Santa Is Flying to Town

Santa Claus, played by Mark Adams of Los Angeles World Airports, took a break from his work at the North Pole today to visit preschool and kindergarten students from Gardena and Hawthorne's Zela Davis and Wiseburn's Cabrillo elementary schools. Santa arrived and read "The Night Before Christmas" to the students at the Westchester Senior Center. Even though there is lots to do at the North Pole, Santa posed with the students before departing. Photo courtesy of LAX.

Hawthorne City Council Announces to Residents a Plan for Hawthorne Mall

By Nancy Peters

The Hawthorne City Council met on Tuesday, December 16 in what was called as a "special" meeting when the regularly scheduled second Tuesday of the month meeting of December 9 was cancelled for lack of a quorum. Due to the last meeting of this body on November 12, 2014, the agenda for the evening included several presentations, seven to 10 items on each consent calendar, and actually outlasted the schedule of the live streaming for the public to witness the meeting.

A significant announcement, already part of a television news item four weeks ago, offered an update on the potential reopening of the Hawthorne Mall sometime in the next 12 to 18 months. The mall property will become an outlet mall, after some renovations and reconfigurations of the inside of the structure are completed. No announcement of stores committed to bringing their outlets was made at this time. The City Manager stated that the revenues from sales taxes, business license fees, Utility Use Tax, and property taxes could reach $6 to $10 million annually.

The City Council approved a new purchasing policy within the city for goods and services designating each department head as a Purchasing Officer for the department. Each department must submit a request for supplies and services during the budget process and authorization for purchasing shall be approved if and when the budget is approved by the City Council. Purchasing of goods under $5,000 may be accomplished with informal bids made by three vendors. The purchase of any goods or services more than $5,000 must be submitted through a formal bid process after a request for bids has been published and bids received have been in compliance with the bidding process. Purchases of more than $25,000 require a formal proposal submission and must be approved by a majority vote of the City Council. The City Manager with the Purchasing Officer may award contracts of less than $15,000 and include the contracting of subject matter experts when there is not sufficient staff to fulfill requirements for a specific service deemed necessary to conduct required city business. The City Manager and the Director of Finance will work together to assure compliance by all staff of the new purchasing policies. All other purchasing policies are hereby repealed with the adoption of this policy confirmed by resolution approval.

The Hawthorne Police Department is the recipient of a grant in the amount of $129,000 to conduct a selective traffic enforcement program (S.T.E.P.), which includes DUI Saturation Patrols, Distracted Driving Enforcement, DUI/CDL checkpoints, enforcement of the seatbelt laws, bicycle and pedestrian enforcement operations, and enforcement of speed and stop sign laws through special public awareness efforts.

The immediate approval and implementation of a new URGENCY ordinance was approved prohibiting any approval for any business license, use permit, or any application for massage establishments in any zone throughout the city of Hawthorne.

The demolition of city-owned property at 12711 and 12717 Hawthorne Boulevard was awarded to HYM Engineering after the bidding process was conducted and a qualified vendor determined by the Chief of Public Works.

An item submitted under the City Manager's consent calendar was extracted to be considered as a separate motion and vote by the City Council following some questions about continuing services from Robert Levy and Enviro Communications, Incorporated, who has been consulting on projects dealing with the HUD repayment demand and assisting with other public policy, strategy and advocacy for the city with federal, state, and regional agencies. The request included authorization for $5,000 per month for the services provided by Mr. Levy on the Hawthorne Boulevard Specific Plan, the Hawthorne Mall project, the Office of Inspector General HUD audit, the CDBG HOME audit, and the former RFK Hospital site project. Continuation of the services of Robert Levy and Enviro Communications passed by a vote of 3-2 with Council members Alex Vargas and Nilo Michelin casting the dissenting votes.

A request to close City Hall on Monday and Tuesday, December 22 and 23, 2014 and Friday, January 2, 2015, was approved by a vote of 3-2 with Vargas and Michelin casting the dissenting votes, stating that the public should have the services of city staff and City Hall functions available to them on those days since City Hall will be closed on December 24, 25, 26, 2014 and then on January 1, 2015.

Residents William Meyers and Darvis Johnson were appointed to serve on the Senior Citizens' Commission. Carol Steinhauer will serve on the Veterans' Affairs Commission. Barbara J. Hendricks was approved for appointment to the Civil Service Commission. All were sworn in by City Clerk Norbert Huber during a recess for a City Council Closed Session prior to the adjournment of the meeting.

Chief of Police Robert Fager introduced two newly trained members of the K-9 Unit with their Hawthorne Police Department handlers. One of the dogs, a Dutch Shepherd named "Middo," is trained in patrol, evidence search, narcotics, and tracking. "Tango," a German Shepherd K-9, is trained to detect explosives, as well as narcotics, patrol, and evidence searches. Both handlers and K-9s completed the 10-week intensive training conducted locally and within the Hawthorne Police Department.

