Meet the Father of Lasik Surgery Who Loves L.A.

By Rob McCarthy

The scientist behind the discovery that led to eye-correcting Lasik surgery isn't just really smart, he's generous, too. If you don't know about Mani Bhaumik, it's probably because you don't work in a scientific field or keep books about theoretical physics on your nightstand.

Dr. Bhaumik just donated $11 million to the physics and astronomy department at UCLA to attract talented faculty and researchers. Bhaumik came to UCLA in 1959 — “with $3 in my pocket,” according to him, on a postdoctoral fellowship in physics. The people of his village in India raised the money for the airfare to Westwood.

“I thought I'd died and gone to heaven,” he recalled, stepping on the campus. “Everyone was treated equally, not like back at home where the poor were treated like dirt.”

The best-selling author of “Code Name God” wants to advance knowledge of the basic laws of nature by establishing a world-leading center at the Los Angeles campus. His passion is for theoretical physics research and intellectual inquiry. Simply put, he is a cosmic detective looking for underlying explanations about the basic physical world.

“It's very difficult to raise funds for this area, because people don't understand what theoretical physicists do,” he says. Physics is the study of energy, matter and how they relate to one another. Dr. Bhaumik and his colleagues make sense of the laws that govern the world. Think of them as cosmic sleuths, like TV's Columbo, in lab coats.

Conducting work in theoretical physics takes a Ph.D, however, understanding it does not. Dr. Bhaumik is a huge believer in making science more understandable for the general public and young minds. He co-created an animated television show called “Cosmic Quantum Ray” about an intergalactic team of heroes, including a brainiac kid from Earth, who save the universe from destructive forces using their scientific smarts.

His gift will establish the Bhaumik Institute at UCLA to teach the community about scientific advances made by UCLA physicists, in addition to welcoming scholars and holding seminars and conferences for academics. Faculty, postdoctoral researchers and graduate students at the Bhaumik Institute will address “unanswered questions in all areas of theoretical physics,” according to UCLA.

“Everyone was treated equally, not like back at home where the poor were treated like dirt.”

The donation is the largest ever made to UCLA's physics and astronomy department. With previous donations to UCLA, he established the Mani L. Bhaumik Presidential Chair in Theoretical Physics and supported the work of a research group led by a physics professor. His philanthropic passions are UCLA and making its physics and astronomy department a world leader in research, and preparing generations of theoretical physicists to follow in his footsteps.

“Every moment of the day, we are touched by science and technology. I believe that we physicists can do a better job of showing how technology spawned by physics has affected all our lives,” he said.

Bhaumik was born in a village in West Bengal, India, and as a child slept on rags in a mud hut he shared with his parents and six siblings. He walked four miles to school in bare feet because he didn't own a pair of shoes. “My family didn't always know where our next meal would come from,” yet he decided to pursue a good education.

He overcame his family's poverty conditions using intellect and a fierce sense of intellectual curiosity, an essential quality in a scientist. He earned a master's degree at the University of Calcutta and became the first doctoral graduate from the Indian Institute of Technology Kharagpur.

Bhaumik arrived at UCLA in 1959 on a postdoctoral fellowship in physics, in the early years of laser technology. He began his career in applied physics two years later at Xerox Electro-Optical Systems as a laser scientist, then became director of the laser technology laboratory at Northrop's corporate research laboratory. There, in the early 1970s, they harnessed a laser technology that is used for the vision-correction surgery known as lasik.

It was a form of ultraviolet laser for cutting biological tissue cleanly without damaging surrounding tissue. The surgery eliminates the need for eyeglasses or contacts for many people who undergo the procedure.

Bhaumik is a fellow of the American Physical Society and of the Institute of Electrical and

Boomers: 5 Proven Practices to Win the Race Against Aging

(BPT) - Naps, knitting and nuzzling with the grandchildren - the traditional image of retirement is being challenged by the more than 76 million baby boomers in the United States.

This vibrant generation wants to make the most out of their golden years, and while hobbies and time with grandkids are a priority, they want more. To do so, they know that a proactive approach to health and wellness is a must.

