A Superhero Visits Green Elementary

Superhero "Zero the Hero" helps kids learn to use the number zero in math. Learning the importance of zero is fundamental to understanding advanced mathematical concepts and Zero the Hero makes it fun and engaging for students to learn about math. Zero the Hero made a surprise visit to Kinder - second grade classrooms at Green Elementary and she gave each class a mathematical challenge created to enhance the teachers' STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics) curriculum. Principal Jenny Padilla aims for Green Elementary students to be excited to learn about math and with the help of a superhero she will attain this goal. ## Why the Do-Not-Call List Needs a Superhero

By Rob McCarthy

What happened to the National Do Not Call list that was supposed to stop unwanted telemarketing calls?

The national registry of households that don't want to be bothered with unsolicited sales pitches worked for several years after the block took effect in 2003. The telemarketers backed off for awhile, however, more than a decade later the robocalls are back. Companies behind them are using phone technology that makes a caller look legitimate, and so more of us are picking up.

What people in Washington, D.C., would really like is for the phone service providers to function as Robocops.

"Robocalls have become epidemic but the phone companies have been slow to provide their frustrated customers with relief," said Tim Marvin, who heads up the End Robocalls campaign for Consumers Union, the policy and advocacy division of Consumer Reports.

Blocking phone numbers or the location of the caller is called spoofing, and it's no laughing matter to the keepers of the Do Not Call Registry. They say that technology that blocked unwanted callers after the registry was created has been re-engineered for bad purposes.

The head of the Federal Communications Commission has enlisted the nation's telephone providers to build more consumer-protections into phone services. The Robocall Strike Force met once over the summer, and is brainstorming to create counter technology and other fixes to spoofing. There are obstacles, however, because of changes in how phone service is provided.

Consumers are opting for phone service via Internet, called VOIP, because of higher-quality sound and robocall blocking services. Scammers have discovered technology to defeat the blocks when they send a call into the phone network. Authorities say the cloaking technology hides the callers' real identity and their location, appearing to be a relative or a government office.

One California congresswoman is determined to slap the telemarketing blitz with a federal ban that takes its name from a futuristic movie franchise. The Repeated Objectionable Bothering of Consumers on Phones (ROBOCOP) Act would require telecom companies to offer consumers free optional robocall-blocking technology, according to its sponsor.

"ROBOCOP will put an end to the scourge of robocalls so families can enjoy dinner in peace, people can watch their favorite show without constant interruption, and you won't ever be left wondering if you actually won a Caribbean cruise," said Rep. Jackie Speier, D-San Francisco.

She introduced ROBOCOP four months before the FCC Robocop Task Force sat down for the first time. A spokeswoman for the FCC reported after the meeting that "stopping unwanted calls is a simple idea but complex to accomplish," thus tempering expectations for a permanent fix anytime soon. The task force and FCC have narrowed down what realistically should be done.

Calls that impersonate a U.S. government office should be stopped, said spokeswoman Alison Kutler in a report last month on the FCC web site. A low-tech solution offered is that phone providers block the frequently spoofed phone numbers coming into their networks.

Their databases would include numbers that robocallers use to impersonate government, healthcare agencies and banks. Political campaigns and charities are exempt from the Do Not Call list, so even the proposed fixes wouldn't stop them from calling and asking for donations.

The phone providers, especially the voice-over-Internet users, could authenticate caller ID if they chose to, Kutler said. It's the phone providers who are partly to blame for robocallers getting through their networks to customers, she suggested. If the Internet-phone services all included "robust" robocall blocking and filtering, all subscribers in the network could block unwanted callers and send them to voicemail. The FCC says it's working with providers to do just that.

The agency also collects data on which phone numbers generate the most complaints from consumers. More than 3 million complaints about robocalls were filed last year, according to the consumer federation. The data has helped robocall blocking companies improve their systems, according to the FCC.

Its power to stop incoming calls from outside the country is very limited, according to the FCC's spokeswoman. So is the government's ability to deter overseas operators who defy the Do Not Call law. Less than 10 percent of the fines were paid, says the Consumer Federation of America which is supporting the ROBOCOP Act in Congress.