A safety program in collaboration with the Hawthorne Police Department (HPD) and owners/operators/management of several shopping centers in the city was recapped by Chief Fager. The assessment of sites and the need for safety measures in all shopping centers to prevent crime in the parking lots and stores resulted in the requirement for each shopping center to submit a security plan to the HPD. Smaller scale stores in "strip" malls are also cooperating with the HPD to prevent crimes in their establishments. Any time a citizen sees suspicious activity or suspects a crime is in progress, they should report what they witness to the HPD by calling 911 or 310-359-2888. The public is encouraged to not leave any purses, cell phones, packages, money; or anything that might entice a potential thief to break-in to a vehicle. Cars should be locked and homes should be secured at all times to prevent thefts.

The next regularly scheduled meeting of the Hawthorne City Council is on Tuesday, January 13, 2015. •

Lawndale City Council Approves Proposed Consolidated Disposal

By Nancy Peters

At the meeting of the Lawndale City Council, held on Monday, December 8, in lieu of the regular first Monday of each month meeting last week, not many items were agendaized for consideration. A public hearing was held to examine the proposed increase in rates requested by Consolidated Disposal Services, Inc., for residential, commercial and multi-family rates for trash collection. The increase, an average of 3.1 percent for all collection/recycling services, was requested in a proposal on September 24, 2014 by the vendor. There has not been an increase since the seven-year franchise agreement with Consolidated was put into effect on January 1, 2011. The increased rates are written in to the franchise agreement and are valid according to the contractual stipulations that increases for fuel, labor, and equipment costs are necessary for the Producer Price Index and Consumer Price Index that effect rates periodically.

During the public hearing a codicil to the services provided was requested to include a pickup bin for medical waste for residential and multi-family customers to accommodate proper disposal of supplies for diabetics and others who require special medical supplies. The company representative commented that this accommodation is not currently part of the agreement, but can be written in and would be "absorbed" by the costs with the requested increase.

Several requests were made that disposal of large items be advised to the vendor by the customer so that proper equipment is dispatched to the location; that recycling be sorted properly and disposed in the correct containers; and that those customers who will need a medical waste container advise Consolidate Disposal so that the proper equipment can be delivered.

The City Council unanimously voted to accept the requested increase in rates for collection of solid waste from residential, commercial, and multi-family customers, effective January 1, 2015.

On the consent calendar agenda, the City Council considered an approval of the agreement with CleanStreet for street sweeping services. The contract with this vendor has been in effect since 2001 and this is for another renewal of a three-year term. The agreement for weekly street sweeping services and debris diversion covers 56 miles of residential streets; twice weekly sweeping for business district streets, not including Hawthorne Boulevard; bi-weekly sweeping of medians and city parking lots; once a week services for all alleys; and five times a week along both sides of Hawthorne Boulevard. The total of 125 curb miles per week is $15,000 per month. Reference checks with the cities of Hawthorne, Manhattan Beach, and Culver City verified that CleanStreet continues to provide quality street sweeping services in those cities.

The total of $180,000 per year for three years will be funded by the gas tax revenues of $183,000 per year. The new agreement was approved for CleanStreet to continue providing street sweeping services for the city of Lawndale.

Hogan Park will be expanded and bids will be requested for the project plans and specifications as presented. Once bids are received, the City Council will witness the bid process and, if reasonable bids are received, make further recommendations to the staff about Hogan Park.

The public was asked to advise the city as they see that storefronts are messy and dumpsters of stores that are placed in alleys and parking lots appear to be overflowing with debris. Code Enforcement will check out locations that are reported, write warnings and/or violations as deemed appropriate, and will be on the alert for repeat offenders. Likewise, if street lights are not working properly, citizens are asked to report these outages or any damage to light poles or wires to Southern California Edison. Each lightpole has a phone number to call to report issues to the energy vendor.

The public safety report included an assault of a female victim and cell phone theft by two suspects who drove away in a vehicle, but a witness wrote down the license plate number, resulting in the arrest of the suspects. A deputy, responding to a call of a fight, saw two men sitting in a vehicle and approached to ask them if they had seen anything. The deputy asked that the driver exit the vehicle after strong odors were detected on the driver and in the vehicle. The suspect began assaulting the deputy and a backup team of deputies as they attempted to handcuff him. Refusing a field sobriety test and continuing to beat on the deputies, a Taser was necessary to finally subdue the suspect who admitted to heavily drinking and ingesting cocaine. An assault with a deadly weapon call resulted in the arrest of three males positively identified by the victim and the weapons recovered a short distance away.

The Lawndale Wall of Distinction was discussed following a staff report of a formal process and program for those former citizens to be honored posthumously who demonstrated exceptional civic volunteerism during their lifetime serving the city of Lawndale. The south and west walls on the third floor of the Harold E. Hofmann Lawndale Community Center will be the designated location of the plaque(s) to be dedicated once a year when no less than two (2) and no more than four (4) deceased citizens who served the city will be named to the Wall of Distinction and enshrined on the plaque(s). The nominations will be filtered through the Historical Society (three members) and the Senior Citizens Advisory Committee (two members) who then will propose the names to the City Council for approval. The process and the program for the Wall of Distinction will continue to evolve as staff prepares ideas for plaques, wording on plaques, inclusion of photos or no photos, and how large each individual plaque will be on a larger perpetual plaque. Final designs will be approved by the City Council.

