Uncluttering All that Clutter

By Ron Sokol

“Wait, what do you mean... Get rid of all this? But I like the clutter! It took me years and years to create this mess, and now you want to organize it? You want me to give some of it away? Are you kidding me!?”

Dannikova Gomez (who goes by Danni) is a professional organizer. She is very kind, patient, thoughtful, and knows her stuff (no pun intended). Danni’s company is based right here in the South Bay and has a very clever name: The Practical Edit. I am looking at her business card, but nervously fidgeting: “Home organization, downsizing and moving services, home preparation for market, home organization.”

You see, I recently decided to move my office to my house, the office where I have been for over 20 years. The office where I have gone all hours and days of the week, where I have memories, where I have lots of things on the walls, where many drawers are stuffed with supplies, even “secret spots” where I keep confidential items. The office is like a second living room for me... a part of me.

With all that in mind, I took several very deep breaths and thought long and hard. I finally decided to just talk with Danni, find out all that she does, and whether I would dare let her do anything. And I mean anything.

Drum roll...

Ladies and Gentlemen, I am now a born-again unclutterer! WOO HOO!

This means deciding what goes and what stays; it means packing up; it means making room where the items are going; it means organizing the home; it means deciding what is being donated, to whom, including to charity; it means (gulp, swallow hard) being efficient. Holy spit, polish, and shine, I know where everything is! Well, almost, anyway.

This is so amazing. Why, it should make the 11 o’clock news!

The National Association of Professional Organizers did a survey. It concluded that the average American receives almost 15,000 pieces of junk mail in their lifetime, which often piles up on the counters. A UCLA study found a direct correlation between clutter and depression, as well as higher stress. After all, clutter can have a life of its own. The way we have let things go over time can actually become a bit (or quite a bit) overwhelming. Who has the energy to tackle that whole jigsaw puzzle? All those pieces (yuck). What goes where? Much easier to say: “Ah, the heck with it... just leave it all in the boxes and spread it out on the shelves! If I pass, my family will know what to do.” There is even an expression that applies here: “Decision paralysis.”

And then there’s Danni Gomez: “It comes back to my mom. As a kid, she always told me, ‘If you want to go out with your friends, then first organize your room. That’s not a lot to ask. Keep things in order.’ So, like that, my mom started me on the path, and I am glad she did. She was right; she is right. It’s not a whole lot to ask to be able to have fun times. Just get things in order in my room first. Ok, I can do that!”

Uncluttering comes with many situations: Divorce, moving to a new home, getting ready to sell a home, loss of a loved one, transition (such as mine from office to home office), facilitating a better business operation, all of these circumstances come to mind. Danni has also been involved in a sizeable project for one of the local colleges, which asked her to organize an entire clinic. This has meant the supply room, the offices, vaccines, and patient rooms, among other things.

“Sometimes it is a whole house, or it might be just the kitchen or the bedrooms. People may not know where to begin, what supplies to obtain, or how to best package things up. It also can be really difficult to part with material items. We all get attached to our stuff! Recently I worked with a couple who were going to have a visit from their kids for over a month. They were unclear about how to set up the rooms, what furniture would be needed, and even just what would work.”

What Danni does is not a cleaning service. She is not going to mop or sweep. Her objective is to bring efficiency to your home, digital or physical spaces, and to help you organize. Her website is www.thepracticaledit.com.

Uncluttering can help in several ways, including downsizing. Decluttering businesses

The Night of the 12th is a Sobering Crime Drama Based on True Events

By Morgan Rojas for Cinemacy

It's no secret that true crime is one of the most popular themes in the "entertainment" space. All too often in this current landscape, one person's tragedy is turned into cultural fodder that we devour weekly in the form of podcasts and TV shows, sitting through a plethora of advertisements to get our "who-dunnit" fix. What is it about true crime that is so appealing? Is it our innate voyeuristic nature, or our fascination with death and its permanence? Audiences are left to wrestle with those complex rhetorical questions in French director Dominik Moll's layered crime drama, The Night of the 12th (La Nuit du 12).

Clara Royer (Lula Cotton-Frapier) is heading home after a night out with friends when she is confronted by a stranger on a dimly lit street. Masked and unrecognizable, he calls Clara by name – catching her off guard – before dousing her in gasoline and throwing a lighter in her face. Head and torso ablaze, she runs a short distance before collapsing onto the street and is left to die. The graphic nature of the crime is a shock to the community, especially the police department. Even though they are used to dealing with the sad reality of death every day, it never gets easier to tell the family of a loved one that they have passed.