The ROBOCOP Act, among other things, would direct federal regulators to require telecom companies to offer free robocall-blocking technology to consumers, according to Speier's office.

While the bill works its way through Congress, phone customers are being urged to voice their displeasure through lower-level channels. The phone providers need the pressure turned up on them, says a leading advocate for strengthening the call registry that worked well until 2011.

"If you want to be mad at someone," says Tim Marvin, the campaign manager for the Consumers Union's End Robocalls campaign, "call your phone company." •

News for the City of Good Neighbors from City Clerk Huber

REPUBLIC SERVICES OFFERS FREE EVENT

Thanks to our friends at Republic Services we have a special event on tap for this Saturday, October 29th from 9 a.m. to 12 noon at the East parking lot of the Memorial Center. They are offering to the residents of Hawthorne the following services: shredding, e-waste roundup, and free composting. You can bring your paper documents to get shredded. You can bring in your old computer, printer, television or any other electronic gadget to get properly disposed off. And finally, you can bring in a large container or small truck in to load up on free composting material for your winter gardening. Republic Services is our trash collection agency and they are very supportive of the community by helping to sponsor civic events. So, bring your stuff down to the parking lot behind the Betty Ainsworth Center this Saturday morning. Shred some waste and pick up some waste.

RAMONA PANCAKE BREAKFAST

The Ramona Neighborhood Association is sponsoring their 2nd Annual Pumpkin Pancake Breakfast this Saturday, October 29th at Ramona Park from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. You really can't beat the prices. Members of the RNA are free, non-members pay a whopping $2 for a plate of hot cakes. So, go spend $5 on your java at Starbucks and then stop by 136th Street for a hearty breakfast outside in the fresh air. Forecasts call for the rain to stop on Saturday morning. Come out and breathe some clean air.

A DAY WITHOUT

A 2004 movie entitled, "A Day Without a Mexican" was released and shown mostly in SoCal movie theaters. It depicted, in a somewhat funny way, what California would be like if all Mexicans left the state. The movie was not a political ad to encourage a vote for a political candidate. It was simply meant as a humorous way of looking at our culture. Picking up on this theme, I started wondering what it would be like if we had a day without Germans? No Oktoberfest? No cold ones? How about a day without coffee? Wow! That would put a lot of people on edge. How about a day without electricity, like we experienced in Hawthorne when we had a day without power on Christmas Day? I thought of this movie the other day when we had a cyber attack on several large websites on the East Coast. What would happen if we had a day without the internet? We have become so dependent upon communications from our electronic devices that life as we know it would suddenly stop. It would be a major hardship for many of us who cannot live without our cell phones. Have we put all of our trust into our man-made cyber infrastructure? Ecommerce would stop. Government agencies could not do their job. The DMV was a mess the other day. I may be more anxious about the 'big one' hitting our cyber cloud than the big shaky one. Whenever the worries of this world strike me, I think of one of my favorite scriptures that I have committed to memory. Philippians 2:6-7 says, "Have no anxiety about anything, but in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving, let your requests be known to God and the peace of God, which surpasses all understanding, will guard your hearts and minds in Christ Jesus." Is this election season getting you down? Are the upcoming holidays already making you anxious? Even after having a cold one, do those nagging, negatives still keep you from getting a good night's sleep? I find my peace in a faith that God has given me. Whatever way you find yourself using to cope with today, we are all in this thing together. Life will go on no matter who is elected on November 8th. As we used to say back in the day, "Peace out" my friends. Just don't let the battery on your cell phone die. That would be the end. •

Make Costumes! For Creative Play

By Priscilla Hershberger

El Segundo Library Staff Book Reviews and Recommendations

For this week's review I will be discussing a few books that will help get you ready for Halloween. Finding the perfect Halloween costume can be a struggle but with the help of these two books you will be able to DIY anything from a pirate to a princess or even the floor of a movie theater.

The first book, How to Create Spectacular Halloween Costumes by Louann Brown and Jason Nemeth is the perfect place to look for some inspiration for creative last minute costume ideas. My personal favorite is a costume named "Walk all over me" This inexpensive costume idea allows the wearer to transform themselves into the floor of a movie theater in seven simple steps! I am a huge fan of DIY costumes and this book lays out some simple ideas that can be used as the foundation to create a variety of spooky and frightfully fun costumes. There are other "How-to" titles in this set including building haunted houses, carving cool pumpkins and making frightening decorations.

