Miracle on Manchester Helps Feed Less Fortunate Families in Inglewood

By Cristian Vasquez

Once again, the Salvation Army Inglewood Community Corp hosted the Miracle on Manchester food drive where individuals and families in need were able to pick up food boxes for the Thanksgiving holiday. The boxes were distributed from the Inglewood Community Corps located on Queen Street and this year included the efforts and contributions by local business Planet Fitness.

"The Miracle on Manchester is our Thanksgiving effort. And one of our volunteers goes to Planet Fitness and took it upon themselves to speak to management--and management was interested," Inglewood Corps Salvation Army Lieutenant Christopher Golden said. "Not only are they helping with this location here in Inglewood, but they are also helping out of their West Covina location. It was all that volunteers' self-initiative who wanted to continue to help the Salvation Army to do the most good for the community."

The final tally of how many food boxes were donated was not available at press time. The Salvation Army has been in the city since 1923 and the year-round effort to help the less fortunate has not slowed down. For Golden, helping families is his top priority. "My wife and I are tasked with bringing resources together to help our community. It is important that our business community and the community that happens to be doing a little bit better than others find different ways of getting back--and the Salvation Army wants to be one of those outlets," Golden said. "We definitely believe in transparency and we want people to see what it is we're doing so that they can make their own choices as far as to whom they want to give their resources to. There are many organizations going after people's money or resources to help. We here at the Salvation Army, we want people to see not only where their dollars are going but we want them to be a part of that process as well. Whether it is packing up food boxes or helping people down here at our center with closing, or even being part of our lunch program where we give out 75 lunches every day, we want people to be involved."

This year's partnership with Planet Fitness, which reminded its patrons daily to donate to the yearly food drive, not only helped raise awareness about the event but also convinced some of the patrons that their local gym considers the community more than just a place to make a profit. "It is a neat gym that just came into the community not too long ago and right off the bat they are giving back to the community, so it makes you feel good to be part of a gym that does that," Planet Fitness patron Juan Galvez said. "I was kind of surprised that they were involved because you don't see that many smaller corporations trying to help out that quick. You usually see the bigger corporations and not the ones that many people have not heard of yet."

Knowing that the food drive was a partnership with the Salvation Army also gave Galvez a sense of security that his donations would be going to people in need. "I have dropped off clothes at the Salvation Army before because I trust them," Galvez said. "I am very black and white with that. As long as I know that I did my part, what they do next is in their hands. They tell me they help the needy and I trust them."

Golden wholeheartedly believes in the mission of the Salvation Army and is committed to fulfilling that mission as long as he can. "I am a product of the Salvation Army myself. I came to the Salvation Army when I was two years old, when I was in a Salvation Army shelter with my mom--so I believe in what we do," Golden said. "I had the opportunity to make a good amount of money in my own life and the way that God has really blessed me, I can't really see myself doing anything less than what I do with the Salvation Army. I enjoy helping people and I enjoy serving the mission of the Salvation Army."

Beginning in December, the Salvation Army will begin its Christmas food and toy drive for the city. People can donate money, which helps the Salvation Army centers to operate and to buy items for the food pantry, bottled water and laundry detergent for the emergency clothing closet. People can also donate clean and used clothing, which allows families to come in and get 10 different items of clothing for free every 60 days. Then there are simple donations such as canned foods, pasta and sauce that can be used in the center's emergency food pantry. For the Christmas drive, toys and gift cards are needed to help kids and teens who would otherwise not receive gifts during the Christmas season.

"We, especially in Inglewood, need to make sure that our residents are taken care of," Golden said. "A lot of them live in crisis and that crisis is having to live paycheck to paycheck. We want people to know that there is no shame when they come to us and that they will be treated with the utmost respect. Just because you might be poor in life, we don't want people to feel that they are poor when they come to us."