From the very beginning, Clara's case feels strangely unique and the deeper investigators dig into her background, the more obsessed they become. Police captain Yohan Vivès (Bastien Bouillon) begins to spiral after initial

Age of Vice by Deepti Kapoor

By Mary Martes, Library Assistant

Explosive from the first page, the Age of Vice is an epic family thriller of crime and corruption. In the early hours of the morning in the impoverished outskirts of New Delhi, a Mercedes jumps a curb and kills five people, one a pregnant woman. This is how the story of Ajay, Sunny, and Neda begins on the page. Their story started long before this stunning turn of events, which marks the beginning of the end for the trio. Deepti Kapoor grew up in northern India and knows of what she writes.

Ajay's journey begins in the poorest of provinces, his parents literally scraping feces for a living. Tragedy strikes and Ajay is sold off at the age of eight to pay off the family's debt. Working as an indentured servant, Ajay grows into a handsome, subservient loner. A chance encounter changes the trajectory of his life and he finds himself indentured yet again, this time in the lavish, treasure filled home of a gangster's son.

Sunny Wadia is a shining star of the social scene. He plays at bringing culture to the masses but can never get past his father's flinty-eyed indifference. A pitiful playboy, he fuels himself on alcohol and cocaine, jet setting around the world, gathering acolytes and groupies. Money

Tips to Help You Budget For Activities All Year

(BPT) - Many people resolve to be better about their finances in the start of a new year, but halfway through find that following those goals can be challenging, especially when you want to celebrate the people you love and have fun throughout the year.

You don't have to tackle your finances on your own. Check out these three tips and tools to help you plan for activities on a budget.

1. Plan ahead and set a budget

Take some time to look at the remaining months and mark major holidays, birthdays, anniversaries, weddings, concerts and vacations in a calendar. Estimate how much you can spend on each event, so when the time comes, you won't have any surprise expenses and you can avoid going over your budget.

Consider using tools like Chase's Spending & Budgeting, that provides information on your spending based on the purchases you make and helps you keep track of what you've spent to prevent overspending. If your banking app doesn't have a similar feature, you can download a budget worksheet and keep track of your spending and budget throughout the year.

Get started planning now to save yourself financial stress.

2. Set savings goals

A simple way to afford all your fun and celebratory expenses throughout the year is to set savings goals. By putting away money in advance, you can reduce the stress and anxiety of affording your vacations, concerts and even holiday expenses later in the year.

Setting up automated savings is convenient and lets you save without thinking about it. Consider using automated savings tools, like

Chase Autosave, that lets you set a goal to automatically transfer money from your Chase checking to your Chase savings account to set and help reach a savings goal.

3. Split the cost

If you're planning a big trip with friends this year, or even just some casual dinners out, use tools to make it easy to quickly split the bill. You can use Zelle® to send and receive money fast with anyone you know and trust with a U.S. bank account, making it simple to split the costs of a group activity. And, you can even use Zelle® to ask your friends and family to pay you back for their portion.

Using these tips, you can better budget for your activities, while improving your finances. Additionally, as you make plans, make sure to keep a close eye on your credit. A free and easy way to do so is through Chase Credit Journey in the Chase Mobile app. To learn about these financial tools and more, visit Chase.com/Mobile.

Disclosure:

Enrollment in Zelle® is required. Both parties need a U.S. bank account; only one needs an eligible Chase account. Funds are typically made available in minutes when the recipient's email address or U.S. mobile number is already enrolled with Zelle® (go to <https://register.zellepay.com> to view participating banks). Select transactions could take up to 3 business days. Enroll on the Chase Mobile app or Chase OnlineSM. Limitations may apply. Message and data rates may apply.

Seniors

Combating Senior Social Isolation And Loneliness

(BPT) - For many Americans, life today feels typical - we're back in school, returning to the office and are enjoying our hobbies and social lives. Connecting in-person with friends and family is once again a regular part of our routine.

Unfortunately, seniors (those aged 55+) have been more isolated than younger demographics during the COVID-19 pandemic and beyond. Restricted visitation in assisted and long-term care facilities, lack of community events and lesser access to digital social networks has led to an increased amount of social isolation among the aging population.