How to Create Spectacular Halloween Costumes by Louann Brown and Jason Nemeth.

Next up is Make Costumes! For Creative Play by Priscilla Hershberger. This is another excellent book that is packed with costume ideas. The best part is that most of the materials needed to make these costumes can be found at home! Hershberger includes classic costumes like ballerinas, pirates, vampires and robots. The costumes shown in this book are perfect for Halloween costumes but that's not all. They are exactly what the doctor ordered to encourage creative play at home. If your little one loved to play dress up or act out stories these costumes, props and accessories are sure to be welcome additions! The book has step by step instructions with photos making it easy to follow and it is broken up into categories such as tops, armor, hats, and accessories and so on making it easy to create new costumes using various pieces from throughout the book.

The El Segundo Public Library offers access to its collection of titles in a variety of formats, including traditional hardback, e-books and books on CD. ## Film Review

'Moonlight' Shines Light on a Chorus of Exciting New Voices in American Cinema

By Jasper Bernbaum
for www.cinemacy.com

In an age of franchises and blockbusters, it's funny that a film like "Moonlight" feels so monolithic. It is a coming-of-age story that is both expansive and yet so personal— not only to the filmmakers and talent involved but personal to everyone occupying a theater seat. It is a necessary and vibrant depiction of race and sexuality in America during a divisive time in this country, yet the film does not feel political, rather, like a chorus of exciting new voices in American cinema. A quiet, patient feature, this is a film that feels like a landmark, for not only this moment but will maintain relevance for years to come. In its own unique way, "Moonlight" is a blockbuster in its own right.

The story follows a young African-American man named Chiron on his journey to discover young men cast evoke the same personality through more subtle details of speech and body language. But in a sense, it feels almost fitting that the three manifestations of Chiron feel so eerily similar, yet look distinctly separate. The power of director Barry Jenkins' character study is that, through Chiron, he is not telling the story of one young black man growing up in America, but thousands. Chiron is a character who deals with some similar tribulations that often limit people of color in film, however, in "Moonlight" these struggles are depicted with much more angst as the character is forced to deal with misgivings about his masculinity, sexuality, and family. The powerful portrayal of these universal themes of struggle are the makings of not just a great film, but an essential one.

Jenkins continues the conversation that he started in his first and only prior feature, the definition of manhood. Framed as a triptych, the film portrays a different actor playing Chiron in three key moments of his youth. As a young kid, Chiron confides in a drug dealer whom he considers a father figure, while his mom's own addiction escalates. Years later, as a high school student, Chiron struggles to understand his sexuality after developing feelings for the only classmate that shows him respect and friendship. Later, as a young adult, Chiron has established a tough persona as a dealer, yet finds himself struggling with his masculinity after reconnecting with the classmate.

One of the most apparent successes of "Moonlight" is the casting of Chiron in all three stages of his life. Despite not particularly resembling each other, each of the three

"Medicine for Melancholy." Charming as it was, his debut was conversational and frequently ham-fisted for a film that didn't fall far from the early 'mumblecore' movement. In form, "Moonlight" could not be more different. Operatic in its scope, yet gentle in its expression, "Moonlight" is Jenkins' butterfly. There is an intimacy to how Jenkins and cinematographer James Laxton follow their characters without interfering with their reactions to the environment. As filmmakers and dramatists, this guidance proves to be their greatest gift; it results in a film both refined and poetic, while staying raw and pure.

"Moonlight" is rated R for some sexuality, drug use, brief violence, and language throughout. 110 minutes. Now playing at the Landmark. •

Culver City Offense Too Much for Hawthorne in Loss; Lawndale falls to El Segundo

By Eric Ramos

Hawthorne could not overcome four turnovers in a 62-35 Ocean League loss to Culver City last Friday at Halcap field. Quarterback Marte Mapu threw a 37-yard touchdown pass to Justice Powers to cut the Centaurs' lead, 42-35, with 10 minutes remaining in the fourth quarter.