People interested in donating can call 310-677-3375 or visit the Salvation Army Center at 324 E. Queen Street. Persons interested can also call Golden on his cell phone directly at 310-817-0052. •

HOLIDAY HAZARDS FOR CATS, DOGS

PETA has made a list (and checked it twice) of holiday hazards for cats and dogs. Follow these tips to keep your animals safe this season: Decorations are irresistible to cats, so keep tinsel, ribbons, and ornament hooks away from prying paws. Never pull string that is hanging from an animal's mouth—it can cut his or her intestines. Call your veterinarian immediately. Chocolate and other festive foods can be fatal, and even seemingly innocent foods such as avocados, onions, raisins, and grapes can cause potentially deadly reactions in animals. Tell guests and children not to feed them to animals. Lilies, cyclamen, and other plants can sicken or even kill animals if eaten. Choose artificial versions of these plants. Animals are more likely to become lost during travel or while guests are coming and going. Keep collars and current I.D. tags on your animals. Be prepared for late-night and travel emergencies by saving phone numbers for your veterinarian and the nearest emergency veterinarian in your cell phone. Visit www.PETA.org for more ways to have happy, animal-friendly holidays.

School Board Celebrates Prop 30 and Measure CL Wins

By Dylan Little

During the latest Hawthorne School Board meeting, the members and the President of the Hawthorne Elementary Teacher Association (HETA) breathed a collective sigh of relief over the results of the election, specifically Proposition 30 and Measure CL, both of which will add funding to the resource-strapped Hawthorne School District. HETA's George Amaya thanked the Board for its support and the rest of the public for passing Proposition 30 and Measure CL as well defeating Proposition 32. Proposition 30, the Governor's tax imitative, extended temporary increased taxes and raised tax rates on high-income earners to help balance the State's budget. Measure CL helped by enacting a parcel tax with proceeds funding Hawthorne and other neighboring school districts. Proposition 32 sought to de-fund unions in the state, but was defeated in the election. Amaya wanted to thank everyone from the voters to the volunteers who helped raise awareness about these issues for their help. "We won on Election Day," said Amaya. "We appreciate everyone who did their part, whether it was just voting or making phone calls or getting out there and talking to people."

HETA was influential in getting these measures to pass, according to Board President Alexandre Monteiro. Volunteers from HETA were manning phone banks in the weeks prior to the election to call voters and urge them to support education. "Without those phone calls, that proposition would be dead," said Monteiro. "We all won and we all worked as a team to look out for the children."

District Superintendent Helen Morgan was well aware of the efforts of HETA in getting the two funding initiatives passed. She joked that Amaya looked like a zombie after teaching all day and manning the phone banks all night. "I want to congratulate everyone on the propositions passing--especially the HETA, as I know they worked very hard on it," said Morgan. "George was walking around like the walking dead for a few days after election night."

While election night was nerve-racking for everyone concerned about school budgets, it was especially difficult for Board member Cristina Chiappe who was out of the country that evening and had to rely on calling her colleagues to find out how the State ballot measures were faring. "I was very worried about what was going on with Prop. 30," said Chiappe. "I was really happy that the California voters decided to support education by passing the proposition."

While Proposition 30 and Measure CL passing was a great boon for the District, it still doesn't match the funding it would've received before the financial collapse in 2008. Board member John Vargas said that the next challenge is to get past flat funding and get back to the State investing in better education for Hawthorne's children. "I'm relieved that Prop. 30 as well as Measure CL passed," said Vargas. "I want to be positive, but I always think of the future and this just puts a Band-Aid on an issue we need to tackle. Instead of talking about no cuts, we need to switch the discussion to how do we increase our funding. We need to get rid of the Band-Aid, put some Neosporin on it and let it heal."

