A Bunny Bonanza Celebration

On Saturday, March 23rd, The City of Hawthorne held a Bunny Bonanza Celebration. Due to rain, the event had to be moved last minute inside the Memorial Center. The rain didn't deter families from coming to enjoy the Easter event. There was a marionette show, coloring books, coloring bracelets, hole in one golf, face painting, pictures with the Easter bunny and more. The grand finale was the Easter egg hunt. Three different egg hunts was held for different age groups, the last one being a free for all. Photo courtesy City of Hawthorne.

We are the Best City in the South Bay!

By Ron Sokol

Granted, not all may agree. In fact, there may be quite a bit of disagreement, but at the end of the surprisingly short meeting (just 90 minutes) of the Hawthorne City Council on March 26, 2024, this statement was indeed made. Shall we take a vote?

The agenda and the meeting were shorter than usual, but still so much was addressed. First, each Council meeting goes forward in a typical manner: The Invocation, which is on the spiritual side, followed by the Pledge of Allegiance, which is on the more "down to earth" side, and then Roll Call.

Council member Alex Monteiro introduced members of the American Red Cross and then read portions of a very detailed Proclamation the City has issued extolling the virtues of this venerable organization. The month of March is dedicated to the Red Cross Mission.

Locally, the Red Cross serves 29 cities, one of which is Hawthorne. It is not just providing much-needed blood, but assisting with disasters and working to give emotional support. Most of those involved with the Red Cross are volunteers, and more are needed. The exemplary efforts of the Red Cross range from emergency shelters to assistance at schools. Notably, the Chair of the local Red Cross grew up in Hawthorne and taught there for over 40 years.

You may not be aware that our nation currently has a blood shortage. We here on the West Coast must purchase blood from the East Coast. As such, if you feel so moved, one step you can take is to donate blood, but other Red Cross programs would welcome your involvement (which can mean so much to the community). Specifics tell the tale: The Red Cross has three paid staff locally, 200 volunteers, and, as noted, serves some 29 cities.

A representative from Senator Bradford's office then stepped forward to read a letter he had written regarding the apparent increase Southern California Edison is seeking in utility rates. Senator Bradford is not critical of what SCE is seeking to do, emphasizing that it is a fixed-rate charge with the goal of replacing fossil fuels as much as possible.

The good Senator also has introduced legislation in Sacramento with the goal of making sure what SCE does is carefully monitored, and that SCE has to report to the Legislature. Bottom line, we have some back-and-forth arguments about what SCE is doing, and trying to do. It will play out over time, including with respect to the hearings before the Public Utilities Commission next month.

During the "oral communications" portion of the meeting, public members came forward to address several issues of concern. On this occasion, these ranged from cannabis to the upcoming Autism Awareness Walk (April 6 from 9 am to 1 pm), to the Arts Show in which Hawthorne is participating on April 11 starting at 6 pm, to a gentleman (a proud resident of the City of Good Neighbors), who sadly is having serious difficulties in parking even in front of his own home. Further, this fellow, in a professional and dignified manner, expressed concern that many have about the plight of the homeless, and the challenges faced by neighborhoods in which they seek to remain (sometimes in cars). He detailed parking problems where he resides (he got a ticket in front of his own home), that parking spaces the city has designated are very problematic, and the need for speed humps for safety purposes.

Addressing the City Council during "oral communications" can further your cause. Each member of the public is afforded three minutes to go on record. Issues can be referred to the appropriate agency, department or personnel after that. Presenters fare better when they keep anger and vitriol out of their remarks and focus instead on a courteous and clear statement about what is needed and why. As far as I can tell, this City Council listens, and its goal is to be responsive.

There is a "consent calendar" that typically passes swiftly, where matters are identified with consent requested. One such item this night is to choose among the competitive bids for renovating Zela Davis Park (all over a million dollars, mind you).

Film Review

Immaculate: This Feral Horror Film is Sinfully Sadistic

By Morgan Rojas for Cinemacy

Sydney Sweeney gives a wickedly righteous performance as a scorned nun turned rogue vigilante in the psychological horror film, Immaculate. Directed by Michael Mohan, who last collaborated with Sweeney in 2021's The Voyeurs, Immaculate may fall short when it comes to convincing plot points but still, it is without a doubt an unforgettable, blood-soaked visceral experience. Immaculate is now playing in theaters.