Culver City responds with a 10-yard touchdown run by quarterback Jonathan Martin. A 5-yard touchdown reception by wide receiver Deven Osbourne gave the Centaurs a 55-35 lead and put the game out of reach with six minutes left in the game.

Hawthorne falls into a four-way tie for first place with Culver City, El Segundo and Lawndale. The Cougars (3-5, 2-1) have two game remaining and will look to finish the season strong.

Culver City got off to a fast start as Martin connected with Mekhi Ware on a 20-yard touchdown to give the Centaurs an early 7-0 lead. Hawthorne marches down the field on the ensuing drive and scores on a 2-yard touchdown run by Mapu to even the score, 7-7, in the first quarter.

Culver City comes right back as Alex Smith returns the kickoff 95 yards for a touchdown. Hawthorne opened the second quarter with a 2-yard touchdown run by Mapu to even the score, 14-14.

Running back Brandon Oum added an 8-yard touchdown run to extend the lead, 21-14. After a Hawthorne turnover, Martin hits Kevin McGuire for a 41-yard touchdown to give the Centaurs a 22-14 lead at halftime.

Mapu finished the game with 265 yards passing and two touchdowns while adding 125 yards rushing and three touchdowns.

Powers had 13 receptions for 201 yards and two touchdowns. Martin completed 14 of 16 passes for 222 yards and five touchdowns for Culver City. Oum rushed for 110 yards on 10 carries.

Hawthorne will host El Segundo Friday at 7 p.m. for a key matchup in the Ocean League.

LAWNDALE VS. EL SEGUNDO

Lawndales' high-octane offense was shut down as they were held to 181 yards of total offense in a 14-7 Ocean League loss to El Segundo last Friday. The Cardinals fall to 4-4 overall on the season and 2-1 in league play.

After a scoreless first half, the Eagles got on the board with a 1-yard quarterback sneak by Jake Palmer. Lawndale answers with a 14-play, 80-yard drive capped by Jalen Hamler's 9-yard touchdown pass to Hunter Williams, tying the score, 7-7, in the fourth quarter.

The Eagles game-winning drive was capped by running back Taz Tauaese's 31-yard touchdown run with 6:43 left in the game. Lawndale was unable to muster anything on offense the rest of the game and explosive running back Jordan Wilmore was held in check by a tough Eagles' defense.

Lawndale will look to rebound from the loss when they visit Beverly Hills Friday for a 7 p.m. kick off.

LEUZINGER VS. TORRANCE

Leuzinger rolled up 542 yards of total offense in a 39-3 Pioneer League win over Torrance last Friday. The Olympians are in a two-way tie for first place with West Torrance and remain undefeated in league play.

Leuzinger got off to a slow start with a 6-0 lead at halftime. The Olympians scored 21 points in the third quarter and were able to shut down the Torrance offense. Quarterback Kaymen Cureton completed 16 of 27 passes for 254 yards and a touchdown with an interception. Junior running back Elijah Myles added 90 yards rushing on 11 carries for the Olympians. Tariq Culpepper had seven receptions for 103 yards and a touchdown.

The win sets up a showdown for first place with West Torrance on Friday at 7 p.m.

INGLEWOOD VS. MIRA COSTA

Inglewood was held scoreless through three quarters and could not recover in a 35-7 loss to Mira Costa last Friday. The Sentinals remain winless in the Bay League and fall to 3-5 on the season. The Sentinals' defense gave up three touchdown passes to backup Reed Vabrey while running back Justin Goring added two touchdowns in the first half.

Inglewood running back Tyaire Dunlap finished with 97 yards rushing on 27 carries. Goring rushed for 107 yards on nine carries for Mira Costa. The Sentinals (3-5, 0-3) will travel to Redondo Union High School Friday for a 7 p.m. kick off. •

How Technology Is Simplifying Relief of Chronic Pain

(BPT) - Doctors hate seeing patients suffering from chronic pain, and not just because their instinct is immediately to want to help their patients to feel better. One of the primary challenges doctors confront is that even though chronic pain is common, it can be extremely difficult to diagnose and treat. The condition can be debilitating for patients and frustrating for the doctors trying to help them.