The next meeting of the City Council will be held on Monday, January 5, 2015 at 6:30 p.m. •

“Eye Of Sauron” Provides New Way of Measuring Distances to Galaxies

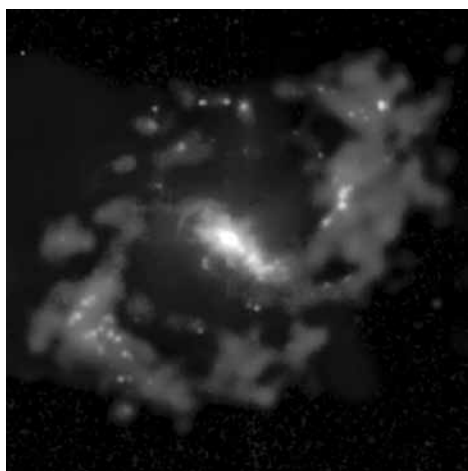

Based on a press release from W.M. Keck Observatory, provided by Bob Eklund

(BPT) - A team of scientists led by Dr. Sebastian Hoenig from the University of Southampton has measured the distance to the NGC 4151 (“Eye of Sauron”) galaxy with unprecedented accuracy, using the W. M. Keck Observatory Interferometer in Hawaii.

The team employed a new technique they developed, which allows them to measure distances to galaxies tens of millions of light-years away with 90 percent precision. The technique is similar to that used by land surveyors on Earth, who calculate distances by measuring the angular—or “apparent”—size of an object of known dimensions.

Previous reported distances to NGC 4151, which contains a supermassive black hole, were far from consistent—ranging all the way from 4 to 29 megaparsecs. Using this new, more accurate method, the researchers calculated the distance to the supermassive black hole as 19 megaparsecs (a megaparsec is equal to 3.26 million light-years).

Galaxy NGC 4151 is dubbed the “Eye of Sauron” by astronomers for the similarity of

The Galaxy NGC 4151, called the, ‘Eye of Sauron’ due to its similarity to the eye in the film Lord of the Rings. The image shows the supermassive black hole, which engulfs gas and dust clouds from its surroundings. In this process, it emits ultraviolet radiation, which heats the ring-shaped dust cloud that orbits around the black hole at a distance and this causes the dust cloud to emit infrared radiation. Credit: NASA its appearance to its namesake in the film trilogy, “The Lord of the Rings.” As in that saga, a “ring” plays a crucial role in this new measurement. All big galaxies in the universe host a supermassive black hole in their center—and in about 10 percent of all galaxies, these black holes are growing by swallowing huge amounts of gas and dust from their surrounding environments. In this process, the material heats up and becomes very bright—resulting in the most energetic sources of emission in the universe, known as active galactic nuclei (AGN).

This hot dust forms a ring around the supermassive black hole and emits infrared radiation—and the researchers in this study used this dusty ring as their “ruler.” However, the apparent size of the Eye of Sauron’s ring is so small that the observations had to be carried out using the Keck Interferometer, which combines Keck Observatory’s twin 10-meter telescopes—already the largest telescopes on Earth—to achieve a resolving power equal to that of an 85-meter telescope.

To measure the physical size of the dusty ring, the researchers measured the time delay between the emission of light from close to the black hole and the more distant infrared emission. The distance from the center to the hot dust is simply this delay divided by the speed of light. By combining the physical size of the dust ring with the apparent size measured with the Keck Interferometer, the researchers were able to determine the distance to NGC 4151.

“One of the key findings is that the distance determined in this new fashion is quite precise—with 90 percent accuracy,” Hoenig said. “In fact, this method, based on simple geometrical principles, gives the most precise distances for remote galaxies. Moreover, it can be readily used on many more sources than current methods. Such distances are key in pinning down the cosmological parameters that characterize our universe or in accurately measuring black hole masses. Indeed, NGC 4151 is a key to calibrating various techniques of estimating black hole masses. Our new distance implies that these masses may have been systematically underestimated by 40 percent.”

Hoenig, together with colleagues in Denmark and Japan, is currently setting up a new program to extend their work to many more active galactic nuclei. The goal is to establish precise distances to a dozen galaxies using this technique—and then use these precise distances as stepping-stones to vastly improve the precision of all distance measurements for the cosmos. •

Hawthorne Loses Three of Four at West

Crenshaw during last Thursday's fifth place game of the West Coast Shores Tournament. Hawthorne fell to Crenshaw 71-58 in the Battle of the Cougars. Hawthorne is currently in the Artesia Tournament.

Hawthorne High's boys' basketball team started the season with a 1-3 record in the West Shores Tournament last week at West Torrance High. The Cougars began the First Annual Classic with a 74-68 loss to Marina High from Huntington Beach on December 1 and fell to the host Warriors 63-50 a day later.

On December 3, Hawthorne got its first win of the season by crushing Port of Los Angeles High from San Pedro 98-33, then fell in the fifth place final to Crenshaw 71-58. Against Crenshaw, whose mascot is also the Cougars, Hawthorne was behind throughout virtually the entire game. Crenshaw (2-2) took a 20-13 first quarter lead and led by as many as 14 points (29-15) in the second period.

Leading 35-28 at halftime, Crenshaw steadily pulled away and won handily. "We missed too many lay-ups," Hawthorne head coach David Gray said on Hawthorne's loss to Crenshaw. "We mentally broke down."