Matt Johnson, health and performance expert and president of On Target Living, admires the tenacity boomers and all seniors exhibit when it comes to maintaining their health and well-being. He suggests five incredibly simple, yet powerful ways to age healthfully, and keep those engines revving at peak performance, no matter how vintage the model.

1. Take Advantage of Pit Stops

"Lack of sleep is the fastest way to age the human body," says Johnson. "Additionally, adequate sleep is extremely important for a healthy brain. Deep REM sleep allows the mind to rejuvenate. Memory, creativity and cognitive function get refreshed in this stage of sleep."

He recommends three steps to achieve quality sleep. First, go to bed at the correct time to achieve eight hours of sleep. Second, unplug and avoid digital devices that put out stimulating blue light. Third, add the relaxing mineral magnesium to your routine by taking an E

2. Fuel your Machine

"I like to tell people to think of nutrition as fuel for the body; without the correct fuel, the engine and components can't work correctly," says Johnson. "The most critical nutrients that boomers don't get enough of are supergreens and omega-3s. We know we all need to eat more green veggies, but did you know that up to 91 percent of the American population is deficient in omega-3s?"

He recommends every Boomer get 1,500 mg of EPA and DHA each day, such as 1 tablespoon of Nordic Naturals Arctic Cod Liver Oil Orange Flavor. It's a high-quality fish oil that offers an easy, safe way to add omega-3s to the diet. As for supergreens, he recommends spirulina and chlorella (types of algae), and frozen wheatgrass.

3. Get an Oil Change

Some oils are considered healthy and others cause health problems. Johnson recommends:

Adding:

- Extra virgin olive oil (EVOO) for salad dressings, baking and low-temperature sautéing
- Virgin coconut oil as a substitute for butter and baking oil
- Cod liver oil as a supplement to get omega-3s (not for cooking)

Removing:

- Vegetable oils like canola and soybean which are heavily processed and often made with GMOs

4. Rev your Engines Daily

"The benefits of exercise are endless, but the underdog benefit is how it makes us feel and think," says Johnson. "You should move your body if you want to stay sharp and happy."

Find an exercise program you enjoy, he suggests. "Exercise is the fountain of youth, but you shouldn't do something you don't like. Make sure you move your body daily. If you are looking for suggestions, think about hiring a trainer to learn a set program. I think focusing on form and technique over intensity is the first step."

5. Schedule Regular Maintenance Checks

"Play offense instead of defense with your health," says Johnson. "Modern medicine is better than ever at early detection and treatment."

The key is to focus on prevention. "Use annual doctor visits to screen, ask questions and monitor your risk factors. Remember, you can only get good answers if you ask good questions," he says.

Finally, Johnson reminds people that anti-aging doesn't exist. "We are all aging - the key is to age well. This means to aspire to quality of life. We all have motivators in our life: kids, grandkids, spouses, careers, passions, etc. Without your health, none of these can be enjoyed to the fullest." •

When We Needed It Most, the World Came to Orlando's Aid

By Buddy Dyer, Mayor of Orlando

On June 12, 49 souls were stolen from Orlando, murdered in an unimaginable act of terror. Hundreds more were injured or witnessed unthinkable violence.

Our city remains in a state of shock, our hearts broken as we grieve for the victims and their families. Everyone in our city is struggling to comprehend how Orlando, a place known around the world for joy and fun, is now also the site of the worst mass shooting in American history.

In Orlando's darkest hour, our community to thank our brothers and sisters from across America and around the world for standing with us, praying with us and mourning with us. Your shared strength and resolve has helped our city.

If there is any good to be found in the darkness that has consumed our city, it is that the world has had the chance to see the other side of Orlando. Not our famous theme parks, but the growing city that still has a small town feel. The place that in many ways is America's new melting pot. The City where diversity and inclusion are

"On behalf of everyone in Orlando, we want to thank our brothers and sisters from across America and around the world for standing with us, praying with us and mourning with us."

has been uplifted by the love and support from across our country and around the world. For decades, the world has come to Orlando to have fun. This week, when we needed it most, the world came to Orlando's aid.