"Chronic pain is a multi-faceted condition," says Dr. Ahmed Raslan, assistant professor of Neurological Surgery at Oregon Health and Sciences University in Portland. "The causes are varied, and each person experiences chronic pain differently. The sheer number of variables in play can make effective treatment extremely complex. It's not unusual for doctors and patients to try multiple types and combinations of treatment before finding something that provides at least partial relief, and that process can take months and even years."

More than 11 percent of American adults suffer from chronic pain, according to a recent National Institutes of Health study. People who live with chronic pain report numerous negative effects on their lives, including damage to personal relationships, decreased productivity at work, disruption of their daily routine and even depression. The Institute of Medicine has estimated the medical costs and lost productivity associated with chronic pain could cost as much as $635 billion per year.

"Many chronic pain patients face barriers to effective treatment, including the need for continual doctor visits to adjust aspects of their treatment, and difficulty traveling to meet with their physicians," Dr. Raslan says. "Conditions such as intractable back pain, nerve injury, neck pain, pain after hernia operations, spinal cord injury pain, post herpetic neuralgia, complex regional pain syndrome, and pain after failed back surgery can force patients to try multiple treatments. Once they've tried a number of options and still have not achieved the desired comfort they may become a candidate for spinal cord stimulation therapy."

Spinal cord stimulation (SCS) therapy treats chronic pain by interrupting pain signals before they reach the brain. According to Dr. Raslan, the therapy works by "flooding the gates of the spinal cord so it cannot allow unpleasant pain signals to pass through the gates. Depending on how fast and regular the therapy is being delivered, patients may feel a slight tingling sensation in the area of the body associated with their pain, and in most cases patients report that sensation replaces the feeling of pain, which corresponds to pain relief."

Though SCS has been around for years, recent advances from St. Jude Medical have made the proven effective treatment simpler for patients and doctors to use successfully. St. Jude Medical recently launched the Proclaim Elite SCS System, which is the most advanced SCS system the company has ever developed, and which includes a new, innovative platform that enables patients to adjust therapy with an Apple iPod Touch mobile device. The application is easy to use which the company hopes will enhance patient experience and delivery optimal results for patients.

The company does note that implantation of a spinal cord stimulation system can involve risk, such as painful stimulation, loss of pain relief and surgical risks, such as paralysis, during the implantation procedure. Patients should talk to their physician to determine if spinal cord stimulation therapy is right for them and their particular pain condition.

For many patients the therapy can deliver pain relief leading to dramatic improvement in quality of life. "Before I tried SCS, managing my chronic pain was very difficult," says Ronald Seeling, 50, of Warren, Oregon, a patient of Dr. Raslan. "For many years, I was taking a lot of pain medication and my quality of life was diminished. I could barely walk and couldn't do things around the house or visit with my grandkids."

Seeling says SCS has provided him with more predictable and consistent chronic pain relief.

"Best of all, I was able to 'test drive' the treatment before I committed to it," Seeling says. "Just a few months later, my pain is under control and I'm able to attend the grandkids' ball games and birthday parties and even help with the dishes."

"I'm encouraged by the convenience and freedom that my patients experience with this cutting-edge treatment," Dr. Raslan says. "It has helped people like Ronald take control of their chronic pain and experience a better quality of life."

Raslan cautions that SCS may not be right for everyone, so talk to your doctor about treatment options for your chronic pain. # PETSPETS Pets PETSPETS

Purrrfect Companions

Pumpkin

Violet

Looking for a new fall friend? As with every homeless pet, these kitties are looking for special people who will love them forever in their new home.

Pumpkin is a very sweet boy who was rescued with his littermates from a high kill shelter at just 3 weeks old. Because he was hand fed until he learned to eat on his own, Pumpkin loves affection and attention from his human friends. He runs to greet you when you walk in the door and purrs the moment you touch him. Pumpkin will let you carry him around like a baby and will curl up to sleep with you. Because he is so young, he likes to play a lot, pouncing on just about everything, including his brother and sister. Pumpkin gets along with everyone including a very big, calm, sweet doggie in his foster home.

Violet is a wonderful little kitten who nearly starved to death at birth, but was rescued by dedicated Kitten Rescue volunteers. Violet is very independent and good at taking care of herself. She never has accidents with the litter box, eats like a champ, and can be found playing with her littermates at nearly any time of the day. Violet will need another kitten or cat to play with in her forever home. Ideally, she would be adopted her with her brother Beauregard who has a very loud purr and is content to curl up in your lap for affection.