Sweeney (Euphoria, The White Lotus) plays Cecilia, a young nun who suffers a near-death experience and subsequently decides to uproot her life in America for a fresh start in Italy. With a renewed sense of optimism and faith that she will find her purpose here, she arrives at a beautiful convent, set in the remote Italian countryside. This spiritual sanctuary, with its baroque architecture and longstanding religious legacy, is where she is prepared to call home for the foreseeable future.

The language barrier aside, Cecilia receives a mostly warm welcome from the other religious residents, including Mother Superior (Dora Romano), Father Sal Tedeschi (Álvaro Morte), and the rebellious Sister Mary (Simona Tabasco). Nuns of all ages who have devoted their lives to serving the church live on the property, and Cecilia finds the sisterhood comforting. However, the angelic facade deteriorates as she begins witnessing bizarre behavior and grotesque atrocities at the hands of the women she called sisters. Once Cecilia finds herself at the center of an unexplainable circumstance—falling pregnant despite being celibate—all hell breaks loose.

Proving that she can confidently master the spectrum of emotional and physical exertion, Sydney Sweeney gives a mesmerizing performance as Sister Cecilia. Both in front of and behind the camera, Sweeney—who also serves as the film's producer—gives it her all in a way we haven't seen before. Immaculate isn't without its flaws, however, especially in the script. For as strong as the first half of the film is, the plot seems to derail into goofy territory that leans more towards comedy than full-bodied horror. Suspension of disbelief isn't so much suggested as it is required here, and even then some moments come across as a parody of a campy horror flick. Sweeney and company nail the performances, every supporting role is successfully unwavering in its impact, yet Immaculate unfortunately pales in comparison to similar genre films with a more solid plot.

Those looking for a fun and freaky night out will find much to enjoy in Immaculate, despite its less-than-serious storyline. Sydney Sweeney proves that she has the range—and the vocal strength—to carry a horror film and watching her slowly spiral throughout the film's 89 minute runtime is sinfully sadistic. Immaculate made its World Premiere at the 2024 SXSW Film Festival and was nominated for the Audience Award in the Headliners category. •

The Berry Pickers by Amanda Peters

By Kristen Morell, Librarian,
El Segundo Public Library

In her debut novel, The Berry Pickers, Amanda Peters tells the story of a Native American family that is torn apart through a tragic event. It is July, 1962 and a Mi'kmaq family from Nova Scotia comes to Maine to pick blueberries for the summer season. A mere few weeks into their arrival, their youngest daughter Ruthie disappears. The last person to see Ruthie, was her brother, Joe. Ruthie was last seen sitting on her favorite rock near the berry field. Joe feels an immense amount of guilt and responsibility for Ruthie's disappearance. We later learn of Norma, a young girl living in Maine, who comes from an affluent family. Norma is an only child and often feels suffocated by her overprotective mother. Norma regularly has vivid dreams, to her these dreams feel like memories, and she can't seem to get any clarity about these dreams from her mother or her emotionally distant father. As Norma gets older, she realizes there is something her parents are not telling her about her past. Norma spends decades trying to figure out what this family secret is. Told from Norma and Joe's perspectives in alternating chapters that are clearly labeled, this story is very easy to follow and hard to put down. There are many characters, and the author does a wonderful job of developing all of them and showing their importance to Joe and Norma. I should also note that there are no shocking surprises in this story, it is evident what has happened from the beginning, but that does not stop it from being a page-turner. Pajama Game for Dementia Patients

By Lauren Mahakian,
Family Connect Care

Families often ask me why their loved ones will not change their clothes. More specifically, families complain about how their loved one no longer dresses—or undresses, so to speak—for bedtime. At first glance, this is a mystery, especially when, for decades, likely looked forward to bedtime and unwinding after a long day.

There are many potential causes to “unlock” here. Before starting, let’s remind ourselves of one crucial fact: you will never win an argument with your loved one with dementia. You will not succeed at reasoning with them or convincing them to do as you expect. The reality of a person with dementia is different from what those of us who reason might expect. We must remain creative when developing strategies to improve their quality of life.

The reasons behind the behavior may differ widely between people with dementia. Some lose track of time and don’t readily accept that it’s time to prepare for bed. Others may forget they haven’t changed clothes for a day or days or believe they have changed recently. Others forget that the clothes they just removed are dirty and put them back on.