The Board also heard from Jose Medina, President of the Hawthorne Federation of Classified Employees, who voiced concerns from his membership over the District's ongoing benefits audit. Employees are being asked to provide marriage certificates and tax information to prove that the benefits they receive are justified. Medina said that members were concerned about disciplinary action if they were found receiving benefits they weren't entitled to, even if they weren't at fault for receiving them. They were also apprehensive about handing over sensitive information to a third party, which could leave them open to identity theft. Morgan addressed their concerns by stating that the primary focus of the audit is to reduce benefits spending--not to find reasons to fire employees. She also noted that the agency conducting the audit has a long history of working with school districts and has even asked people submitting paperwork for proof their dependents are legitimate and redact any information that isn't relevant, such as addresses or Social Security numbers.

"This is not a witch hunt by any means," said Morgan. "It's an opportunity to get our house in order and make sure those getting benefits are entitled to those benefits. And we aren't looking to remove benefits for anyone who is entitled to them."

However, the issue of what to do about those found claiming benefits inappropriately hasn't been settled. The Board couldn't take an official stance on the matter as it wasn't part of the agenda, but said its plans hinge on how many discrepancies are found and the circumstances surrounding them. Still, collecting benefits inappropriately is a serious matter and won't simply be overlooked by the Board.

"We've had no discussion about disciplinary action," said Morgan. "I think we need to see what we're dealing with. If we've had someone who signed off for 20 years saying someone was a dependent when they aren't, then that's fraud and we have to address that." •

"Finish each day and be done with it. You have done what you could. Some blunders and absurdities no doubt crept in; forget them as soon as you can. Tomorrow is a new day. You shall begin it serenely and with too high a spirit to be encumbered with your old nonsense."

SEXUAL ASSAULT ARREST

On November 04, 2012 Robinson allegedly forcibly raped a female victim that he met through an online dating service. Prior to the rape, Robinson took the victim to the "CVS" store located at 4775 W. Rosecrans Avenue where he purchased alcohol. Robinson then drove the victim to his Hawthorne apartment where the assault took place. Hawthorne Police Detectives working a lead in the case were able to narrow their search to Robinson by late Wednesday afternoon. Robinson was observed at his residence late Wednesday afternoon where he was placed under arrest without incident. A search of his apartment was executed pursuant to a state search warrant where miscellaneous items of evidence were recovered. Robinson was booked at the Hawthorne Police Department where he is being held in lieu of $100,000 bond. Robinson was arraigned at the Airport Courthouse on Friday, November 16.

EX-FELON ARRESTED FOR CELL PHONE ROBBERY

On November 10, 2012 an out of town victim who was staying at the "Comfort Inn" hotel was out for a walk when Thomas allegedly rode up to him on a bike and snatched his cellular phone out his hands as the victim was texting. As Thomas was fleeing the area of the robbery on his bicycle the victim observed him collide with a pole where his windbreaker jacket came open and an item fell to the ground. The victim retrieved the item which was another cellular phone and gave it to responding officers. Hawthorne Police Detectives were able to identify the dropped cellular phone's owner as Wilford Thomas, 47, of Hawthorne. Thomas was subsequently arrested without incident at a Hawthorne residence on Tuesday afternoon where detectives also recovered the victim's cellular phone. Thomas was booked at the Hawthorne Police Department on suspicion of robbery and is being held in lieu of a $50,000 bond. Thomas was arraigned at the Airport Courthouse on Thursday, November 15.

Kiffin Keeps on Whiffin'

By Adam Serrao

There is absolutely no doubt that the players on the USC Trojans' football team are some of the, if not the most, talented college football players in the nation. That's why when Matt Barkley announced in the offseason that he planned to play a part in the team's "serious unfinished business" that they had to tend to, everyone immediately crowned them as national champions before even one game had the chance to get underway. With all of the excitement surrounding the team as it entered the season at number one in the AP poll, it is an understatement to say that the Trojans have been a huge disappointment this season. Already having been eliminated from Rose Bowl consideration with last Saturday's loss to UCLA, the Trojans not only have to watch as UCLA finishes the season above them in the standings, but also must watch as their bitter cross-town rivals compete in the Pac-10 title game—a position that USC is accustomed to being in most of the time. With all of the turmoil surrounding the team in a season that was supposed to be one of the Trojans' best ever, is there anyone else to blame but Lane Kiffin?