Even prior to the pandemic, 1 in 4 senior adults were socially isolated, according to the National Institute on Aging. Then in August 2021 a report published by Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) found that the prevalence of anxiety symptoms and depression among older adults increased significantly during the pandemic. Now, The Walgreens COVID-19 Pulse Check, a quantitative study commissioned by the healthcare retailer, reveals that an estimated 17 million (42%) of seniors agreed they are less socially active now than they were before the pandemic.

Finding safe ways to connect with the elderly and engage them in the latest happenings can do a world of good for those who might be feeling left behind. Does the senior in your life know how to video chat? Conversations held face-to-face - even through cell phones - can make a huge difference in decreasing feelings of loneliness. Consider listing out instructions for loved ones to follow so they can practice this skill and 'see' what's going on virtually in your day-to-day life. Do they prefer to connect the old-fashioned way? Set up a weekly phone call or send friendly notes and gifts through the mail. Reminders that they are loved, appreciated and in your thoughts can boost serotonin and help them feel a sense of inclusion.

Part of feeling back in the swing of things is the ability to run errands and take care of day-to-day tasks. To make seniors feel comfortable when, say, shopping, look to stores that offer safe, accessible ways to make purchases. Trusted healthcare destination Walgreens hosts Seniors Day the first Tuesday of every month where senior shoppers 55 and older and caregivers receive a 20% discount off eligible regular-priced merchandise, including health essentials like Walgreens at-home COVID-19 tests and Free and Pure vitamins and even their favorite snacks and treats! At checkout, seniors should let a team member know they are shopping with the Seniors Day discount to apply the savings. They can also benefit from the discount online all week with code SENIOR20 at checkout (Sunday-Saturday of that week).

COVID-19, now shifting to an endemic stage in the eyes of the federal U.S. government, is still contagious and can be more dangerous for immunocompromised people like our senior population. Take proactive safety measures to make sure all guests, especially seniors, are comfortable when gathering socially. Hosts should ensure seniors have transportation to and from the event and ask attendees to take an at-home COVID-19 test prior to arrival. Furthermore, seniors and their loved ones

One thing we can all agree on: Moving is not fun. Moving things around likewise. We want to control our environment. We want to stay where we are and like it just the way it is. But eventually, there may come a time.

Uncluttering the clutter. It kind of rolls nicely off the lips. So, then, look at me. I am organized. I got things in order, people! Now I can go have fun. I earned it, just like Danni's mom said.♦

should take at-home COVID-19 tests regularly to best maintain a safe 'bubble' for socializing. Be sure to arrange the event space in a way that makes social distancing possible and have hand sanitizer readily available. When possible, consider also offering programming in outdoor or large spaces - gardening or even a stop to a local art museum make for a great, distanced gathering. Just know that the more preparation you do, the more inclined a senior may be to join in on the socializing fun and 'new normal' we are learning to embrace. • flows like a river from daddy's coffers, an unending stream of wealth fed by rampant corruption. Trouble comes in the form of an investigative journalist, working on exposing the Wadia family's corruption. Neda is a hapless twenty-something who halfheartedly goes through the days with little purpose. When she meets Sunny, she quickly falls under his spell.

At 548 pages, this is a hefty tome, but well worth the time. The book is split between the three protagonists - Ajay, Sunny, and Neda. Each character comes to life with their own story and intertwine as the novel moves forward and back in time. We come to know them intimately, with all their faults and ambitions. Ajay remains stalwart and loyal throughout, but Sunny and Neda cling to each other like life preservers, drowning together amid the detritus of their doomed relationship.

leads become dead ends. After speaking with Clara's best friend and uncovering dark truths about her past, Clara's sexual history becomes his North Star. The film toes the line between being concerned and shaming Clara's past actions. A pattern quickly emerges that every suspect on the police's radar has slept with Clara rather recently, more than one being an illicit affair.

Yohan becomes fixated on this fact, and his personal feelings toward the matter seep into his professional actions. The evidence is right in front of him, and at the same time, isn't there at all. No matter how strong his intuition is, it cannot compete with physical evidence - or lack thereof. Clara's killer roams free, and that haunts Yohan to no end.

The Night of the 12th is ominous and dark both in subject matter and visual aesthetic. Setting the film in the mountainous French commune of Saint-Jean-de-Maurienne has a baked-in sense of isolation that feels both idyllic and anxiety-inducing. Composer Olivier Margueri's score offers a beautiful mix of buoyancy sprinkled with melancholy. At times reminiscent of the French pop scene he used to frequent as a musician, Margueri uses soft vocal melodies and luxuriant arrangements to give the film a sense of cautious optimism.