We heard Americans singing outside of the White House. We saw rainbow flags flying above Seattle's Space Needle and iconic landmarks lit up from coast to coast, all to show Orlando that we weren't alone. Tens of thousands gathered in London, chanting, "Orlando, we have your back." We witnessed candles lit in honor of our victims in front of The Coliseum in Rome. We saw the Eiffel tower lit up in the colors of the rainbow. So many of our victims are Hispanic, and we felt the love and strength of Latin America. Every day, we continue to watch unique and powerful displays of support from Germany, Sweden, India, Chile, Brazil and on and on.

On behalf of everyone in Orlando, we want a vital part of our way of life.

When the worst that humanity has to offer visited our city, the residents of Orlando showed they were more than capable of showing the world the best of humanity. My hope is that what happened in Orlando and our response to it compels others to find ways to work together to overcome hate, intolerance and injustice. Incredibly, we've already begun to hear from those who say that what has happened here and how our community has responded has sparked a change in their hearts.

My hope is that we will be remembered, not as the city where a horrible shooting took place, but as the city that showed others that love can conquer hate. And, my hope is that Orlando's tragedy is remembered as the event that lead our country into a new era of embracing diversity, equality and fairness.

On behalf of everyone who calls Orlando home - thank you, thank you, thank you. •

"Find a place inside where there's joy, and the joy will burn out the pain."

It may have already begun but there are eight more courses and registration is open for these. Beginning from next Tuesday through July 8 will be "Ready, Set, Serve-Introduction to Volleyball." It will be for youth from ages 8-10 years old and the cost is $35 for the four-day course. It is shortened due to the Independence Day Holiday on Monday.

On the third week, from July 11-15, will be "Goal Time: Competitive Soccer Skills" for boys and girls from 8-15 years old. Cost is $40. The fourth week, July 18-22, is Jump Ball Basketball Fundamentals for those from ages 8-15. On the fifth week (July 25-29) will be World Cup: Intermediate Soccer Training for youth from 10-15 years old. From August 1-5 will be "One-on-One: Become a Complete Basketball Player." This is for those from ages 8-15. Week Seven (August 8-12) will be "Game Time: Advanced Basketball Training" for youth from 10-15 years old. The eighth week (August 15-19) will highlight Cool Kids' Fundamental of Soccer for those from seven to 12 years old. The summer classes will climax with "Spike It: Competitive Volleyball Skills" for youth from ages 10-15. All of these classes are $40. All classes will be held from Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to noon with exception of the second session due to the Monday holiday. For further information, please contact the Ainsworth Gym at (310) 349-1640 or log on at www.cityofhawthorne.com/depts/publicworks/commservices.

POOL EVENTS ARE HAPPENING

The Hawthorne Pool is already offering swimming lessons for youth and adults. Also, the Hawthorne youth and adult swimming season is going on. Hawthorne's own youth swimming team is called the "South Bay Stingrays" which features competition going from basic swimming abilities to the competitive levels. The Stingrays for the youth and the South Bay Swim Team for the adults are affiliated by the Southern California and USA Swimming Foundations.

Swim club members will be performing both pool and ocean swimming as the first ocean swim will take place in Seal Beach beginning at 8 a.m. on Saturday. Association Summer Championship Swim Meet at a site to be determined. Another ocean swim, the Corona del Mar/Don Burns One-Mile Ocean Swim is on August 20.

ANIMO BASEBALLERS GET ALL-CIF

The Animo Leadership High baseball team from Inglewood landed two players on the CIF-Southern Section Division VII team, named recently. Players included Cesar Rocha and Sergio Orejel.

Both keyed the Aztec-Eagles to the Division VII semifinals where they lost in the semifinals to eventual champion Academy of Academic Excellence from Apple Valley, 7-4 on May 31 at Hawthorne High School. Academic Excellence went on to defeat nearby rival Excelsior Charter from Victorville for the championship on June 4 at UC Riverside. Highlighting Animo was its 4-3 quarterfinal victory over Mulholland League rival Rolling Hills Prep on May 27 at Navy Field in Lomita. Rolling Hills Prep won the league, while the Aztec-Eagles finished second. The Huskies also entered the playoffs as the third seed.