Hawthorne managed to get balanced scoring, led by Christian Brown with 10 points. Curry Aksquin added nine points and Marquel Grey and Chigbo Anakpain each chipped in eight. Crenshaw's Chris Kendrick led all scorers with 23 points.

In Hawthorne's easy win over Port of L.A. (0-4), the Cougars scored 64 first half points to 19 for the POLA. The Cougars continued to pour it on by outscoring Port of L.A. 33-14 in the second half.

Michael Blackwell and Brown shared Hawthorne's high scoring honors with 14 points apiece. Cesar Orasco contributed 10 points as all Cougars scored. Grey led the Cougars with 17 points in their loss to West (2-2). Dayvian Lee led Hawthorne with 18 points in its loss to Marina. Bruce Hegan and Sal Tai each put in 10 points.

The Cougars are currently playing in the Artesia Tournament in Lakewood where they opened against Claremont last Monday. Hawthorne also faced Corona on Tuesday and will visit Costa Mesa in a non-league game Friday at 7 p.m. The Cougars will play in the Westminster Tournament from next Monday through December 20.

LEUZINGER GOES 1-2 AT ROSE CITY

Leuzinger High's boys' basketball team went 1-2 in last week's Rose City Classic at Maranatha High in Arcadia. The Olympians' only win came against St. Anthony High from Long Beach 59-45 last Thursday.

Keying the Olympians was Davion Crowder with 21 points. Christian Odiona tallied 14 points. Last Friday, Leuzinger fell short of Cajon from San Bernardino 74-68. Crowder had a big game with 27 points. A bad first quarter plagued the Olympians as the Cowboys scored 32 points to 16 for Leuzinger. The Olympians managed to outscore Cajon 25-20 in the fourth period but fell short.

On December 2, Leuzinger lost to Oak Park

51-49. Leuzinger led by four (39-35) after three quarters but Oak Park came back to outscore the Olympians 16-10 in the fourth period to pull off the two-point win. Davante Carr led Leuzinger with 15 points. The Olympians are currently playing in the Beverly Hills Tournament where they began last Monday against Santa Monica. The classic runs through Saturday.

LADY CARDINALS FALL IN FINAL

Lawndale High's girls' basketball team was unable to defend its South El Monte Tournament after suffering a 50-37 loss to Martin Luther King High from Riverside last Saturday. Rajanae Crandell sparked Lawndale with 11 points, 10 rebounds and four assists in the losing effort. She was named to the all-tournament team.

In the championship semifinals a day earlier, the Cardinals downed West Ranch from Valencia 61-50. Lawndale led throughout most of the game in the win.

Last Thursday in the championship quarterfinals, the Cardinals defeated Eagle Rock 43-37. Lawndale used an 18-5 second quarter that proved to be the difference.

LEUZINGER GIRLS WIN TWO

Leuzinger High's girls' basketball team won two of four games in last week's Brentwood Tournament. On December 2, the Lady Olympians defeated Venice 80-65. A day later, Leuzinger fell to West Los Angeles Marymount 67-54. Last Thursday, Leuzinger topped Beverly Hills 64-60 but on Friday, the Olympians fell to Inglewood St. Mary's Academy 61-56.

Leuzinger hosted crosstown rival Lawndale in a non-league game on Wednesday. The Olympians begin the Pioneer League at home against defending CIF-Southern Section Division IIA champion West Torrance on January 14 at 6 p.m.

INGLEWOOD IS WINLESS

Inglewood High's girls' basketball team fell to 0-4 with Downey Tournament losses to Sunny Hills and South Gate South East last week. The Sentinels fell to Sunny Hills 52-22 on December 1 and South East 53-39 on December 3. Inglewood opens the Ocean View High Tournament against North Torrance tonight at 7 p.m. in Huntington Beach. •

Butternut Squash Tart with Fried Sage, Prosciutto and Pecorino Cheese

Serves 4 or 6

Prep Time: 15 minutes

Cook Time: 40 minutes

Ingredients

- 3 slices prosciutto, thinly sliced
- 1 butternut squash (1 1/2 to 2 pounds)
- 1 sheet puff pastry
- 1 egg + 1 tablespoon water, beaten
- 2 tablespoons extra virgin olive oil
- 10 sage leaves
- Shaved pecorino cheese

Preparation

Preheat oven to 425 F and cover a baking sheet with parchment paper. Place prosciutto onto baking sheet and bake for 15 minutes until crispy. Set aside until needed. Reduce oven temperature to 375 F.

Microwave the whole butternut squash for 3 minutes. This will not only make the squash easier to peel and slice but aids in pre-cooking. Using a vegetable peeler, peel the squash. With a knife, slice the neck of the squash into 1/8-inch thick rounds. You will need 18 slices.

Roll the thawed but cold puff pastry into a 12-inch square and transfer to a baking sheet covered with parchment paper. Using a pastry brush, brush the puff pastry with the egg wash. Arrange butternut squash slices in an overlapping pattern on top of the pastry leaving a 1-inch border on all sides; season with a pinch of salt and pepper. Bake for 40 minutes until puff pastry is golden.