Losses to Stanford, Arizona, Oregon and UCLA have all dropped the Trojans to 7-4 on the season with three of those losses coming in the last month. Not only that, but coming up this week they have a huge game against the Notre Dame Fighting Irish that certainly might just wind up adding another loss to be tacked on to the Trojans' list of failures this year. All that having been said, someone deserves the blame. Kiffin's star quarterback doesn't appear to be improving at all. After a stellar season last year, Matt Barkley still shows big play potential, but according to NFL executives, his draft stock is steadily plummeting with every game that he takes the field. The defense that Kiffin's father (Monte Kiffin) runs is clearly not the same defense that he had previously employed in the NFL for the Tampa Bay Buccaneers all those years. This year with the Trojans, it is ranked 65th in the nation and is awful, to say the least. All of that aside, when asked by SI.com how much of the blame for the team's poor season is on him, a restrained Kiffin replied, "All of it." He may not be getting many of the play calls right for the Trojans over the past month or two, but that response is one call made by Kiffin that belongs right between the goal posts.

When a team full of talented players doesn't match its potential, the brunt of the blame needs to be placed squarely on the shoulders of the head coach. That's why when SI.com spoke with 10 anonymous opposing head coaches around the league, they all agreed that USC's poor play is solely because of Kiffin. "There's no excuses with the players they've got," one coach who faced USC earlier this season said. "It's an embarrassment of riches. You've got to find a way with those guys." It certainly is an embarrassment to have all of the talent in the world but be on the verge of losing five games in a season. That's why when news broke shortly after their loss to UCLA that Kiffin will indeed be back for another year as head coach of the Trojans, it came as somewhat of a surprise to those who follow college football everywhere. Mark Saxon of ESPNLA.com reported that athletic director Pat Haden assured coach Lane Kiffin that he would return in 2013 regardless of the outcome of the Trojans' last few games. The decision by Haden is so questionable because if Kiffin can't win with all of the talent that he has on his team this year, what will the team look like next year when they all leave for the NFL.

To be fair, Kiffin isn't shying away from any of the blame. "Obviously, we're extremely disappointed in the season," Kiffin said. "We're too talented to have this many losses and that falls on me." But, simply taking the blame doesn't make everything better. You have to be willing to make changes and actively try to improve your team. Kiffin hasn't done that. Recognizing that he is the problem is the first step in getting the ship turned around for the Trojans, but Kiffin apparently isn't the one who needs to begin to realize that he is the problem with the team. As athletic director, Pat Haden makes the decisions and if he doesn't do something quickly, his job will be on the line soon too.

The thing about Lane Kiffin is that he has never been a successful head coach. He was a talented coordinator under head coach Pete Carroll, but once he was plucked out of the college system and brought to the NFL to coach the Raiders, it was quickly evident that he was not fit for the job. Al Davis drew scrutiny upon himself by saying of Kiffin, "It was after a short period of time that I realized I didn't hire the person I thought I was hiring." Davis went on to call Kiffin a liar and accused him of attempting to embarrass and discredit the organization. Well in retrospect, maybe Davis was right. After a 5-15 tenure with the Raiders, Kiffin moved on to Tennessee where he was constantly under scrutiny for outlandish comments and several NCAA violations before he surprised everyone in the organization and abruptly jumped ship to take over for Carroll at USC. While Kiffin hasn't necessarily done the same things to USC yet, this season may indeed be the start of something of which to take sight. To sum it all up, throughout his head coaching career one thing has become evident about Lane Kiffin. He can't be trusted. That is one thing that USC might want to take note of before it's too late. •

Leuzinger Seeks Another Championship

Leuzinger's Trey Anderson shoots a basket during last week's preseason practice. The Olympians begin play in the Pasadena Rose City Classic against Sylmar next Tuesday at 8 p.m.