LOCKETT MAKES ALL-CIF SOFTBALL

De Andria Lockett from Hawthorne Math and Science Academy was honored in the all-CIF-Southern Section Division VII Softball team recently. Lockett keyed the Aviators to a second place finish in the Mulholland League. Hawthorne Math and Science lost in the second round of the playoffs. Mulholland League champion Rolling Hills Prep went on to win the Division VII crown over Faith Baptist from Canoga Park 7-2 on June 3 at Deanne Barber Park in Irvine.

LENNOX SENIORS, 50/70 WIN DISTRICT

The Lennox Little League Baseball captured the Senior and 50/70 Divisions in the District 37 All-Star Tournaments last week. The Lennox 50/70 Stars, which consists of players from ages 11-13 years old, won the crown over Compton on June 20 at Jim Thorpe Park in Hawthorne. On Saturday, Lennox won the first round of the California Section 3 Tournament over District 36 champion Manhattan Beach 5-2 at Thorpe Park. Winning pitcher Daniel Castro pitched 5 2/3 innings, allowing two earned runs on three hits. He struck out seven batters.

The Lennox Seniors (age 15-16) swept through Tri Park from El Camino Village for the District 37 crown on June 18 and 19. After winning 10-9 on June 18, Lennox defeated Tri Park by forfeit for the title a day later. Tri Park lacked the number of players forcing the forfeit. Lennox begins Section 3 play on July 5 at Marine Park in Manhattan Beach.

Lawndale won the Junior (age 13-14) district title by topping Lennox, 7-6 on June 22 at Thorpe Park. Lawndale starts play in the Section 3 on July 5 at North Venice Little League Field. •

PETSPETS Pets PETSPETS

Wowser Schnauzers

Casey

We are looking for volunteers to help with our pet adoption fairs which are held every Saturday at the Petco located at 537 N. Pacific Coast Highway Redondo Beach 90277, from noon to 3:30 p.m. If you are interested in volunteering and can commit to at least one Saturday a month, please contact us at info@msfr.org. You can also visit all of our Miniature Schnauzers & Friends rescues at the adoption fair or check out our website, www.msfr.org. If you have any questions about a particular dog's availability you can email us at info@msfr.org. Schnauzers! Bet you can't adopt just one!

When I was rescued I was renamed and I'm now called Casey. I really like my name and the good life that has come with it. I'm a 3-year-old, male purebred Miniature Schnauzer who was rescued from an Inland Empire shelter. I was a bit of a mess when I arrived after being on my own for a while. I had hundreds of fleas residing on my emaciated frame. I mean seriously, who can think of eating when you have to battle those pesky critters. After several baths and "de-flea" medication, I'm happy to say that my "boarders" are gone. I'm still a bit underweight, should be about 16 pounds, but it won't take long to put those pounds on now that I don't have to battle the fleas. I am a good-natured guy who enjoys the company of other dogs and, of course, people. I have natural ears and a docked tail, however, it is longer than the traditional Schnauzer tail. I personally think that my tail, which is more like a Wire Haired Fox Terrier's, adds to my charm and personality. Come visit me and see if you agree. If you are interested in Casey, please email info@msfr.org for more information.

Hi there, my name is Randy and for a guy who's only 3-months-old, I've had a pretty interesting life. I was born around March 12 of this year but then I was dumped at an L.A. county shelter without any explanation. My previous owners called the next day and wanted me back but then never came to take me home. I think that it probably worked out for the best because it's obvious they really didn't love me. When I was rescued, I was extremely matted, not well socialized and clearly neglected. No wonder I was fearful of people and I sure didn't trust that groomer person with the clippers and scissors. I guess that why I ended up with a "mop top" makeover. Even if it's a bit unconventional, I think I look pretty cute for a tiny, six pound, Miniature Schnauzer/Shih Tzu pup. Since moving in with my foster family, I've gotten with the program and have proven that I am a sweet guy at heart who loves giving kisses. I'm still going to require an owner that is dog savvy and without small children to be the best guy I can be. Would you be willing to give me a home and show me that life can be loving and good? If you are interested in Randy, please email info@msfr.org for more information.