Other factors may also play into the mix. For example, some people with dementia are no longer capable of making good choices, even when the choice seems obvious. Others may find comfort or security with one or a few items of clothing and resist changing out of them. Still others cling dearly to what independence remains when they cannot make most decisions for themselves, stubbornly refusing to change when asked.

Before we discuss approaches, we should also consider our loved one’s physical and mental state. Body aches, fatigue, or feeling chilled may prevent someone from wanting to change clothing. We also must monitor for patterns or clues from behaviors or even what they say. Many people with dementia develop a like or dislike for specific clothing, possibly even the color or patterns. And if clothing doesn’t fit well or is too tight, that may also contribute.

So, how do we get creative to help our loved ones into fresh clothing, especially at bedtime? One approach is to turn dressing for bed into an activity – a pajama game of sorts. Lay pajamas or favorite bedclothes out on the bed and take a presumptive approach. Have hot chocolate or herbal tea ready for your loved one to enjoy, and play music to make winding down more comfortable.

If the game fails, you may need different approaches, like waiting for them to fall asleep, removing dirty clothing from their room, and replacing them with fresh clothing. Whether dressing for the day or bed, keep it simple. Clear the closet to just a few choices. Fewer choices make easier decisions. It is always good to provide clothing in their favorite colors and to remove clothing that isn’t appropriate for the season.

Lastly, dump feeling embarrassed that your parent or other loved one who was once a conservative dresser is now comfortable wearing joggers and a cartoon-themed sweatshirt. Remember that we want our loved ones to be clean, comfortable, and happy. •

A topic addressed recently was again raised, and thankfully so. The City Treasurer and City Clerk are paid very modest monies per month, particularly given all their time and effort. Come July, that payment may increase to $1,200 a month and may increase (may) a bit further come January when the payments made to the City Council members will be taken up (possibly to $1,900 a month).

The City Treasurer encouraged approval of placing some of Hawthorne's available funds in good interest-bearing accounts for the time being. She and the City Clerk may be among Hawthorne's unsung heroes.

Before the Council members went into a closed (executive session) to discuss an ongoing litigation, the City Treasurer, City Clerk, and each present Council member spoke about various topics of interest. These included Women's History Month, the successful (just completed) Business Expo and Job Fair, that notary services are available in the Clerk's Office, the upcoming April 8th Hawthorne Business Connect, and even a partial eclipse of the moon that same date.

There is much to learn from each Council meeting, and one thing is a constant: There is always much to address and ongoing work to do. •

Creamy Tortellini with Asparagus in Mushroom Bacon Sauce

Provided by Campbells Soup Corp.

You'll love everything about this Creamy Tortellini recipe starting with the fact that it uses only 5 ingredients and it's on the table in just 25 minutes. The creamy sauce perfectly highlights the tortellini and asparagus and a finish of crumbled bacon makes it extra delicious. Cleanup is a breeze because you cook everything right in the same skillet.

Ingredients

- 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) Campbell's® Condensed Cream of Cremini & Shiitake Soup or Cream of Mushroom Soup
- 1 carton (32 ounces) Swanson® Natural Goodness® Chicken Broth
- 1 1/2 pounds asparagus, trimmed and cut into 1 1/2-inch pieces (about 5 cups)
- 16 ounces uncooked refrigerated cheese tortellini
- 4 strips bacon, cooked and crumbled (about 1/4 cup)

Send us a photo and recipe of your favorite dish.

We'd love to share it with the community. Send to: web@heraldpublications.com

Directions

- Step 1: Heat the soup and broth in a 12-inch skillet over medium-high heat to a boil. Stir in the asparagus and tortellini and cook for 10 minutes or until the tortellini is tender and the soup mixture is thickened, stirring occasionally.
- Step 2: Stir in the bacon. Season to taste. Season with cracked black pepper, if desired. Serve in shallow bowls.

Tips

- How to choose asparagus: When choosing fresh asparagus, look for spears that are firm (should feel like they will snap if you bend them) and tips that are tightly closed and not mushy. Thick or thin spears are really a matter of preference, with thin tending to be more tender. Just make sure that you trim the bottoms if they are dried out or woody.