While the tart is baking, heat olive oil in a skillet over medium-high heat. Working with five leaves at a time, place the sage leaves in the hot oil and fry for 20 seconds until leaves are bright green and crisp but do not turn brown. Place on a paper towel to drain.

Once the tart is finished, top with crumbled prosciutto slices, shaved pecorino cheese, and fried sage. Drizzle lightly with additional olive oil and season with salt and pepper to taste. •

Hawthorne Happenings Briefs

News for the 'City of Good Neighbors'

From City Clerk Norb Huber

SANTA BRINGS JOY

I can't think of another person with his sheer presence brings so much joy to so many people, especially young people. Santa brought that joy to the kids of Hawthorne last Saturday evening. His arrival was a bit delayed due to the fact that he needed a police escort to provide him safe passage on the streets of Hawthorne. I guess that made the kids that much happier when he did show up riding in an old, vintage fire truck. Most of the kids were laughing, smiling or yelling at the jolly fella as he walked towards the stage to take his place on his throne where over 150 youngsters got to sit on his lap. (My two grandkids were just the opposite, they were both afraid of the big guy and cried for mommy when I tried to take them up on stage. It's okay, they will get every present they want from their two grandmas. They don't need to tell Santa what they want.)

remains: Being a police officer is a very dangerous, difficult job.

These brave men and women are there to protect us and must make split second decisions that may save their lives and the lives of others.

RAIN

We are spoiled and we forget it some times. Our sunny, mild weather spoils us into believing that this is the way it should be all the time. When we finally received a couple of days of rain last week we got restless. My wife, a native of Los Angeles, was tired of the rain after the first day. Our entire lifestyle is upset because we do so much outside. We are not used to staying inside our homes. There are many places in America where people have to stay inside for most of the winter months. Another rain storm is predicted for this Friday. Go to the library and get a good book. Enjoy a quiet evening. Maybe have a "warm" drink for a change, instead of a "cold one".

HAWTHORNE MALL

The big announcement was made last week. The owner of the Hawthorne mall has agreed on a design plan to convert the shuttered buildings into an upscale outlet mall complex with higher end stores. If the plan goes through without any set backs, the conversion will take two to three years to complete. At least it is a start. Now, let's make it happen. The people of Hawthorne have been waiting close to 20 years to see something happen. I guess we can wait another two or three.

THANKS FOR READING

I guess there ARE people who read this column. It seems like every time I miss a week and don't find the time to write anything. I have several people ask me if I'm okay. Yes, I'm doing fine, it's difficult to find the one hour once a week it takes to put my fingers to the keyboard. Thanks for reading my blurbs. I do my best to tell it like it is, shoot from the heart, or entertain with some weak humor. Just to set the record straight, I love my wife, even if I pick on her some times. Also, I'm not a drunk that has a "cold one" every night. Have a great Christmas season. There is much to be joyful about.

UPCOMING EVENT

Applications are available at the Parks office at the Memorial Center. The entry deadline is December 16th with judging on the 18th.

MEMORIES OF THE SUMMER OF 2013

The recent protests of recent police actions across the country reminded me of the month long protests that took place right here in Hawthorne during the summer of 2013. The protests were non-violent but resulted in shutting down the city's website and much of the city's email communications. The Hawthorne protest was over the shooting of a dog by an officer and the YouTube video that went viral on the internet. Many of the viewers only saw a portion of the incident and did not get the full picture of what happened. We received over 500,000 "e-signatures" from protestors around the world, who clicked a button on their computer to add their names to the list of people who thought the shooting was not necessary and was outright cruel to the animal and its owner. The bottom line

Politically Speaking

One Man's Opinion

A Government of Laws

By Gerry Chong

"We are a government of laws, not of men"
- President John Adams

How many times have we collapsed back into our plushy seats in our favorite movie theater, licked our popcorn buttered fingers, slurped a Big Gulp, and watched the latest western morality play? The plot is familiar because it contains an expectation that we have always believed; that we are a nation of laws passed by our elected representatives, and that at the end of the movie, those laws will define our civilization, protecting us against insurrection and mayhem.

The theater darkens, the credits have rolled, and the movie begins: There is a killing on the streets of a small Midwestern town. The killer is a deputy sheriff who claims self-defense. Immediately, outside rabble-rousers invade the town to incite a vigilante mob to insurrection, destroying businesses, many of which are owned by the individual vigilantes themselves.

Correctly, the law focuses on the legal culpability of the deputy sheriff rather than any extraneous grievances of the vigilantes, and finds there is little reason to indict him; but with support from outside agitators the vigilantes sustain their rampage. As the movie ends the rule of law has prevailed but the audience leaves with the very uneasy prediction that there will be another fire in an unknown location at an unknown date, and this one will be bigger than the last.

The vigilantes have a new martyr to stoke their next act of violence. They have a cause and an agenda requiring a government of men, and not of laws. President Adams' claim be damned.

Rationally, the question must be asked of the vigilantes, "cui bono"? Who benefits from the insurrections? Certainly it is not the people injured or killed; not the businesses damaged or destroyed; not the local consumers who have lost accesses to goods and services; not government budgets that have been decimated; and not the cause of the vigilantes because civil rights are not advanced by looting and killing.