Bertie was the smallest one of her litter and was pretty shy to begin with. Now she's a very curious, playful and sweet little kitten. Because she's still a baby, it's important that Bertie goes to a home with another cat or kitten, so she's not lonely and can grow up to be a well mannered kitty. Both of her brothers have been adopted, so she really wants a playmate. Bertie is easygoing and loves everyone she's met so far, cats, dogs, people, you name it. Bertie is so excited to find her forever human and kitty family and has her little suitcase all packed up and ready to go!

Charlie and Chloe are a bonded brother/sister pair who are looking for a home together. These two love playing with other cats and dogs, but are most often with each other. They were bottle fed by Kitten Rescue volunteers, so are they especially affectionate with people. Chloe is the big cuddle bug of the two. Charlie is an avid explorer - and yes, his eyes are different colors!

Orly has not had an easy start. For some reason, she found herself in the pound at three months old. Orly must have had a family before that because she is very loving and craves being touched. She was next in line to be euthanized when Kitten Rescue stepped in to save her. Orly has learned about love and play and she now needs the security of a forever home. Orly would love to be adopted with one of her step siblings: brother Meeko, or sisters Elle or Kiwi. If she is not adopted with one of them, she needs the interaction with another kitten or cat.

Kiwi is quiet and sweet until you feed her and she turns into a Gremlin! She has the softest little mew, but once she is eating she starts to growl at anyone nearby. She is just saying "my food, stay away." Kiwi is a nut...a beautiful loving little nut who could be yours! She would love to be adopted with either her step brother Meeko or step sisters Elle or Orly or into home with another kitty. Kiwi is good with other cats, friendly dogs and children over 8 years old.

Margot is playful and full of energy. She loves to use her scratching post, sit in the window to watch birds, play with lasers, shoelaces, and anything else she deems a toy! She recently had a litter of six adorable kittens. They all went to good homes and now she needs an amazing forever home too. Margot loves to go on walks outside on a leash and harness. She growls at other cats since she had to fend for herself on the hard streets of L.A., but she would probably do best with another kitty to play with (it just might take a little bit to realize the other kitty isn't a threat). Margot is a wonderful model and is sure to be the next famous internet cat! She can be a bit nippy, so she is probably not a good match for kids. She's a lot of fun and will make an excellent pet for an owner who has time to play or has another kitty.

Bandit is absolutely adorable and extremely photogenic. She loves to play with all sorts of toys including feathers, which she will drag around. Bandit has the cutest meow which she will display when you pet her. She will lay top of your feet in bed just to me near you. Bandit needs to be in a home with other kitties so she can have a playmate.

Ragnar is pure joy. It must be good to be Ragnar, because everything is just so much fun for him. He is a super sweet, cuddly, affectionate goofball with just a hint of cerebellar hypoplasia (his reward for surviving panleukopenia). Its not enough to cause any real impairment, but enough so that he has a slight head bobble and is clumsy, in a very endearing way. It certainly doesn't slow him down as he gets the zooms just like any other kitty his age. Ragnar has been brought up in a home with several cats and kittens as well as dogs. He's more a fan of his feline compadres and would be a great companion for anyone who likes to cuddle and play. Ragnar will certainly a smile to your face with his sweet and clumsy shenanigans.

These kitties are available for adoption through Kitten Rescue, one of the largest cat rescue groups in Southern California. All of our kitties are spayed/neutered, microchipped, tested for FeLV and FIV, dewormed and current on their vaccinations. For additional information and to see these or our other kittens and cats, please check our website www.kittenrescue.org or email us at mail@kittenrescue.org. Your tax deductible donations for the rescue and care of our cats and kittens can be made through our website or by sending a check payable to Kitten Rescue, 914 Westwood Blvd. #583, Los Angeles, CA 90024.

On Saturdays, we have adoptions from noon to 3:30 p.m. in Westchester at 8655 Lincoln Blvd. just south of Manchester Ave. and also in Mar Vista at 3860 Centinela Ave, just south of Venice Boulevard. Our website lists additional adoption sites and directions to each location. •