PETSPETS Pets PETSPETS

Purrrfect Companions

Snowy

Kitten Rescue rescues cats and kittens from a variety of situations. Most live in our volunteers' homes and those volunteers foster them until we can find permanent homes for them. Young or old, calico or Siamese, we care for orphaned and abandoned kittens that need to be bottle-fed around the clock, moms with litters, cats that need socialization, and sick or injured animals. When they are finally ready for their forever home, we will help match you with the purr-fect one. When you adopt, you save a life... and in turn enrich your own.

Cashmere is an adorable teddy bear who loves attention, affection and lots of pets. He likes to be cuddled and is not shy about climbing into your arms for snuggle time. The best way to describe Cashmere is a snuggly, chill little guy with a playful side. Cashmere must be adopted into a home with an existing friendly, playful cat or adopted together with one of his foster siblings (his foster mom is happy to recommend one). Come meet this handsome young teen and see for yourself what an amazingly friendly cat he is.

Our sweet Tangy is a lovely young guy with a distinctive chiseled mussel which makes him look like a lion. So adorable! Super affectionate, he loves to rub up on everything around him. With some petting, this goofy boy will wiggle and squirm to show you his belly. Tangy is curious, playful and loves to explore. In the afternoon he likes to sleep in a covered kitty bed or lounge on a hammock. Through no fault of his own, his previous adopters returned him in less than two years due to a marital breakup. He had lived in a home with children and four other cats who were also returned to other rescues. Despite this change, Tangy quickly adjusted back to his original home where he lives with many foster kitties and a docile doggie. Tangy is looking for a second chance and in return he promises to shower you with love forever.

Snowy is a royal prince with a heart of gold who is gorgeous inside out. Snowy is the perfect match for anyone that appreciates a warm, friendly, calm, and relaxed furry friend. He is an obedient, balanced, and dependable pet companion. Loving to to be kissed while having his stomach rubbed, he lets you know he wants more belly-rubs by gently putting his paw on you for your attention. Snowy also loves to be picked up and put over the shoulder while being petted on his back...truly sweet baby! His fur is naturally luminous white against the contrast of his ultra clean pink skin. He is an all-around simply amazing cat!

Sergeant Pepper is a lovable, sweet kitten who enjoys chasing and jumping for wand "flying" toys, then swaggering proudly with his "prey" to a secure spot. He loves to play but is also a fierce cuddler with a loud motor-purr-engine. His beautiful sleek coat is shiny and ever so soft. Due to his age and activity level, it is recommended that Sergeant Pepper be adopted to a home with another young cat for a playmate.

Fiona and Layla are strikingly beautiful sisters with their sparkling green eyes and bold, unique markings. They have had an incredibly special bond since birth, and should never be separated. One would not be the same without the other. They spend every waking and sleeping moment together. These two put on a spectacular show with their high energy and zest for life, yet can be mellow, cozy, and cuddly. The blending of their personalities makes them a unique pair full of character. Fiona is a remarkable gem. She is happy, loving, loyal, and sugary sweet. She is confident, brave, yet sensitive and tenderhearted. Fiona is a curious and very personable girl. Purring nonstop from the moment she sees you, Fiona never wants you to leave. Her sister Layla is the sweetest tomboy. She is a tumbleweed of energy yet melts into your hand and purrs. Every day is the best day. She is curious and brave, with a splash of timid until she gets to know you better. There is no one she trusts more than Fiona, yet she has worked hard to be a love-bug just like her sister, and truly loves your company. Fiona and Layla have blossomed into precious girls. They are looking for someone that will love them unconditionally and appreciate how special they are.

These cats and kittens are available for adoption through Kitten Rescue, one of the largest cat rescue groups in Southern California. All our kitties are spayed/neutered, microchipped, tested for FeLV and FIV, dewormed and current on their vaccinations. For additional information to see these or our other kittens and cats and for a list of our weekend adoption events, please check our website www.kittenrescue.org.

The donations and support we receive from individuals like you, who share our love and commitment to helping cats and kittens in Los Angeles, are the sole reason we are able to do what we do. We are grateful for your financial help. By making even a small donation today, you can touch the lives of the many deserving, wonderful animals in our care. There are many ways you can donate and help, and every dollar means so much. Kitten Rescue is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit. Your tax-deductible donations for the rescue and care of our cats and kittens can be made through our website or by sending a check payable to Kitten Rescue, 3519 Casitas Ave., Los Angeles, CA 90039.

Saving one animal won't change the world, but the world will surely change for that animal. •