By Joe Snyder

Over the past several seasons, Leuzinger High had one of the top boys' basketball programs in the South Bay. This coming season is expected to be no exception. The Olympians will be a senior-studded squad with three returning starters from last season's Bay League championship and CIF-Southern Section Division IIA quarterfinalist team.

Perhaps the top player for Leuzinger will be six-foot senior guard Eric Childress. In the 2011-12 season, Childress was first team all-Bay League, all-CIF Southern Section and fifth team all-California state. He averaged 19 points, four assists and three rebounds per game.

Also back is six-foot-one senior all-league guard Trey Anderson, who averaged 10 points per game. "Anderson played real well over the summer," Leuzinger third-year head coach Ali Parvez said. The other starter back is six-foot-four senior forward Deonte Welch.

The veteran squad should also be sparked by six-foot-one senior guard Michael McMillan and six-foot-two senior forward Justin Delgado. "All five of these guys grew up together," Parvez said. "They've been together since the sixth grade. Key reserves, according to Parvez, include senior Stephan Nathan and six-foot-three De Von Abner, who is one of just two juniors on the predominantly senior squad.

Leuzinger begins its season next Tuesday in the Rose City Classic against Sylmar High at Pasadena High School at 8 p.m. The classic will last through December 1.

The Olympians have their first non-league game at home against Lawndale on December 7 at 7:30 p.m. Leuzinger plays in two other highly competitive tournaments—at Beverly Hills from December 11-15 and the Maxpreps Holiday Classic in Palm Springs from December 26-29. The Olympians then visit rival Hawthorne on January 7 before opening the Bay League a day later against Palos Verdes.

According to Parvez, the Bay League is expected to be very balanced with Leuzinger, Mira Costa, Peninsula, Redondo (under former Leuzinger and Playa del Rey St. Bernard High head coach Reggie Morris, Jr.) and West Torrance all with a shot at the league title.

Cougars Have First-Year Coach

In recent seasons, Hawthorne High has found things tough going in the Ocean League with such powerful programs from Inglewood, Morningside, Santa Monica and Beverly Hills. It could continue to be tough for the Cougars, but their first-year head coach David Egans feels confident that they will begin their climb to a more successful program.

Hawthorne has just one returning starter in six-foot-two senior forward Caleb Ross.

David Egans takes over as the head boys' basketball coach at Hawthorne High. The Cougars open at home against St. Bernard on December 1. Photos by Joe Sport.

Egans, though, feels that other players like six-foot-one senior point guard Devon Garner, six-foot junior guard Akeen Allen and six-foot-four senior forward Dominic McClendon have the potential to contribute a lot. Six-foot-two junior guard Brian Self also has a great deal of potential, according to Egans.

"The viewpoint is for them to be very competitive," Egans says of his team. "We should be a hardnosed, tough and up-tempo team. We're looking to win the league. We're working hard and we're competing every day."

Egans spent the past few seasons as a college assistant. He worked at Xavier University in Louisiana from 2006-09, before moving to the Los Angeles area to work as an assistant at West L.A. College from 2009 through last season. Egans replaces Ben Wardrop, who head coached the Cougars over the past four seasons.

Hawthorne begins its season at home against St. Bernard on December 1 at 6 p.m. Under head coach Reggie Morris, who is now in his first season at Redondo, the Vikings made the California State Division V final where they lost to St. Joseph's-St. Mary's of Alameda in the 2010-11 season and won the Southern Section Division V title and advanced to the Southern California regional semifinals last season. After Morris left, St. Bernard lost numerous players who transferred to various other high schools, so he is now faced with rebuilding.