But it is not senseless violence. There are, in fact many who benefit. Some like Al Sharpton exploit anger to gain elective office. There are others like Jesse Jackson who become wealthy by exploiting minority grievances against major corporations. There is the president, presuming White law enforcement culpability, who sent his Attorney General to the site of the shooting to broadly indict the city and local law enforcement for civil rights violations, even in advance of the city's Grand Jury decision.

The greatest beneficiary of civil unrest, however, is the political Left. It prospers as long as there are divides that can be exploited between Blacks and Whites; rich and poor; women and men; citizen and illegal immigrant; Christian and Godless; and public sector and private sector dominance. A unified country is the Left's greatest nightmare.

As this movie ends, ask yourself, "Will there be a sequel?" Did this violence advance the cause of civil rights? Will the next violence bring a positive result? Importantly, who benefits from civil unrest? •

Another Man's Opinion

Athletes Should Make More Political Statements, Even if Only Symbolic

By Cristian Vasquez

There has been no lack of commentary about the incidents in Ferguson, Missouri. Regardless of where one falls on the opinion spectrum, I do fully appreciate people exercising their First Amendment right to voice their opinions. Which is why today I want to applaud Stedman Bailey, Tavon Austin, Jared Cook, Chris Givens and Kenny Britt of the St. Louis Rams for their symbolic, yet important, gesture a few weeks ago. These five men walked onto the field before their game against the Oakland Raiders with their hands in the air replicating the "Hand Up, Don't Shoot" pose being used by protestors in Ferguson.

I applaud the actions of these five NFL players not just because they spoke out against what they consider an injustice, but also because they used their platform as athletes in the biggest, most important league in the world to make a political statement. These five athletes used their position of comfort and to a certain extent privilege [which they earned] to tell a grieving family that their tragedy isn't going unnoticed; that they stand in solidarity with the victim. As emotional and sensitive as the incident in Ferguson has been on a national scale, to these St. Louis players it was also a local issue.

We don't have to agree with their opinion but the fact that we live in a culture of mind-numbing social media supported by idiotic reality television, it was refreshing and inspiring to see five athletes make a political statement. The athletes are somebody's cousin, brother, son and possibly father so none of us have the right to say they should keep their thoughts to themselves. For anyone that argues that the football field isn't the place for these types of statements, then what is "proper" the place? And why should there be a proper place? We are blessed with free speech and these men used it through the best medium available to them.

In 2003, did the Dixie Chicks criticize President Bush at the wrong place and time? If they had they waited until 2014 and made their comments at a local radio station, would there not have been backlash? Would it have mattered at that point? The Dixie Chicks much like the five athletes in St. Louis, made comments that a group of people considered wrong and were criticized. Sadly this has happened before in America. Just think about Muhammad Ali, John Carlos and Tommie Smith back in the 1960s. All three athletes were barred from their sport for speaking up for what they believed in but it did not destroy them; it made them stronger and in the end it made our country a better place.

In a world where we are quick to criticize athletes, idolize talentless celebrities being chased by cameras all day and where people are brainwashed by consumer culture, it is inspiring to see people in a position of comfort making a bold political statement. Thank you to the Rams and Rams' Coach Jeff Fisher for not taking disciplinary action against his players and respecting their right to free speech. More than anything thanks to Stedman Bailey, Tavon Austin, Jared Cook, Chris Givens and Kenny Britt of the St. Louis Rams. May their action inspire others in a similar position to do the same. •

4 Things You Should Know About Choosing Your First Credit Card

(BPT) - Whether you are headed to college, joining the armed forces, or simply looking to take greater control of your finances, you might be wondering if it's time to open your first credit card.

Although credit cards are not for everyone, they have some important benefits you should consider. First, responsible credit card use is a great way to start building a strong credit history, which can be key in qualifying for a car or the home you dream of owning one day. A credit card with rewards enables you to make the most of everyday purchases by earning points on your expenses. And for those who live life on the go, credit cards will help you take advantage of emerging payment technologies that offer more secure and faster ways to pay.

Of course, these benefits of owning a credit card are quickly offset if you are unable to make on-time monthly payments. Navy Federal Credit Union, among other financial institutions, encourages its members to pay off their balance in full each statement period. If you feel confident about your ability to use a credit card responsibly and you are ready to begin your search, consider these tips:

1. Go with an issuer you trust. "You may not know all about credit cards right away, and that's okay," says Randy Hopper, vice president of credit cards at Navy Federal.

"You should choose a financial institution you feel has your interests at heart. They should be willing to walk you through your questions over the phone or in-person, any time."

2. Limited credit history? You still have choices. So you don't have a long record of on-time mortgage and car payments, resulting in a strong credit history. Although people with stronger credit tend to be eligible for a greater number of credit card offers, you still have plenty of options. Look for a credit union or bank that will qualify you for a credit card not just based on your credit score, but based on their overall relationship with you. Some financial institutions like Navy Federal offer what is called a secured card, created in large part for consumers who have not had the opportunity to develop credit history.

3. Find a straightforward offer. By reading the fine print of an offer carefully you can determine whether the credit card offer is straightforward and excludes certain "gotchas." Be mindful of the fees associated with the offer and whether your rate could potentially increase after an "introductory period," a specified period of time on some offers, usually lasting a few months.