Randy

What's in a name you say? Well, for a 2-year-old, female Miniature Schnauzer I would venture to guess quite a bit. You see, my name is Lady Jane – and I will truly look like a lady as soon as all my hair grows back. In fact, I have already acquired some ladylike manners. For starters, I'm calm, quiet, have a sweet temperament and am very friendly with other dogs. Not too bad for a disheveled mess who arrived at an L.A. county shelter so neglected that I was matted and had dreadlocks. After being shaved, which was a rather humiliating experience, I was a tad timid around people. It took some patience and human interaction to realize better days are ahead. Of course, being hand fed lots of chicken didn't hurt either. Since my transformation, I'm certain this 16-pound Miss with a natural tail and natural ears will become the lady of your heart. If you are interested in Lady Jane, please email info@msfr.org for more information.

If a 1-year-old "Schnoodle" (Miniature Schnauzer/Poodle mix) with a sweet face, a positive attitude and determination is your idea of a great pal – then I'm your dog. They call me Merlin, like the magician, and I have the distinct honor of being the first MSFR rescue of 2016 but I think it's time I found a home. The MSFR folks noticed me when they picked up my pal Neo because we were both in the medical building. I was taken there on Dec. 21, 2015 after I was found on the street with a broken leg. Initially, the MSFR folks were told someone was going to adopt me. They kept tabs on me and when no one claimed me, they scooped me up. Off to their Vet who took another set of x-rays and discovered that I had an awfully bad break that had begun to heal. The only solution was to have surgery to "re-break and reset" the bones. It wasn't nearly as bad as I had anticipated and I wasn't down for long! I learned to travel, including the stairs, pretty well even with a cast on. I believe all of that activity helped me keep my perfect weight of 15 pounds. After two months, I was totally healed, looking for my forever home and ready to play. I get along great with dogs and I did I mention I love to play? I'm a real go-getter – always ready for an adventure – and did I mention that I love to play? If you are interested in Merlin, please email info@msfr.org for more information. •

Happy Tails

Everyone knew that charismatic Chloe would be adopted in no time. Her sweet face, natural ears and tail made her a huge hit with everyone. In just a couple of days, she found her forever home with a previous adopter. Chloe now has a "brother" named Remi (formerly Franklin) who is a MSFR 2015 alumnus and is living the life in Altadena with a family of four. Congratulations to everyone and much happiness. •

Congratulations to Chloe!

Electronics Engineers and, in 2011, the Indian government awarded him the prestigious Padma Shri for distinguished service in science and engineering.

With previous donations to UCLA, he established the Mani L. Bhaumik Presidential Chair in Theoretical Physics and supported the work of a physics research group.

"I consider UCLA my home, and I want more people to learn about science," which is why he wrote the best-seller "Code Name God" and a followup book, "The Cosmic Detective." He hopes that his books, TV show and his philanthropy give the public a reason to support science and government funding of basic research.

First published in the United States in 2005, "Code Name God" explains why the discoveries of modern physics can be reconciled with the great truths of the world religions. Dr. Bhaumik in his writing finds strong support in advanced physics and cosmology for existence of a higher power, which he refers to as "The Source."

In the "The Cosmic Detective," he introduces the study of the universe-called modern cosmology-for the scientifically inclined general reader. Apollo 14 Astronaut Edgar Mitchell wrote the foreword to the book in which he praises Dr. Bhaumik's talent to distill heavy-duty research into a straightforward narrative for the layman. Building on recent developments in science, the 2008 title brings "new pictures, larger views and insights about the magnificence of our universe." The book is published in seven languages, a testament to Bhaumik's influence within and outside the world's scientific community.

In India, he established the Mani Bhaumik Educational Foundation to support high-achieving Indian students and donated land for the proposed Bhaumik International Center for Advanced Research at the Indian Institute of Technology. His philanthropic work in Southern California includes various Indian-American charities and an annual International Award through the UCLA Neuropsychiatry Institute that spotlights scientific evidence demonstrating the mind's effect on healing. •