From December 3-8, the Cougars will vie in the Blue Pride Classic at El Rancho High in Pico Rivera before visiting Lawndale in non-league play on December 13. Hawthorne visits Leuzinger on January 7 before beginning the Ocean League at home against Beverly Hills on January 9.

The Ocean is expected to be led by Inglewood, which returns all five starters and has a premiere transfer from St. Bernard in Brandon Randolph (who also played at Leuzinger before transferring with head coach Morris to St. Bernard in 2010), and Santa Monica, which has four returning starters from last year's outstanding squad that made it to the Southern Section Division IAA semifinals. Three other teams, Beverly Hills, Morningside and Culver City, should also be highly competitive.

Hawthorne Adult Racquetball

The Hawthorne Parks and Recreation Department will host an Adult Racquetball Tournament on December 1 at the Betty Ainsworth Sports Center. Sign-ups are continuing and will run through next Wednesday. The classic is for anyone 18 years old and over. Please sign up at the Sports Center Desk in the Lobby.

For further information, please contact the Hawthorne Parks and Recreation Department at 310-349-1640. •

The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the street address and other common designation, if any, shown herein. The total amount of the unpaid balance with interest thereon of the obligation secured by the property to be sold plus reasonable estimated costs, expenses and advances at the time of the initial publication of the Notice of Sale is $500,351.59. It is possible that at the time of sale the opening bid may be less than the total indebtedness due. In addition to cash, the Trustee will accept cashier's checks drawn on a state or national bank, a check drawn by a state or federal credit union, or a check drawn by a state or federal savings and loan association, savings association, or savings bank specified in Section 5102 of the Financial Code and authorized to do business in this state. Said sale will be made, in an "AS IS" condition, but without covenant or warranty, express or implied, regarding title, possession or encumbrances, to satisfy the indebtedness secured by said Deed of Trust, advances thereunder, with interest as provided, and the unpaid principal of the Note secured by said Deed of Trust with interest thereon as provided in said Note, plus fees, charges and expenses of the Trustee and of the trusts created by said Deed of Trust.

If required by the provisions of section 2923.5 of the California Civil Code, the declaration from the mortgage, beneficiary or authorized agent is attached to the Notice of Trustee's Sale duly recorded with the appropriate County Recorder's Office. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on a property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgage, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 1-800-281-8219 or visit this Internet Web site: www.reconstruct.com, using the file number assigned to this case 11-0004096. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. RECONSTRUCT COMPANY, N.A. 1800 Tappan Canyon Rd., CA 91401-94 SIMI VALLEY, CA 91363 Phone/Sale Information: (800) 281-8219 By: Trustee's Sale Officer RECONSTRUCT COMPANY, N.A. is a debt collector attempting to collect a debt. This notice is to inform the public that the Hawthorne School District is applying for the 21st Century Community Learning Centers (CCLC) grant in order to expand our after school program. The Hawthorne School District has been operating the Academic Lifelong Learning (A.L.L.) After School Program at the elementary and middle schools since 2006. Under federal regulations, the 21st Century CCLC grantees are required to provide similar program opportunities for both public and private school students within the specific service area. 21st Century CCLC grant programs are required to offer homework support, educational enrichment, physical activities and nutritious snacks on a regular basis.

We welcome the opportunity to collaborate on program planning issues regarding the identification of student needs and the offering of program services. Program services for private students, however, must be "secular, neutral, and non-ideological."

Please contact Michelle Prostollo, A.L.L. Program Director, mprostollo@hawthornesd.org or Mara Pagniano, Coordinator of Special Projects, mpagniano@hawthornesd.org. Both of us may also be reached via telephone at (310) 676-2276.

Left over turkey is my favorite thing during the holidays. When the bird has been chilled and all the flavors have settled into the meat that is when I like turkey. Yes you can make sandwiches out of it and add it to a soup. But I like to chop it up and make a big salad out of it. It's also a way to try to eat a little lighter after the big feast. Try this and give your feedback to Chef Shafer on Facebook.