Filmmaker Dominik Moll combines elements of documentary and fiction in The Night of the 12th, adapting a book from writer Pauline Guéna, who spent a year immersed in the Versailles Criminal Investigation Department. Her book, "18.3 - une année à la PJ" (18.3 - A Year With the Crime Squad) is the source of inspiration for the film. An official selection of the 2022 Cannes Film Festival, The Night of the 12th is a tough film to swallow but an equally important story to witness.

"CALIFORNIA WATER REPORT" Notice of Public Hearing Regarding Proposed Rate Increase (Before the City Council of the City of Hawthorne) June 27, 2023 @ 6:00 p.m. Hawthorne City Council Chambers 4455 West 126th Street Hawthorne, CA 90250 (310) 349-2915

Background
Under the terms of a lease agreement, California Water Service Company (Cal Water) operates the City of Hawthorne's water treatment and distribution system. Cal Water recovers the costs associated with this activity through water rates. Cal Water has proposed to increase its water rates for all General Service, Senior Service, Private Fire Protection and Recycled Water customers in the City of Hawthorne. Before Cal Water can implement this change to its water rates, it must obtain the consent of the City Council of the City of Hawthorne. To encourage public participation and input into the consent proceedings, the City Council has chosen to conduct a noticed public hearing in the manner set forth in Section 6 of Article XIII D of the California Constitution. Cal Water has indicated to the City that there are three primary reasons for its rate proposal. The first is Cal Water continues to make infrastructure improvements to provide safe and reliable service. Second, the increased costs of purchased water necessary to provide a dependable supply of water. Third, Cal Water experienced increases in its costs of service due to inflation. The proposed revenue increases are 1.5% in 2023, 1.9% in 2024, 1.6% in 2025 and 2.3% in 2026. The Rate Proposal

Water rates for Hawthorne customers consist of two components: (i) a monthly base rate, which is determined by the size of the customer's meter connection and (ii) a quantity charge, which is based on the customer's actual metered water consumption. Cal Water is proposing a rate increase phased-in over four (4) years, from 2023 through 2026. Below is a table of present and proposed rates.

The Recycled water user-customer who uses 151 hundred cubic feet (Ccf) of water per month will see an increase in the monthly bill from $525.04 to $533.01 or $7.97/1.5% per month effective July 1, 2023, an additional increase of $9.96/1.97% per month effective January 1, 2024, an additional increase of $8.85/1.6% per month effective January 1, 2025, and an additional increase of $12.53/2.23% per month effective January 1, 2026. Additionally, Cal Water also requests to establish a Full Cost Balancing Account (FCBA) as a mechanism to track and offset the difference between adopted water production cost and actual water production cost. Difference in water production cost may result from non-controllable changes in water production cost due to inflation, unknown reasons by wholesale suppliers of water, power and pump taxes or availability of water sources. The FCBA mechanism works such that it tracks the balance owed to customers when actual water production costs are below adopted water production costs and balances owed to company when actual water production exceed adopted water production costs. It is designed to neutralize fluctuations in water production costs. This request is consistent with the 2011 lease agreement between Cal Water and the City of Hawthorne adopted by resolution no. 7386. Specifically, page 3, Section 8 of the 2011 lease agreement. Cal Water shall amortize the account balances at the end of each year for the balances of the prior calendar year or period. Balances will be amortized over 12 months. Surplus balances will be passed on to Hawthorne Customers through sur-credits on monthly service charges. Overage balances will be passed on to the Hawthorne customers through volumetric surcharges. Residual balances remaining after the annual sur-credit or surcharge will be incorporated into the following years FCBA balances. Your Opportunity To Get Involved

You are encouraged to provide oral or written testimony to the City Council at the public hearing. You may also file a written protest against the proposed increase. Such a protest must be signed and must contain a description of your service location (such as a street address or account number). If the City Council receives protests with respect to a majority of the parcels or service locations subject to the proposed increase, it will not consent to the proposed increase. Protests must be received by the City Clerk of the City prior to the close of the public input portion of the public hearing. Protests may be mailed or delivered to the City Clerk at 4455 West 126th Street, Hawthorne, CA 90250. They may also be delivered to the City Clerk at the public hearing. Protests will be tabulated pursuant to procedures adopted by the City Council, which are available in the Office of the City Clerk for public inspection. Questions?