4. Find a product you can be proud of. "Do your homework and make sure you find a credit card with a low rate," says Hopper. "Although some great cards do carry an annual fee, try to find a credit card that requires only a low fee or no fee at all."

Rewards are also a big part of this equation. Make sure your rewards program is both simple and easy to use. You should be able to quickly determine the cash or travel value of your current points, at what rate you can earn points, and find easy options for claiming your rewards. Look out for programs that place a cap on your ability to earn points, set an expiration date on your points or require a certain points balance before you can claim rewards.

Making a decision about your first credit card does not have to be stressful. And if you follow the tips above, you may even discover that you enjoy taking charge of your finances and watching your credit score develop. •

Said sale will be held, but without covenant or warranty, express or implied, regarding title, possession, condition or encumbrances, including fees, charges and expenses of the Trustee and of the trusts created by said Deed of Trust, to pay the remaining principal sums of the note(s) secured by said Deed of Trust. The total amount of the unpaid balance of the obligation secured by the property to be sold and reasonable estimated costs, expenses and advances at the time of the initial publication of the Notice of Sale is: $633,790.09. If the Trustee is unable to convey title for any reason, the successful bidder's sole and exclusive remedy shall be the return of monies paid to the Trustee, and the successful bidder shall have no further recourse. The beneficiary under said Deed of Trust heretofore executed and delivered to the undersigned a written declaration of Default and Demand for Sale, and a written Notice of Default and Election to Sell. The undersigned caused said Notice of Default and Election to Sell to be recorded in the county where the real property is located. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (619)590-1221 or visit the internet website www.dipplc.com, using the file number assigned to this case 1210912-40. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web Site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. For sales information: (619)590-1221. Cal-Western Reconveyance LLC, 525 East Main Street, P.O. Pets Without Partners

Purrrfect Companions

Hannah is a sweet puppy who is fine with other dogs.

Jump into the holiday spirit and adopt a “pet without a partner” to give a homeless pet a second chance in life.

Hannah is a sweet “Puggle” who loves everyone she meets. This little cutie pie is darling to say the least. She is estimated to be around 2 years old and has lots of puppy-like energy and playfulness. At her foster home, Hannah is learning to use the doggie door. She does not like to share her chew bones and rawhides, so she will gather them up for herself. Hannah is spayed, current on vaccinations, dewormed, microchipped, and fine with other dogs.

Little Lizzie is an adorable 4-month-old female terrier mix who was found as a stray. Another sad case of having no collar or tags, was not microchipped and unable to locate her owners. Lizzy is a spectacular little pup with very polite play manners. She loves everyone she meets and plays well with all the other dogs at the rescue. Lizzy loves toys and is becoming a great little walker on leash. She is all puppy and will need a family who has enough time on their hands to train her properly as she is not currently housebroken. Lizzie is spayed, current on vaccinations, dewormed, and microchipped.

Captain is a gorgeous 4-month-old German Shepherd. He was originally bought from a breeder and the family soon realized that they had no extra time to train him. Captain is a very smart pup who is a good boy, an excellent listener and a quick learner. With his fabulous disposition, he is playful with the other dogs at our rescue, good with children and will make an excellent addition into any family. Captain is neutered, current on vaccinations, dewormed, and microchipped.

Kiki loves to be spoiled and admired.

To help more loving kitties get “Home for the Holidays”, Kitten Rescue is offering 50% off adoption fees in December for all cats 2 years and older.

Kiki is a gentle and sweet cat with looks that just won't quit. Like a glamorous Hollywood starlet, Kiki enjoys being showered with attention and admiration. She is cuddly, affectionate and she loves people. As an easygoing, low maintenance cat, she would be ideal for somebody looking for a companion to spoil. Kiki would be happy as an only cat to enjoy the love and affection she gives to and receives from her humans.

Neeko is a sweet boy who is equal parts goofy energy and adorable cuteness. Everyone who meets Neeko falls in love with his gorgeous blue eyes and equally spectacular personality. He doesn't seem very reactive to dogs, so he likely would adapt to a home with a cat friendly dog. Neeko can often be found upside down taking a nap. He definitely needs another cat in the home, as he would be pretty lonely without someone to wrestle and nap with.

Maid Marian is an adorable little princess who was born with big green eyes and a unique peach-beige coat. She loves attention and is happiest on your lap or being held by your heart. Along with her outgoing, playful nature, Maid Marian has a big endearing personality in a tiny package. She gets along very well with other adult cats and kittens. If you don't already have a kitty, she would love to be adopted with her brother, Barry, or her best friend, Magique.

Magique is a magical kitten who brings lucky change into people's lives, granting wishes and giving kisses. With her black obsidian coat and twinkling golden green eyes, she is a tiny package of warm cuddles. She loves to sit you or on the back of the couch, wrapping her body around your neck and shoulders, nuzzling into your hair. At her young age, she needs a kitty companion in her new home. If you don't already have a cat, Magique would love to be adopted with one of her brothers or with her best friend, Maid Marian.

