted, but I do try my best. My Christmas wish is to find a forever home with a family with a doggie pal since I've never been by myself. If you check out our pet adoptions, I'll bet I'm just the dog you've been looking for." •

Happy Tails

A "Christmas" Wish Comes True

Congratulations to Justin and his new forever family. Justin was our Carson shelter rescue who was adopted, but regretfully was returned when his adopter developed health issues. His new family lost their 12-year-old Schnauzer to heart failure and opened their heart to our sweet boy. Justin is now living in Anaheim with two human brothers and two human sisters (one brother and sister are twins). Once again he has been renamed Charlie (they decided that before they knew his former name was Charlie). It appears that he is destined to have the name Charlie! •

If you have any questions about a particular dog's availability, you can email us at info@msfr.org.

Please visit all of our Miniature Schnauzers & Friends rescues at the adoptions fair held every Saturday from noon-3:30 p.m. or check out our website, www.msfr.org. Our adoption fairs take place at Petco, 537 N. Pacific Coast Highway, Redondo Beach, California. Schnauzers! Bet you can't adopt just one!

THE YELLOW DOG PROJECT.com

If you see a dog with a YELLOW RIBBON or something yellow on the leash, this is a dog who needs some space. Please do not approach this dog with your dog. Please maintain distance or give this dog and his/her person time to move out of your way.

There are many reasons why a dog may need space:

- HEALTH ISSUES
- IN TRAINING
- BEING REHABILITATED
- SCARED OR REACTIVE AROUND OTHER DOGS

THANK YOU!

Those of us who own these dogs appreciate your help and respect!