PETSPETS Pets PETSPETS

Purrrfect Companions

Kitten Rescue rescues cats and kittens from a variety of situations. Most are fostered in our volunteers' homes until we can find permanent homes for them. Young or old, tabby or calico, we care for orphaned and abandoned kittens that need to be bottle-fed around the clock, moms with litters, cats that need socialization, and sick or injured animals. When they are finally ready for their forever home, we will help match you with the purr-fect one. When you adopt, you save a life... and in turn enrich your own.

Harold and Maude are more than pet companions, they are a love story. This bonded pair who were stuck together even thru the harsh outside life are now looking for their forever home where they can continue to be two halves of a whole. Harold is a gentle giant who enjoys food and sleeping on a comfy bed. He gets along marvelously with other cats, and his love for kittens makes him wonderful foster dad material. He is very calm, relaxed and is so trusting of people. Harold is low maintenance with a heart of gold, and his gentle demeanor quickly earns him the love and affection of others, including his best girl, Maude. Together, they are guaranteed to melt anyone's heart. Maude is a sweet, shy girl with luxuriously soft fur and an adorable face. Lover of lasers, connoisseur of treats, and stealer of milk, she is very much still a kitten. Maude can be timid, but she adores Harold immensely and always follows him wherever he goes. There is nothing sweeter than watching this little girl cuddle up blissfully to her giant best friend. Their affection for one another will quickly warm your heart with a guarantee to some of the sweetest photos ever.

Juliet is an affectionate kitten who loves people more than anything. She wants to be held, to sleep in your lap, and sit on your shoulder. If you are standing, she will try to curl up to sleep on your foot. Juliet purrs easily and seems to be quite smart, always looking at your eyes for a connection with you. She is also the most "chatty" one from her litter. As much as she loves people, this darling girl also loves her siblings very much and would be so happy to be adopted with one of them. Juliet must be adopted with another kitten or into a home with another playful kitty. Juliet and her siblings Coco, Sprite and Mando were bottle-raised which makes them a special kind of cat – very trusting and human-oriented. They all have amazing personalities and will make their new families very lucky.

Little Coco has a whole lot of personality. She loves people, purrs like crazy, and can cuddle for hours. With her standout markings and dainty personality, she is the prettiest little tuxie baby we have seen. Coco would love to be adopted with one of her siblings! Coco and her sisters and brother Sprite, Juliet, and Mando, all have amazing personalities and will be wonderful additions to their new families.

Sachi is such a sweetie. Quiet, shy and observant, there is something very precious and dainty about her. ...until she joins in on the wrestling and playing chase! Sachi is a beautiful "tabico" calico, with a charming checkerboard pattern on her shoulder blades (hence her Italian-inspired name). She is an excellent climber-acrobat and loves batting and chasing around her wool ball and wand toys. Like her sister, Sachi sometimes likes to hide and assess the situation before she comes barreling in to join the group fun. Snuggling with siblings is also a favorite pastime. Sachi and her sister are still getting used to cuddling in people laps, but like to purr and snuggle it up, when they do. Sachi is a confident, playful kitten, full of energy. Since she is too young to be adopted as a solo kitten, she would love to be adopted with any of her siblings, Daredevil, Mr. Whiskers, or March, or with her mom, Lilly with whom she is still very close.

Lilly, a beautiful Lynx Point Siamese, is shy at first, but quickly warms up once she settles in. She is very sweet and expressive. Quick to purr, she loves affection and being petted. Lilly especially enjoys being in snug and high up places, like basking in the afternoon sun in an upper bunk bed, or on a chair, looking out over the room. At approximately five years old, she is still playful and quick, yet is also content to lay low and nap or watch the kittens play. She loves looking out the window, watching hummingbirds and scoping out the sights and sounds of the neighborhood. Especially curious when a dresser drawer is opened, Lilly delights at hopping in and trying out even the smallest sock drawer. She is an easy-going girl, tolerating nail trimming and children. She also likes using her scratching post. Lilly is wonderfully sweet, patient and playful with her kittens, Sachi, March, Daredevil and Mr. Whiskers (born in March 2023), and would love to be adopted with any of them, or on her own as a solo cat, or possibly with another friendly cat. With her sweet cuddly personality, her striking markings, and those gorgeous blue eyes that seem too big and too blue to be real, Lilly is quite irresistible!

These cats and kittens are available for adoption through Kitten Rescue, one of the largest cat rescue groups in Southern California. All our kitties are spayed/neutered, microchipped, tested for FeLV and FIV, dewormed and current on their vaccinations. For additional information and to see these or our other kittens and cats, please check our website www.kittenrescue.org.