These kittens are available for adoption through Kitten Rescue, one of the largest cat rescue groups in Southern California. All of our kitties are spayed/neutered, microchipped, tested for FeLV and FIV, dewormed and current on their vaccinations. For additional information and to see these or our other kitties, please check our website www.kittenrescue.org or email us at mail@kittenrescue.org. Your tax deductible donations for the rescue and Bella loves her new Palm Springs home.

It was her lucky day when Beautiful Bella and her new family met at the Manhattan Beach Hometown Fair.

“Bella has been with us a week now and we just love her! She is doing great with the crate and is so good we took her to Palm Springs overnight. She has also been out to lunch twice and is perfectly behaved. She is still pretty quiet, but every once in a while has these puppy bursts of energy and runs in circles around the house. We are just thrilled with her. -- Karen”

When you adopt a “pet without a partner,” you will forever make a difference in their life and they are sure to make a difference in yours. •

Wowser Schnauzers

Miracle is ready for a new life and a new home after a medical scare.

We are looking for volunteers to help with our pet adoption fairs which are held every Saturday at the Petco located at 537 N. Pacific Coast Highway, Redondo Beach 90277, from noon-3:30 p.m.. If you are interested in volunteering and can commit to at least one Saturday a month, please contact us at info@msfr.org. You can also visit all of our Miniature Schnauzers & Friends rescues at the adoption fair or check out our website, www.msfr.org. If you have any questions about a particular dog's availability you can email us at info@msfr.org. Schnauzers! But you can't adopt just one!

After reading my story, you'll know why I'm called Miracle because it is truly who I am. I'm also a 2-year old female Miniature Schnauzer/ShihTzu mix who was rescued from a LA county shelter where I was considered a stray. Someone was supposed to adopt me but when I was about to be spayed the shelter discovered that I had a major medical problem and my adopter backed out. I was diagnosed with a "diaphragmatic hernia" which means that I had tear in my diaphragm and my small intestine had moved into my chest cavity. As a result my heart had moved over into a teeny tiny space. After MSFR rescued me they took me to a specialist and the vet said the hernia was caused by a trauma. He said that he could do the surgery but it would be risky, however, without the surgery I would have died. It was pretty scary because there was no guarantee that I would make it through the operation but I didn't have many options. I had the surgery on 11/24/2014 and I'm happy to say that I'm perfectly healthy and the vet says I can now lead a normal life. Hence, the name Miracle!

Morty is a shy boy who needs a quiet household.

I'm so thankful to be here because it didn't look very promising in the beginning. I've been through a lot for a tiny, 9.5 pound, gal but knowing that there's a special family out there who will love and appreciate my spirit helped me make it. I'm a real sweetie and I get along great with everyone and will make a wonderful addition to your family. If you are interested in Miracle, please email info@msfr.org for more information.

Hi, I'm Morty and I'm a 3-year old Schnauzer/Maltese mix. I'm a cute little thing who looks like a tiny, 11 pound, white Schnauzer with a natural tail and big dark eyes. I was dumped by my previous owner over the 4th of July weekend at a high kill city shelter. Since I'm kind of shy, I found that place overwhelming so I tried to maintain a low profile. That's probably why I didn't get adopted but I'm out of my shell and ready to play a good game of fetch, which is my favorite pastime. I'm not very good with children – they play too rough and I'm just a bit of a guy. I'm looking for the best Christmas present of all – my forever family. Could it be you? If you are interested in Morty, please email info@msfr.org for more information.

My name is Winnie and I am the perfect little lady for you. I'm a quiet, sweet, female Miniature Schnauzer who gets along great with other dogs and LOVES people. I'm just a tiny gal, weighing only 10 pounds, and at 8-years of age there won't be any growth spurts! After I was rescued from a LA county shelter I was examined by a Vet and had a dental done. Twelve teeth had to be extracted but I am a healthy, happy and loving gal. I know it's the season of giving and all I want for Christmas is to find my forever family and give them love, loyalty and companionship. I've been waiting so long to find you, won't you please open your heart to me, you won't regret it. If you are interested in Winnie, please email info@msfr.org for more information.

If you've never seen a male, Catahoula Leopard Dog mix pup you must come and see me. My name is Earl and I'm one year old. I weigh about 60 pounds and I'm quite a handsome guy. I was rescued from a crowded LA County shelter where I came in as a stray. Like most large breed puppies, I am pounds of play, curiosity, energy and affection ... plus a few ounces of common sense! I am very intelligent and have lots of potential. I am already crate-trained, virtually housebroken and I have no obnoxious habits (yet). I have begun a basic training program and am ideal for an adopter who welcomes the opportunity to shape a pup into an adult dog to be proud of. I am a determined youngster who figures out what I am supposed to do a lot quicker than I actually do it, so my adopter should be aware that obedience training is a must. That said large-breed puppy experience is a big plus. I am an excellent choice for an active family; like other working breeds Catahoulas are happiest when kept busy. If you are interested in Earl, please email emread@verizon.net for more information.

Congratulations to our special guy Flanagan. He is now living with his new Mom and Dad, an 8-year old "mini" sister and a 10-year old cat. We weren't sure how he was going to do with the cat but they get along great! He waited a very long time for the right family to come along but it was worth it and we're thrilled that everyone is so happy! •

Congratulations to Flanagan at his new home.
